Cards of instruction and specimen ballots were also posted in different parts of the building outside of the rail.

The Town Clerk delivered to the Ballot Clerks three sealed packages, one marked "2,100 Official Ballots, March 14, 1901," a second marked "2,400 Official Ballots, March 14, 1901," and a third package marked "500 Ballots for School Committee only, March 14, 1901," and took their receipt therefor.

The Ballot Clerks were provided with duplicate sets of the lists of registered voters of the town, one for men voters and one for women voters, as prepared by the Registrars of Voters for use at this election. They were also supplied with the official ballots taken from the packages received from the Town Clerk, and stationed at the entrances to the polling place, with instructions to deliver such ballots only to voters whose names were found and checked on the voting lists.

The two ballot-boxes — the "Ideal," as furnished by the Commonwealth to be used at elections — were then opened in public meeting, examined by the Moderator and other election officers and found to be empty. The register of each box was set at zero (0), the boxes locked, and the keys delivered to Willard Y. Gross, the constable appointed in charge of the ballot-boxes.

At ten minutes before seven o'clock the polls were declared open for the reception of votes for town officers, and, by vote of the meeting, were kept open until thirty minutes after five o'clock in the afternoon, when, after due notice, they were declared closed.

By unanimous consent of the Moderator and Town Clerk the ballot-boxes were opened several times during the day, for the purpose of removing the ballots to be counted. The ballot-boxes were opened at the close of the polls, when the register of the "A to K" box stood at 1106, but this box had failed once to register the ballot, so that the exact number of ballots deposited was 1107. The "L to Z" box register stood at 1073, but this box had registered once without taking in the ballot, so that the exact number of ballots deposited was 1072. The total of the registers of the two boxes indicated 2179 ballots to have been deposited.

The names checked on the voting lists by the Ballot Clerks at the entrances to the polling place, and by the Checkers at the ballot-boxes were counted up and compared and found to agree, and the total number of names so checked was twenty-one hundred and seventy-nine (2179), one hundred and fifty-four (154) of which were women, which agreed with the total number registered by the ballot-boxes.

The Ballot Clerks reported that forty-five hundred ballots were found by them in the two packages, marked "2100" and "2400" respectively, and that five hundred (500) ballots were found in the package marked "Ballots for School Committee Only." The number of ballots left at the close of the polls, deducted from the number receipted for by the Ballot Clerks, showed that two thousand one hundred and seventy-nine (2179) had been delivered to voters, one hundred and fifty-four (154) of which had been delivered to women.

The Moderator, Town Clerk, and Tellers then canvassed the votes given in, and the whole number was two thousand one hundred and seventy-nine (2179), one hundred and fifty-four (154) of which were women's votes for School Committee only, which were sorted, counted, and declaration thereof made in open town meeting, at twelve minutes before nine o'clock in the evening, as follows:—

Selectmen of Brookline.

NORFOLK, SS.

BROOKLINE, MASS., October 28th, 1901.

By virtue of this warrant, I have notified all persons qualified to vote in elections, to meet at the time and place, and for the purposes herein named, by causing a true copy of the same to be left at their last and usual place of abode, and I also posted true attested copies of the said warrant in three public places in Brookline, all of which was done seven days at least before the said day of meeting.

W. Y. Gross, Constable.

In pursuance of the foregoing warrant, the inhabitants of the town of Brookline, qualified to vote in elections, met in the Town Hall, in said town, on Tuesday, the fifth day of November, in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and one, it being the Tuesday next after the first Monday in said month, and were called to order at thirty minutes past six o'clock in the forenoon, by Mr. James M. Codman, Jr., chairman of the board of Selectmen. The Town Clerk then read the warrant calling said meeting, and the return thereon of the officer who served the same upon the inhabitants.

Mr. James M. Codman, Jr., chairman of the board of Selectmen, took charge of the meeting after the reading of the warrant and acted as presiding election officer.

In conformity with the laws of the Commonwealth in relation to elections, the Town Hall had been fitted up as a polling place, a space railed off, and seventy shelves or compartments provided for the use and convenience of the voters, to examine and mark their ballots. Each compartment was supplied with suitable facilities for the purpose, and with cards of instruction.

The following having been appointed by the Selectmen were sworn by the Town Clerk to the faithful discharge of their duties:—

BALLOT CLERKS.

Frederic M. Bond,	Francis F. Muldowney,
Richard Macallister,	Donald M. Hill,
Sidney W. Dean,	Felix R. King.

AT CHECK LISTS AT BALLOT BOXES.

A. to K.	L to Z.
Robert A. Smiley.	John E. Griffin.

AT BALLOT BOXES.

A to K.	L to Z.
Edwin A. Robart.	James P. Mackey.

TELLERS.

A. Eugene Kenrick,	George P. Johnson,
C. A. W. Spencer,	Madison W. S. Corey,
Asa F. Smith,	John A. Curry,
Clarence E. Fuller,	James J. Fegan,
Frank R. Hutchins,	William H. McManus,
John W. Shields,	Frank B. Connor,
George P. Moore,	Lowell C. Richardson,
Francis W. Muldowney.

A sealed package of ballots supplied by the Secretary of the Commonwealth, marked "Second set of ballots, 4600, Town of Brookline," was then delivered to the Ballot Clerks, by the Town Clerk, together with specimen ballots and cards of instruction, and their receipt therefor was taken in conformity to law.

The presiding election officer publicly broke the seal on the package, and delivered the ballots to the Ballot Clerks, who took their positions at the entrances to the polling place, and furnished the ballots to the voters who presented themselves and were found to be qualified. The Registrars of Voters had provided duplicate lists of the qualified voters entitled to vote at this election, one copy of which was placed in the hands of the Ballot Clerks at the entrance to the polling place, and the other copy was placed at the ballot-boxes in charge of Robert A. Smiley and John E. Griffin, checkers. No voter was furnished a ballot until his name had been found and checked on the list at the entrances to the polling place, and he was not allowed to deposit his ballot until his name had been found and checked on the list at the ballot-boxes. The cards of instruction and specimen ballots were posted in different parts of the building, outside the rail, as required by law.

The presiding election officer appointed Willard Y. Gross, constable, to have charge of the ballot-boxes and the space inside the rail.

The two ballot-boxes—the “Ideal,” as furnished by the Commonwealth to be used at elections—were then opened in public meeting, examined by the election officers, and found to be empty. The register of each box was then set at zero (0), and the boxes were locked; the keys were delivered to Willard Y. Gross, constable.

At seventeen minutes before seven o'clock the polls were declared open for the reception of votes, and were kept open, by vote of the meeting, until thirty-three minutes after four o'clock in the afternoon, when, after due notice, they were declared closed.

By unanimous consent the ballot-boxes were opened at twenty minutes before nine o'clock, and also several times during the day, for the purpose of removing the ballots to be counted. The ballot-boxes were opened at the close of the polls, and the register of the “A to K” box stood at 1173. The “L to Z” box register stood at 1152. The total of the registers of the two boxes indicated 2325 ballots to have been deposited.

The names checked on the voting lists by the Ballot Clerks at the entrances to the polling place, and by the Checkers at the ballot-boxes were counted up and compared and found to agree, and the number of names so checked was twenty-three hundred and twenty-five (2325), which agreed with the total number registered by the ballot-boxes.

The Ballot Clerks reported that forty-six hundred and one ballots were found by them in the package marked "4600," of which twenty-three hundred and twenty-five (2325) had been delivered to voters, and twenty-two hundred and seventy-six (2276) unused ballots were inclosed in a package, endorsed and sealed, and delivered to the Town Clerk.

The election officers canvassed the votes given in, and the whole number was found to be twenty-three hundred and twenty-five (2325), which were sorted, counted and recorded, and declaration thereof made in open meeting, as required by law.

In counting the votes the blank forms approved by the Secretary of the Commonwealth were used by the Tellers.

BROOKLINE, November 15, 1901.

By virtue of this warrant, I have notified and warned the inhabitants of the town of Brookline, qualified to vote in elections, to meet at the time and place, and for the purposes herein named, by causing a printed attested copy of the same to be left at their last and usual place of abode, and also by posting attested copies of said warrant in three or more public places in said Brookline, all of which was done seven days at least before said day of meeting.

W. Y. Gross, Constable.

In pursuance of the foregoing warrant, the inhabitants of the town of Brookline, qualified to vote in elections, met in the Town Hall, in said town, on Wednesday, the twentieth day of November, in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and one, and were called to order at half-past seven o'clock in the evening, by the Town Clerk, who read the warrant calling said meeting, and the return thereon of the officer who served it upon the inhabitants.

First Article taken up,—"To choose a Moderator."

The meeting nominated and chose for Moderator Mr. George P. Furber.

Second Article taken up,—"To accept and allow Fuller street between Harvard street and Gibbs street as laid out by the Selectmen and reported to the town at this meeting."

The report of the Selectmen on the laying out of Fuller street was presented, of which the following is a true copy:—

Fuller Street.

We, the undersigned, Selectmen of Brookline, gave written notice of our intention to lay out a street substantially on the line of a private way known as Fuller street, from Harvard street to Gibbs street, such notice requiring all persons interested to appear before us at our room in the Town Hall, on Monday, November 4th, 1901, at 5.30 o'clock p. m., and caused such notice to be actually served according to law by a constable of this town, at least seven days before the day so appointed for the hearing, upon C. W. Leatherbee Lumber Co., Nancy Spitz, John D. Packard, Joseph H. Ordway, Sylvester G. Willey, Henry E. Bothfeld, trustee, Frank A. Day, trustee, Katherine B. Bement, Gertrude S. Derrick, James W. Woodward, Frieda M. Cohen, Edwin W. Cox, Jerome E. Lynch, James M. Seamans, George H. Worthley, and Emery B. Gibbs, trustees, and Malcolm McLoud, trustee, being all the parties known to us from whom land is taken, or who may be interested in the subject-matter, and gave notice to them, and all other persons and corporations, if any, who may be interested in the subject-matter whose names are not known to us, by posting up true and attested copies of such notice in three public places in the town, seven days at least before the day appointed for the hearing.

Pursuant to such notice, we met at the time and place appointed for the hearing, and heard the remarks and objections of all persons, if any, who desired to be heard, and having viewed and examined the route of the street as hereinafter described, we do adjudge that common convenience and necessity require that said street should be laid out as a townway, and it is hereby so laid out.

The land over which said street is laid out and which is hereby taken therefor is described by its center line as follows:—

Beginning at a point on the northeasterly line of Harvard street situated 220.76 feet northwesterly from the point where it is intersected by the center line of Naples road; thence running northeasterly by a curve to the left of 1270 feet radius for a distance of 250.91 feet; thence running north $33^{\circ} 1' 26''$ east for a distance of 548.64 feet; thence running northerly by a curve to the left of 700 feet radius for a distance of 536.78 feet to a point on the center line of Gibbs street, and includes a parallel width of 20 feet on both sides of the said center line, from the northeasterly line of Harvard street to the southerly line of Gibbs street.

At the intersection of the side lines of said Fuller street with the side lines of Harvard street and Gibbs street, the corners are to be rounded with curves as follows, and the necessary land is hereby taken therefor:—

At the northerly corner of Harvard street, also at the easterly corner of Harvard street, with curves each having a radius of 15 feet; at the southwesterly corner of Gibbs street with a curve having a radius of 50 feet; and at the southeasterly corner of Gibbs street with a curve having a radius of 15 feet.

For a further identification of this description and location reference is hereby made to a plan and profile made by Alexis H. French, Town Engineer, dated August 22d, 1901, approved by us, verified by our signatures, and adopted as a part of this record.

The foregoing description has been compared with the plan and is correct.

ALEXIS H. FRENCH, Town Engineer.

November 13, 1901.

The street having been constructed by the owners of the fee is open to the public for travel.

No awards are made. The owners of the land abutting upon said street and of the fee of the land over which said street is laid out, in consideration of the laying out and its acceptance by the town, waive all claims to land, grade, or other damages.

We take land as follows:—

From the owners of the fee of said Fuller street, 52,920 square feet.

We give the owners of land taken for the laying out of said street ten days from the date of its acceptance by the town, in which to take off their trees, fences, and other property which may obstruct the building of the way.

Said street so laid out is hereby reported to the town for acceptance, and when so accepted, allowed, and recorded, is to be called Fuller street.

The said plan, profile, and this record are this day filed by us in the office of the Town Clerk.

The report of the Selectmen on the laying out of Gibbs street was presented, of which the following is a true copy:—

Gibbs Street.

We, the undersigned, Selectmen of Brookline, gave written notice of our intention to lay out a street substantially on the line of a private way known as Gibbs street from Beals street to Thorndike street, such notice requiring all persons interested to appear before us at our room in the Town Hall, on Monday, November 4th, 1901, at 5.45 o'clock p. m., and caused such notice to be actually served according to law by a constable of this town, at least seven days before the day so appointed for the hearing, upon Ada Stevenson, Henry E. Beginning at a point on the westerly line of Thorndike street, where it is intersected by the center line of Gibbs street, the said center line of Gibbs street being the northerly end of the part of Thorndike street laid out by the Selectmen June 21st, 1899, and accepted by the town July 7th, 1899; thence running south $68^{\circ} 9'$ east for a distance of 586.23 feet to a point on the said center line where it is intersected by the westerly line of the part of Naples road lying south of the said Gibbs street, and includes on the southerly side of said center line a parallel width of 20 feet, from the easterly line of Thorndike street to the westerly line of Naples road, and on the northerly side of said center line a parallel width of 20 feet, from the westerly line of Thorndike street to the westerly line of Naples road.

We, the undersigned, Selectmen of Brookline, gave written notice of our intention to lay out a street substantially on the line of a private way known as Browne street from St. Paul street to Powell street, such notice requiring all persons interested to appear before us at our room in the Town Hall, on Monday, December 30th, 1901, at five o'clock P. M., and caused such notice to be actually served according to law by a constable of this town at least seven days before the day so appointed for the hearing upon Frederick S. G. D'Hautville, Annie B. Andrew, Jeffrey Richardson, Adeline T. Joyce, Albert E. Rollins, Knyvet W. Sears, being all the parties known to us from whom land is taken, or who may be interested in the subject-matter and gave notice to them, and all other persons and corporations, if any, who may be interested in the subject-matter whose names are not known to us, by posting up true and attested copies of such notice in three public places in the town seven days at least before the day appointed for the hearing.

The land over which said street is laid out and which is hereby taken therefor is described by its southerly line as follows:—

Beginning at the stone monument marking the easterly line of St. Paul street where it is intersected by the prolongation easterly of the southerly line of the part of Browne street laid out September 9, 1890, and accepted by the town September 18, 1890, thence running easterly by the prolongation easterly of the aforesaid southerly line of Browne street 380.89 feet to the stone monument marking the southwesterly line of Powell street, and includes a parallel width of fifty (50) feet measured northerly from said southerly line and extending from the easterly line of St. Paul street to the southwesterly line of Powell street.

For a further identification of this description and location reference is hereby made to a plan and profile made by Alexis H. French, Town Engineer, dated December 9, 1901, approved by us, verified by our signatures and adopted as a part of this record.

The foregoing description has been compared with the plan and is correct.

The street having been constructed by the owners of the fee is open to the public for travel.

No awards are made. The owners of the land abutting upon said street and of the fee of the land over which said street is laid out, in consideration of the laying out and its acceptance by the town, waive all claims to land, grade or other damages.

We take land as follows: From the owners of the fee of said Browne street, 18,092 square feet.

We give the owners of land taken for the laying out of said street ten days from the date of its acceptance by the town, in which to take off their trees, fences and other property which may obstruct the building of the way.

Said street so laid out is hereby reported to the town for acceptance, and when so accepted, allowed and recorded, is to be called Browne street.

The said plan, profile and this record are this day filed by us in the office of the Town Clerk.

Third Article taken up,—“To accept and allow the alteration and widening of a part of Newton street, as laid out by the Selectmen and reported to the town at this meeting, and to appropriate $4,000 for the construction thereof.”

On motion of Mr. James M. Codman, Jr.,—

Voted, That the alteration and widening of a part of Newton street, as laid out by the Selectmen and reported to the town at this meeting, be accepted and allowed.

The report of the Selectmen on the alteration and widening of a part of Newton street was presented, of which the following is a true copy:—

Newton Street.

We, the undersigned, Selectmen of Brookline, gave written notice of our intention to lay out and alter and widen Newton street from a point situated about 1,300 feet southeasterly from its junction with Hammond street to the Newton line, such notice requiring all persons interested to appear before us at our room in the Town Hall, on December 30, 1901, at half past five o'clock P. M., and caused such notice to be actually served according to law by a constable of this town at least seven days before the day so appointed for the hearing upon the heirs of George F. Burkhardt, Patrick O'Loughlin, Dennis Driscoll, Julian E. Severance, E. Vinton Earle, Arthur E. Marks, Fred S. High, Anna S. Fox, and the Town of Brookline, being all the parties known to us from whom land is taken, or who may be interested in the subject-matter, and gave notice to them, and all other persons and corporations, if any, who may be interested in the subject-matter whose names are not known to us, by posting up true and attested copies of such notice in three public places in the town seven days at least before the day appointed for the hearing.

Pursuant to such notice, we met at the time and place appointed for the hearing, and heard the remarks and objections of all persons, if any, who desired to be heard, and having viewed and examined the route of the street as hereinafter described, we do adjudge that common convenience and necessity require that said street should be laid out and altered as a townway, and it is hereby so laid out and altered.

The description of the part of said street as so laid out and altered is as follows, described by its axis line: Beginning at a point on said axis line where it intersects the division line between land of the heirs of George F. Burkhardt and that of Dennis Driscoll and Patrick O'Loughlin, and running northeasterly by a straight line about 636 feet; thence curving to the left with a radius of 1640 feet, 382.44 feet; thence running northeasterly by a tangent 414.83 feet; thence curving to the right with a radius of 280 feet, 267.42 feet; thence curving to the right with a radius of 1480 feet, 779.45 feet; thence running southeasterly by a tangent 305.76 feet; thence curving to the left with a radius of 480 feet, about 64 feet.

The northerly line of the said Newton street is parallel with and forty (40) feet distant from the above described axis line, from land of the heirs of George F. Burkhardt to the westerly line of Hammond street, excepting that the tangent situated next west of Hammond street is prolonged until it intersects the westerly line of said Hammond street. The southerly line of said Newton street is parallel with and forty (40) feet distant from the above described axis line, from the prolongation southerly of the said division line between land of the heirs of George F. Burkhardt and that of Dennis Driscoll and Patrick O'Loughlin to the point where the proposed southerly line intersects the present southerly line of Newton street, said point being situated about 634 feet southeasterly from the southeasterly line of Wolcott road, as measured on said proposed southerly line.

At the intersection of the northerly and southerly lines of said Newton street as altered and widened, with the side lines of the public and private streets hereinafter named, the corners are to be rounded with curves, and the necessary land is hereby taken therefor as follows, to wit:—

At Princeton road, the southwesterly corner with a curve having a radius of 30 feet, and at the southeasterly corner of the same with a curve having a radius of 60 feet; at the southwesterly corner of Lagrange street with a curve having a radius of 20 feet, and at the southeasterly corner of the same with a curve having a radius of 50 feet; at the northwesterly corner of Hammond street with a curve having a radius of 120 feet; at the southwesterly corner of Wolcott road with a curve having a radius of 25 feet; and at the southeasterly corner of the same with a curve having a radius of 50 feet.

For a further identification of this description and location reference is hereby made to a plan and profile in three (3) sheets numbered respectively 1, 2 and 3, made by Alexis H. French, Town Engineer, dated September 20, 1901, approved by us, verified by our signatures and adopted as a part of this record. Said street is to be constructed in accordance with said plan and profile.

The foregoing description has been compared with the plan and is correct.

ALEXIS H. FRENCH, Town Engineer.

January 17, 1902.

We take land as follows:—

Name.	Square Feet Taken.	Award.
Northerly Side.
From Dennis Driscoll and Patrick O'Loughlin	24,593
E. Vinton Earle and Arthur E. Marks	28,870

No awards are made. The owners of land taken for said alteration, in consideration of the laying out and its acceptance by the town, waive all claims to land, grade or other damages.

It is not the intention to work said way as hereby altered and widened for travel to its full width until some future time, but the parts of the new street as hereby widened lying between the present traveled roadway and the new side lines are to be worked approximately to the grade shown on the profile, and the surface is to be covered with loam and seeded with grass seed. On the part of the street between Lagrange street and the easterly end of the part of Newton street hereby widened, the present retaining walls are to be set back to the new street line.

We give the owners of land taken for the laying out and altering of said street sixty days from the date of its acceptance by the town, in which to take off their trees, fences and other property which may obstruct the building of the way,

The estimated cost of constructing the street is $4000.00.

Said street so laid out and altered is hereby reported to the town for acceptance.

The said plan, profile and this record are this day filed by us in the office of the Town Clerk.

REPORT.

The Selectmen submit the following report for the fiscal year ending January 31st, 1902:—

Continued large expenditures for exceptional purposes, together with a fairly general growth in regular expenses have marked the year just closed. The Manual Training School, the Runkle School, the Contagious Hospital buildings, the purchase of land for playgrounds, the completion of Boylston-street widening, and the new pumping engine and station, coming all at once, involve such a heavy outlay that a large proportion of the money needed for these objects has not yet been either raised by taxation or borrowed, but must be provided for this year. The completion of the two school buildings and the hospital will mean also a large permanent increase in the annual appropriations for maintaining them. Other increases of a permanent character in some of the regular appropriations seem unavoidable. The situation requires caution in undertaking for the present any large enterprises not strictly necessary.

The Town Debt.

Last year's increase in the town debt, amounting to $136,489, has been followed this year by a further increase of $73,989, and the total debt is now $1,472,207.

The amounts borrowed have been as follows:—

For land for Playgrounds @ 3.15 per cent	$135,000 00
For Manual Training School @ 3.15 per cent	40,000 00
For widening Boylston Street @ 3.10 per cent . . .	35,000 00
For Pumping Engine and Station @ 3.10 per cent . .	24,000 00
	$234,000 00

The amount of debt paid off was $160,011. This year the amount coming due to be paid off is $151,211. In order that it may be plain what these sums which constitute such a considerable proportion of the amount to be raised by taxation are for, the usual comparative statement in detail follows.

		$160,011 00	$151,211 00

The debt may be classified as follows, and the interest for 1902 amounts to $49,256.21, including $235 for old coupons unrepresented:—

OBJECT OF LOANS.	Principal out- standing Feb. 15, 1902.	Interest Charge 1901-02.

* Final Payment.

While our debt is a large one, it represents for the most part objects of permanent value, and it is being paid off rapidly. If it is true that the interest is just as much part of a debt as the principal, our debt compares favorably with debts which run for thirty or forty years and bear interest on the whole amount for the whole time. Every time that an instalment of our debt falls due, the interest as well as the principal is diminished. It is still true that none of our debt matures later than 1925, and that more than half of it comes due in the next six years.

Tax Rate and Valuation.

The tax rate for 1901 was $10, which is twenty cents lower than the year before. The valuation was $83,228,100, an increase of $5,275,200 over the previous year. The amount of taxes levied upon the taxpayers, which is the product of two factors, the rate and the valuation, is by far the largest on record. This is not altogether a subject for congratulation. That the policy pursued for several years of increasing valuations so much more rapidly than is the custom in other places is growing burdensome, is shown by the amount of abatements, which is this year larger than ever before, and by the large amount of uncollected taxes outstanding. It is to be noted that the Commission appointed to apportion Metropolitan Park taxes taxed us first for having a high valuation and then again for having a low tax rate. The heavy increase in valuation has the effect of increasing our borrowing capacity under the municipal indebtedness act, and it is now about $1,250,000.

Requirements of the New Year.

The original estimate of the cost of the Manual Training School was $100,000, and that sum has been appropriated, but only in part raised. When the plans were approved, with some alteration by the Committee consisting of the Selectmen and a member of the School Committee, it was thought that $90,000 would be ample, including architect's commissions and grading. The contracts to date, including architect's commissions, amount to about $89,000. There has been expended $52,269.56, of which $40,000 was borrowed and the rest paid from unappropriated money in the treasury. This leaves about $38,000 to be either borrowed or raised by taxation this year. A large appropriation will also be needed for fitting up and furnishing the building.

The appropriation for the Runkle School was $100,000, but after the appropriation was made the plans were completely changed, and a much less expensive scheme adopted. The contracts and extras to date amount to about $82,500, including architect's commissions. There has been raised by taxation towards the cost of this building $66,000 in all, leaving $16,000 or more to be provided this year. The actual expenditure to the end of the fiscal year was $37,075.37.

The appropriation for the Contagious Hospital buildings was $86,500. Contracts to date, including architect's commissions, amount to about $77,000, and this amount will be somewhat increased by the cost of arrangements for drainage. The amount expended to the end of the year was $46,042.26. Of this amount $36,500 was included in the tax levy and $9,542.26 paid from unappropriated money in the treasury. It will be necessary to provide about $34,000 more this year, and in addition an appropriation will be needed for furnishing.

All the work of construction of Boylston-street widening is finished and paid for, but several suits for land damages are still pending, and should the Selectmen's awards be increased by the jury an additional appropriation will be needed.

Of the $40,000 appropriated for pumping engine and changes in Pumping Station $24,000 has been borrowed and the rest will soon be needed.

The School Committee has already been authorized to obtain plans for another large school-house, and it is plain that the amount required for exceptional expenses at this early period in the year is already formidable.

State Tax.

Last year the State tax was $1,750,000, which was larger than for several years. This year the preliminary figures tend to show that it should be below the average, but on the whole it seems likely that the tax will be $1,500,000, which was the amount for several years prior to last year. It is exceedingly difficult to obtain any clear statement of the reasons for the fluctuations in the State tax, which is at all instructive. Our proportion of a State tax of $1,500,000 is $40,815.

County Tax.

Last year the County tax was $145,000. The Commissioners' estimates of receipts and expenditures for this year indicate that the tax will be no larger than last year, and may perhaps be a little smaller. The money for the new Registry of Deeds building is to be borrowed and the debt will be paid off in instalments beginning in 1905. Our proportion of a tax of $145,000 is $58,129.39.

Metropolitan Sewer Tax.

Brookline is included in the South Metropolitan district, which is responsible for the Charles Rivey Valley sewer, costing $800,000, the Neponset Valley sewer, costing $900,000, and the high-level sewer, which is expected to cost $4,600,000 when finished.

It was explained in last year's report that this tax was likely to reach \$50,000 a year when the new high-level sewer is finished, and it was then expected that our annual assessment would steadily increase as the bonds for the high-level sewer were issued. Bonds amounting to \$2,000,000 were issued by the commonwealth during the past year for this purpose, but by a piece of financial legerdemain our assessment instead of being largely increased seems likely to be only about half what it was last year. This peculiar result is brought about by the fact that the bonds which bear a pretty high rate of interest for state bonds, $3\frac{1}{2}$ per cent, were sold at a large premium which has been applied to paying interest, and as this premium exceeded the interest on the bonds themselves and also on all the other South Metropolitan bonds too, there will be no interest to pay this year. The result is, of course, that for the rest of the forty years for which the bonds run, we shall have to pay interest at the needlessly high rate of $3\frac{1}{2}$ per cent. The following comparative table, perhaps, makes the matter clearer. The large increase in this year's maintenance charge is due to a large increase in the charge made by the city of Boston for the use of its outlet at Moon Island, a use that will be dispensed with when the high-level sewer is completed.

BROOKLINE'S METROPOLITAN SEWER ASSESSMENT.

Sinking fund, 19.23 per cent	$3,124 38	$5,249 45
Interest, 19.23 per cent	15,683 93
Maintenance, 7.86 per cent	5,978 32	7,362 15
	<hr/> $24,786 63	<hr/> $12,611 60

Next year, if there are no more bonds issued and no further increase in the cost of maintenance, our assessment will be about $40,000.

Metropolitan Park Tax.

In the last annual report it was stated that an appeal to the Supreme Court had been taken from the award of Commissioners fixing the percentages which the municipalities of the district are to contribute towards the cost of the Metropolitan Park system. It was then stated that the percentages assigned to Brookline "are larger than are warranted by any consideration of valuation, population or special benefits, and the reasons for them have not been explained." The result of the appeal was a decree of the court ordering the Commissioners to give their reasons. Thereupon the Commissioners gave their reasons in a somewhat obscure supplementary report, from which it appears that the reasons for the high percentage assessed upon Brookline are our high valuation, our low tax rate, and the advantage to us of Boston's park system. The award is admitted to be an attempt to equalize all sorts of burdens throughout the district, rather than a mere apportionment of the Metropolitan Park assessments. As the Commissioners appear to have exceeded their authority, the case has been again taken to the Supreme Court, but no decision has yet been given. The town has raised two years' assessments, and has the money ready in case an unfavorable decision should be rendered. Upon the basis of the Commissioners' award the tax for this year should be about $40,000. When the matter is finally settled, the question whether we should ask for boulevards in Brookline or seek legislation to place these apportionments upon some permanent, well-defined and equitable basis will demand our most earnest consideration upon broader lines than any upon which it has as yet been discussed.

[Since the above was written, and while this report was going through the press, the Supreme Court has given a decision accepting the Commissioners' award. The court discusses the assumption of the Commissioners that they were authorized to readjust other public burdens and finds no reason in this for disturbing their award.]

Appropriations.

The amount of the annual appropriations recommended for the current financial year, as shown in the table below, is $1,088,598.20, compared with total amounts charged against the taxes and receipts of previous years of —

1899.	1900.	1901.
$1,040,765 13	$1,213,811 25	$1,133,364.32

These figures taken in connection with the probable receipts and the unappropriated balance on hand, make it probable that a large part of the money needed for exceptional expenditures this year must be borrowed.

The net expenditures from all sources, after deducting payments on account of maturing debt, compare as follows:—

1899.	1900.	1901.
$985,803 17	$1,312,876 00	$1,187,705 00

The appropriations recommended for the current year are presented below in tabular form, both in groups and in detail. The formal vote authorizing and limiting the expenditure of the various appropriations will be presented later.

In the financial year 1902–1903 there will be fifty-three Saturday nights, and the appropriations are all intended to provide for fifty-three weekly pay-rolls, but it will, of course, be understood that this is not intended to increase anybody's salary.

The amounts recommended for Schools, Library, Water Works, Parks and Tree planting are recommended by the several boards having those matters in charge and have not received the independent judgment of the Selectmen.

Of the balances of Special Appropriations carried forward, amounting to $323,681.02, a considerable proportion, as already explained, has not yet been raised by taxation or borrowed. The amount is $145,112.81 in all. It has also been pointed out earlier in this report that it will not be necessary to raise the whole of this sum. The amount that will be needed under each head appears in the first four items in the list of New Special Appropriations which follows.

Highway Department.

There is little to add to the exhaustive report of the Superintendent of Streets. The most important new work undertaken by the department during the year has been the paving of Harvard square with vitrified brick. Great pains were taken to get all the underground pipes and conduits into such shape that the street will not have to be dug up for a long time, and this made the work long and tedious. Now that it is finished it gives great satisfaction.

Only a few of the laborers in the Street department are regularly employed throughout the year, and for the ordinary work a new set of men is engaged each week from a list of applicants whose names are kept in a book. On the whole this system has done fairly well in the past, and the instalments of work have been much appreciated by many who could not all have been employed permanently. Now, however, the number of applicants is getting to be so great that the turn of each comes around but seldom, and the brief and occasional character of the employment does not promote the efficiency of the service. To have a regular force composed of the best men would probably result in better work and more of it, but would also be the cause of much real hardship among those left out. After carefully considering the subject, the Selectmen have concluded that for the present the best plan of reducing the number of applicants for this kind of work is to take the names of those only who have lived in the town for five years or more and paid their taxes regularly.

Lighting Streets.

A new contract has been made for arc lighting which provides for the enclosed arc system, and most of the electric lights in the street have been changed to the new form. The enclosed arc is a better light, steadier and better diffused than the old kind, and better satisfaction is obtained by the use of the new poles on which they are hung, which bring the light much lower down. The new system has hardly had a fair chance yet, as the work of making the change has proceeded very slowly and is not yet finished, but more especially because changes in the machinery at the power station have been the cause of many breakdowns and much irregular service. It is now expected that everything will be running smoothly by the middle of March.

A new contract was made for the Welsbach lights, and Welsbach naphtha lights were substituted for the old naphtha lights throughout the town. The change will make a great improvement in the lighting of some of the outlying streets, but it was a long time before the mantles on the new lights were got into anything like perfect shape. Wherever gas pipes have been laid gas lights are substituted for naphtha ones.

Both contracts are printed in the report of the Superintendent. The appropriation asked for provides for a considerable increase of lights of each kind.

Police Department.

The Selectmen approve the recommendation of the Chief of Police, that an additional night route be established for the northern part of the town, which will require two additional patrolmen. This addition to the force following upon the addition of four men last May will require a substantial increase in the appropriation. A new patrol wagon is needed to replace the old one which has been in use a great many years; it was not new when first put in commission, and is now not worth repairing. This will cost, including fittings with runners for use in the winter, $490. The Selectmen recommend that the salary of the Chief be increased so that from May 1st, 1902, it will be at the rate of $2,000 a year instead of $1,800 as at present. The Chief was appointed in the middle of December, 1899, and his salary was then fixed at the rate of $1,800 a year, with a view of raising it to $2,000, the rate at which the previous Chief was paid, if his administration of the department should prove satisfactory.

For all these purposes an appropriation of $64,000 is recommended, as follows:—

	Recommended 1902.	Expended 1901.
Salary of Chief (first quarter at $1,800, remainder at $2,000)	$1,950 00
Inspector and 2 Lieutenants @ $1,400 (53 weeks)	4,281 00

Fire and Police Alarm Telegraph, Poles and Wires.

The fire and police alarm telegraph system has worked smoothly, with unusually few breaks. One new fire alarm box has been purchased for Goddard avenue, and three keyless doors have been procured to replace the old-fashioned glass doors which are constantly being broken by mischievous persons. It is proposed to put in fourteen more of these doors this year, and to add one new fire alarm box at the corner of Harris and Harvard streets. It is also intended to change seven boxes from closed to open circuit, so that a box when out of order will not throw the whole circuit out too. The cost of the new apparatus for this will be $200. About eleven miles of wire were put under ground during the year, and it is expected that rather more of this work will be accomplished next year, as the telephone company, in whose conduits our wires are placed, contemplates more underground work than usual this year in Brookline.

At last Beacon street from St. Mary's street to Coolidge's Corner is free from carrying-poles and overhead wires of every kind, and this year the work is to be continued, at least as far as Washington street, and by some of the companies all the way to the town line near the Chestnut Hill reservoir. The improvement in the appearance of the street is very great, and is well worth all the trouble and labor it has taken to bring about this long-delayed change. Some very high poles of the street railway company remain, but these are to be removed or shortened this year.

The necessity for more underground work is constantly being urged upon all the companies which have wires in Brookline.

Through the vigilance of the Superintendent of Lights and Wires many poles have been replaced by stronger and lower poles, and much superfluous wire has been taken down and removed.

Fire Department.

This department is well organized and equipped to perform prompt and intelligent service. [In every case where early notice of a fire has been given during the past year, there has been little damage. Care is taken, when there is no danger of a conflagration, not to do unnecessary injury to property by the use of too much water. About one-fifth of the appropriation asked for is for maintaining and improving the equipment and carrying on the house-keeping of the several stations. It is expected that the normal expenditures for these purposes will be materially reduced when the improvements, which have been going on for some time for the purpose of bringing everything to a high state of efficiency, are completed, as they are expected to be this year.

In addition to the Commissioner and the Chief there are forty-one permanent and forty-seven call men, divided into twelve companies, assigned to two steamers, four combination wagons, one chemical, two ladder trucks, and three hose wagons, kept in seven stations. There are twenty-nine horses. The assistant chief is paid $3.75 a day, and five captains and nine lieutenants receive $3.50 and $3.25, respectively, and the regular men are paid on a sliding scale—$2.50 the first year, $2.75 the second, and $3.00 the third. The increase in salaries this year caused by a number of men reaching the highest figure, and by the fact that men appointed last May draw a full year's salary this year, amounts to more than $3,000. One new man is needed in consequence of a severe injury to one of the men last year. The Commissioner also recommends other special increases in salaries which will call for $365 this year, but the Selectmen do not think these are necessary. After this year no increases in salaries or in the number of men in the department will be needed for a long time. The appropriation asked for maintenance of equipment will put all the equipment in first-class condition, and some reduction in this item may be hoped for in the future. The amount asked for maintenance of stations includes an item of $1,800 for specific interior repairs, and this expenditure is expected to leave things in such thoroughly good condition that there will be a very substantial decrease in the amount needed for repairs hereafter. Last year the old steamer was completely remodeled and a new wagon was bought. No more apparatus is needed and none is asked for this year.

Sewers and Surface-Water Drains.

The cost of sewer construction has been much less than estimated, chiefly because the work in the Newton-street region was late in starting, on account of delays in getting releases, and is still unfinished. These sewers will be finished this season and will cost somewhat less than the original estimate. The completion of these sewers will cost about $15,000. It is always difficult to foresee what sewers will be needed, but it is estimated that an appropriation of $35,000 in all will be ample. Surface-water drains are needed in various different parts of the town, and as has been pointed out in previous reports, this work will involve a large expenditure for a long time. An appropriation of $16,000, the same as last year, is recommended, of which $3,500 is for work begun last season but not yet completed.

Engineering Department.

The removal of the Engineering department to its spacious new quarters in Holden Hall has made it possible so to classify and arrange a great mass of accumulated material, that by being made readily available its value will be greatly increased. The appropriation asked for is the same as last year's, and the estimate for salaries does not differ materially from the expenditure of recent years.

Boylston, Harvard and Cypress Street Widening.

The work of construction on all these streets has been finished. Some progress has been made in settling land damage cases. Only one case has yet been decided in court, and in that one after a long trial the jury found a verdict for the precise amount of the Selectmen's award. There are half a dozen or more cases still awaiting trial, and it is expected that these will be reached and disposed of during the year.

Legislation.

The three bills for which the Selectmen were instructed to petition the Legislature of 1901 were disposed of as follows:

The bill for extending the Neponset Valley sewer to the Brookline line was passed and the work was begun last summer, and will be finished this year.

The bill relative to town meetings in Brookline was also passed, and is to be submitted to the town for acceptance on the official ballot at the approaching annual meeting.* The bill providing for the election of moderators on the official ballot was rejected.

The Wide Tire Act (St. 1900, c. 334) went into effect January 1, 1902. This act makes it unlawful to use wagons or carts having tires less in width than one and one-half times the diameter of the axle measured at the shoulder. The act does not apply to vehicles in use in the state January 1st.

Repairs of Public Buildings.

The usual minor repairs of the roofs of various public buildings, and the setting of glass, of which a great deal is broken annually, account for about one-third of the expenditure from this appropriation. The Parsons school and the hospital buildings were shingled, extensive repairs and changes were made in the roof of the Devotion school, new outside doors were provided for the Monmouth-street engine house, and the Parsons and Boylston schools painted. Full particulars of the expenditure from this appropriation are shown in the Accountant's report. This year a good deal more painting of school-houses is needed, and an appropriation of $3000 is asked for.

New Departments and Contingencies.

Last year the miscellaneous expenditures of the Assessors, Town Clerk, and Town Treasurer, which had previously been paid from the Contingent appropriation, were provided for in separate appropriations. The change has not been altogether an economical one, but is sensible, and has made the accounts much clearer and simpler. Separate appropriations were also made for printing town reports and for legal expenses, which have worked well. It is now proposed to take out of the contingent appropriation, and concentrate the expenses of all the officials having to do with the inspection of buildings. This will leave few regular expenses to be provided for from contingencies, excepting the stationery and postage used in the offices of the Clerk of the Selectmen and the Accountant. These, with the salaries, including those of the Selectmen, can be made the subject of separate appropriations. The proposed appropriations are made up as follows:—

Selectmen of Brookline.

[ACTS OF 1961; CHAPTER 201.]

AN ACT

RELATIVE TO TOWN MEETINGS IN THE TOWN OF BROOKLINE.

Be it enacted, etc., as follows:—

Section 1. Except as hereinafter provided, at all town meetings held in the town of Brookline the check list shall be used at the door, and the name of each voter shall be checked in ink thereon before he is permitted to enter, by officers appointed by the selectmen for that purpose: provided, that at original annual town meetings and at meetings for the election of state or national officers the check lists required by the election laws shall be sufficient. None but registered voters of the town shall be admitted to said meetings. Separate check lists shall be used at all town meetings and at all adjourned town meetings. The check list used at any meeting as aforesaid shall forthwith be filed by the officer in charge thereof with the town clerk, who shall immediately determine therefrom the number admitted to said meeting, and shall make a record thereof with the record of said meeting, which record shall have the same legal force and effect as the record of the proceedings of said meeting. All check lists shall be preserved by the town clerk until at least twenty days after the final adjournment or dissolution of the meeting, at which they were used, and shall be open to public inspection.

Section 2. Instead of the use of the check list as hereinbefore provided, the town may adopt a system of registering turnstiles for determining the number of registered voters admitted to town meetings. The selectmen shall appoint officers who shall have charge of such turnstiles, and who shall from them determine the number of persons admitted to each meeting, and who at the adjournment thereof shall make a return in writing to the town clerk under oath, which may be administered by him, of the number of persons who have been admitted to such meeting as registered by the said turnstiles. The town clerk shall immediately make a record of such return in the records of the meeting, which record shall have the same legal force and effect as the records of the proceedings of the meeting. All such returns shall be preserved by the town clerk until at least twenty days after the final adjournment or dissolution of the meeting to which they relate, and shall be open to public inspection.

Section 3. Any vote passed at an original town meeting to which seven hundred or more legal voters shall have been admitted, and any vote passed at an adjourned town meeting to which seven hundred or more legal voters shall have been admitted, shall, upon petition, be submitted to the voters at large for ratification at a subsequent town meeting as hereinafter provided, except that votes for moderator, or for any town, county, state, or national officer, or on any proposition on which by any special or general law of the Commonwealth a ye or nay vote by the voters of said town at large is required to be taken by ballot, shall be final. No vote subject to ratification under the provisions of this act shall take effect until the expiration of the time herein limited for filing a petition for ratification; nor, if such petition be filed, until after such vote shall be ratified in the manner hereinafter provided.

Section 4. If within five days from the final adjournment or dissolution of such town meeting a petition addressed to the selectmen shall be filed with the town clerk, signed by at least one hundred legal voters of the town, requesting that any vote or votes passed at such meeting as aforesaid be submitted to the voters of the town at large for ratification, then the selectmen shall, after the expiration of said five days, forthwith call a town meeting for the sole purpose of submitting said vote or votes, except the final votes before mentioned, for such ratification to said voters at large. In case two or more votes passed at a town meeting relate to one subject-matter, and a petition is filed as aforesaid for the ratification of one or more of such votes, the selectmen may in their discretion submit, in addition to those for which petitions are filed, any or all of the votes relating to the same subject-matter, and for this purpose a vote to borrow money shall be held to relate to the same subject-matter as the vote or votes to appropriate the money to be thus borrowed. The polls shall be opened at two o'clock in the afternoon, and shall be closed not earlier than nine o'clock in the afternoon, and a vote shall be taken by ballot upon the question, "Shall the following vote (or votes) passed at the town meeting (or at the adjourned town meeting) held on the day of 19 , be ratified? Vote: ". Any vote or votes submitted for ratification as aforesaid receiving a majority of the votes cast thereon shall be considered to be ratified, otherwise said vote or votes shall have no force or effect: provided, that if any vote required for its original passage more than a majority of the votes cast then a like proportion of votes shall be required for ratification.

Section 5. Every petition filed as aforesaid shall forthwith be examined by the town clerk, who shall ascertain therefrom the number of legal voters whose signatures are attached thereto, and shall make a record thereof, and such record, together with a copy of the petition exclusive of the names affixed thereto, shall be inserted in the records of the meeting called for ratification of the vote or votes named in the petition, which record shall have the same legal force and effect as the record of the proceedings of such meeting. All such petitions shall be preserved by the town clerk until at least twenty days after the final adjournment or dissolution of said meeting, and during that period shall be open to public inspection.

Section 6. It shall be the duty of the selectmen of the town to prepare the ballots to be used at such town meetings, and the conduct of such meetings shall be under their charge, subject to the laws relating to elections, so far as the same may be applicable thereto.

Section 7. A meeting shall be held for the purpose of submitting the question of the acceptance of this act to the legal voters of the town at any time within two years after the passage thereof. At such meeting the polls shall be open not less than eight hours, and the vote shall be taken by ballot as in the case of the annual town election, in answer to the question, "Shall an act passed by the general court in the year nineteen hundred and one, entitled 'An Act relative to town meetings in the town of Brookline' be accepted?" and the affirmative votes of a majority of the voters present and voting thereon shall be required for its acceptance. If at any meeting so held this act shall fail thus to be accepted it may at the expiration of three months from any such previous meeting thus be submitted again for acceptance, but not after the period of two years from the passage of this act.

Section 8. So much of this act as authorizes the submission of the question of its acceptance to the legal voters of the town shall take effect upon its passage, but it shall not take further effect unless accepted by the legal voters of the town as herein prescribed.

REPORT ON SUITS TO WHICH THE TOWN IS A PARTY.

BOSTON, February 19, 1902.

JAMES M. CODMAN, JR., ESQ.,

Chairman Board of Selectmen, Brookline, Mass.:—

DEAR SIR,—I report as follows concerning the suits I have had charge of for the town:—

First.

Stephen A. Ferrin vs. Brookline.

This case was dismissed by the court at the last October sitting.

Second.

Ætna Mills vs. Brookline.

As stated in my last report there were twelve of these mill owners' cases brought in Suffolk County and twelve in Norfolk County. The Superior Court dismissed the Suffolk cases, and the petitioners took exceptions to the Supreme Judicial Court. The case was argued by Mr. William D. Turner and Mr. Aaron H. Latham during my absence from the country.

The Court held that petitions could not be maintained in both counties, but that the petitioners were entitled to elect which county they would proceed in, and sustained the exceptions. Thereupon the petitioners elected to proceed with the Suffolk cases, and the Norfolk cases have been dismissed.

Third.

Dudley Mills vs. Brookline.

Elizabeth T. Crehore vs. Brookline.

William S. Cordingly vs. Brookline.

Union Bag & Paper Company vs. Brookline.

Ellen E. Bishop, executrix, vs. Brookline.

R. T. Sullivan Co. vs. Brookline.

Century Realty Investment Co. vs. Brookline.

Ætna Mills vs. Brookline.

Boston Manufacturing Co. vs. Brookline.

Waltham Savings Bank vs. Brookline.

These are petitions brought by mill owners on Charles River to recover damages alleged to have been sustained by reason of the last vote of the town to take additional water under the act of 1900. They are pending in Suffolk County.

Fourth.

Two of these petitions were for damages for the laying out of Naples road, one for damages for the laying out of Thorn-dike street, and one for the laying out of Coolidge street. All these cases were settled during my absence by Mr. W. D. Turner for $100.

Sixth.

All Saints Parish vs. Brookline.
All Saints Parish vs. Brookline.

Two actions brought to recover taxes assessed on the petitioner's real estate. These cases were argued by me in the Supreme Judicial Court for the Commonwealth, and were decided in favor of the town.

Seventh.

Mary Cleary vs. Brookline.

This case was dismissed by the court at the October sitting, 1901.

Eighth.

Samuel B. Thing vs. Brookline.

There is nothing to add to last year's report of this case.

Eleventh.Charles P. Gardner vs. Brookline.

This case was argued by me before the Supreme Judicial Court, and I am awaiting a decision.

Twelfth.M. F. Dickinson, Jr., vs. Brookline.

Plaintiff made a motion for a new trial, which was overruled, and he has now taken the case to the Supreme Judicial Court on exceptions. I expect to argue the case in March.

This case, which is the Metropolitan Parks apportionment case, was argued before the full bench of the Supreme Judicial Court in November last by Mr. Turner and myself, and we are still awaiting a decision.

This is an action of tort just entered in the Superior Court at Dedham, brought to recover damages for the flooding of plaintiff's meadow land in Dedham, alleged to have been caused by a dam erected by the Water Board on land taken for the town's water supply.

Streets.

Surveys, plans, estimates, and reports have been in progress a large part of the year upon petitions for the improvement of public and private ways, and for the laying out of new ones.

BOYLSTON STREET. The improvement of this street, which was under way at the date of my last report, was completed about mid-summer. The work done consisted of paving gutters, building fences, surfacing sidewalks and crosswalks, setting out about 400 red oak trees, sowing grass seed, and considerable miscellaneous work. The old road over Wright's Hill was underdrained on the hill side, and the road-bed so formed as to prevent the surface-water from flowing down the slope into the lower roadway.

DUNSTER ROAD. With the exception of some gutter paving, the grading of the part of the road between Boylston street and the Newton line was finished last year. This year the part of the road between Boylston street and Heath street, which has long been a source of inconvenience and danger, has been regraded and greatly improved; the raising of Boylston street at the point of junction has rendered possible this desirable improvement.

Sewers and Drains.

The annexed table will show the extent and location of sewers and surface-water drains laid. It will be noticed that the greater part of the work has been done in that portion of the southerly section of the town that drains into the Neponset Valley branch of the Metropolitan system.

Previous to this year, the point in that system best situated to take the Brookline drainage was located in the St. Joseph Cemetery, about 6000 feet from the town line. By Chapter 204 of the Acts of 1901, the Metropolitan Water and Sewerage Board was directed to "extend the Metropolitan sewer from the branch in St. Joseph's Cemetery in West Roxbury to and across the boundary line between Newton and Brookline," etc. This work was put under contract late in the season, and will probably be finished June 1st, 1902.

The sewer which the state authorities are building, will have a capacity, when running full, of 5.6 cubic feet per second, which is the estimated requirement for the year 1930. In designing the Brookline system it did not seem to me wise to provide trunk sewers of a capacity which might call for enlargement at a date so comparatively near at hand, and the work now in progress, which involves building only a small amount of trunk sewer, has been based upon an average population of 60 persons to the acre, with an assumed rate of 40 cubic feet per head per day, and the sewers running only half full.

This method of arriving at the sizes gives the seemingly incongruous condition of a 32" x 40" Brookline sewer discharging into an 18" Metropolitan sewer, but it should be borne in mind our own system is designed to be of ample size for an indefinitely long period.

Proposals for doing this work and surface-water drainage work in Wolcott road were received September 17th, and the contract for one section awarded to the C. H. Eglee Co., and the other to James H. Ferguson. It is expected that the work will be finished about July 1st.

Contagious Hospital Drainage.

These buildings, six in number, are located on the drainage area, which will finally discharge into the Neponset Valley system above mentioned, but it is likely to be several years before there will be any call that will warrant its being extended to the site of the hospital buildings, excepting for the drainage of the hospital itself. The soil about the hospital is either almost impervious or ledge, so that it was impracticable to use any surface or sub-surface system of disposal. Leaching cesspools were both impracticable and undesirable. The advice of the State Board of Health was sought, and as a result of information acquired at the experimental station maintained by the state at Lawrence, and of experience gained where the system had been in use on a large scale, it was concluded that the sewage would be sufficiently purified to allow the effluent to discharge into the swamp near the hospitals, and which drains into the Saw Mill Brook, if the sewage was filtered slowly through beds of fine coke breeze five feet in thickness.

Plans have been made for filter beds 1500 square feet in area, which it is thought will purify the sewage of a maximum of seventy people using 100 gallons of water daily per capita. The estimated cost of this work is $1500.

The drainage of all the buildings, excepting that of the old small-pox building, was therefore concentrated into a single system, and the drains laid to the point where they can discharge onto the filter beds, when they are constructed in the spring. The drains have been so arranged as to be readily connected with the sewer system when it is extended to this locality, with no other change than merely throwing out of commission the proposed filter beds.

House Drain Inspection.

For twenty years it has been the custom of this department to require a critical inspection of all public sewers and drains when they are built, and of the Highway department, which has had charge of the care of sewers, to see that each house connection was properly made, the inspection being limited to the laying of the first one or two pipes. Of this latter work no records have been preserved. At the beginning of this year the work of house-drain inspection was transferred to this department, and it has been done as heretofore, with the exception that a careful record has been made of the location of each drain from the sewer to the property drained. The importance of preserving such records does not need to be enlarged upon. Provided the town has the necessary authority, I think it extremely desirable that the system of inspection should be continued to the connection with the iron soil pipe, particularly in wet soils, where whatever of care is exercised to make the public sewers water-tight is rendered nugatory by poorly laid house connections. If this suggestion were adopted, I think the work would require substantially the entire time of one man.

Bridges.

From a recent personal examination of the bridges for which the town is responsible, I find that aside from the painting of the iron work of the Carlton-street foot bridge, and that of the other bridges over the Boston and Albany railroad, at St. Mary's street, Aspinwall avenue, Cypress street, Sumner road, and Dean road, which should be done early in the coming season, and some slight repairs on the Washington-street bridge, they are all in good condition. The estimated cost of this work is $900.

Park Maintenance.

Mr. David H. Sheehan has continued to occupy the position of superintendent. Outside of the ordinary maintenance, the most important work was the repair of the park drives and the grading of the Marion-street triangle. Of the former, the part of the drive between Washington street and Flora street, and that between Highland road and Chestnut street, some 2600 feet in length, on which only very slight repairs had been made since the drive was opened to the public in 1893, were resurfaced at a cost of $1026.59. It would have been economical to have applied a greater thickness of stone than was used, but the money available for the purpose was limited, and the condition of the drive was such that it seemed best to lightly repair a large amount of drive rather than to make a more expensive repair over a small amount. This repair work should be continued this year over the part of the drive between Washington street and the Bellevue-street bridge, at an estimated cost of $500.

The regrading of the Marion-street triangle, for which an allowance of $1300 was made in the appropriation, was not begun until late in the season, as up to that time no opportunity had presented itself for economically disposing of some 1500 cubic yards of surplus gravel. At that time the Superintendent of Streets was of the opinion that his department would have use for the material, but the unusually early winter prevented its being taken away. It will be practicable to do in the early spring such grading as will be necessary to permit all the planting being done at the same time, the balance of the grading to follow. The outlay has been $46.60. The outlay for the year in pruning and thinning out trees on the Newton-street land has been $540.63.

In view of the recent large increase in public grounds, it would appear necessary to make a substantial increase in the Park Maintenance appropriation, unless it is decided to leave the lands in a wild state.

The removal of the old Police Station on Prospect street will necessitate an outlay of about $600 for grading, providing the 300 cubic yards of filling required is done with ashes.

The following is an approximate division of the expenditures for the year:—

Amount appropriated	$10,300 00
Receipts	210 00
	$10,510 00
Clerk of Board	$150 00
Weekly pay-rolls	6184 17
Watering park drives	690 00
Road materials	751 91
Use of driving horse	557 13
Use of steam road roller	141 49
Out-of-door gymnasium	79 70
Miscellaneous expenses	312 18
	8,866 58

Town Map.

For many years an accurate map of the town on a moderately small scale has been very much needed in order to properly study street projects, drainage problems, and for many other purposes. Such a plan, on a scale of 200 feet to an inch, has been in progress during the year, and is now nearly finished. The sheet is 10.5 feet in length by 5.5 feet in width, and can be reduced for publication purposes when desired.

Office Accommodations.

The department moved into its new quarters in the old Pierce Primary School building February 22d, 1901. The office and vault furnishings were completed in the spring, and during the year much time and consideration has been given to devising a system of indexing which would be adapted to the needs of Brookline. A system has been adopted which is believed to be elastic enough to permit of almost indefinite extension, and at the same time, enable any information in the office to be quickly found.

Assistants.

The following is a list of assistants and others connected with the office: H. A. Varney, F. A. Leavitt, D. W. Robbins, A. H. Pratt, J. F. Driscoll, G. J. Shay, E. L. Barrows, W. F. Sander-son, H. N. Bates, L. S. Greenwood.

Respectfully submitted,

ALEXIS H. FRENCH,

Town Engineer.

For other details of this expenditure reference is made to the reports of the Town Accountant and the Town Treasurer, which show the same result, but in different forms.

Mr. Fred B. Richardson was re-appointed Assistant Superintendent of Streets, and has continued to perform his duties in an acceptable manner.

The department now owns twenty-eight horses, three of which are kept in the roller shed on Devotion street, and the others at the stable on Cypress street. The driving horses used by the Superintendent and his assistant, hitherto furnished by these officials, are now supplied by the town, but the buggies, harnesses, etc., are still private property. A considerable sum will be needed during the coming season for the renewals of the equipment. One double cart was bought last year.

A substantial fence has been built on two sides of the Devotion street lot at a cost of $502.16, which has been charged to the appropriation for Addition to Town Stables; the filling with ashes, which has been going on for some time, will be completed during the coming season. Three horses used in collecting ashes and cleaning streets are kept in the roller shed on this lot. The steam roller purchased last year has been kept last winter and this winter in the shed on Newton street adjoining the high-service pumping station. It would be much better to provide a suitable place for it at the Cypress street yard, and as the wooden sheds there are much in need of repair, I submit for your consideration whether it would not be well to build new sheds of a more substantial character in which accommodation for storing such valuable property could be secured. The grade of the yard could be much improved at the same time.

Since 1875 a certain number of the men have been changed every Monday morning. The men employed in sectional care, in collecting ashes, in cleaning catch-basins, and other special lines, have steady work, but the others have been changed weekly; sometimes they get every other week, but when work is scarce they get much less. While under this method many deserving men who are temporarily out of work are helped, it is very evident that the best results cannot be secured. It is not to be expected that a man will do his best when he is sure that whether he does well or ill, on Saturday night he must give place to another. In late years, when working under special appropriations, and on such work as that of paving Harvard square and Washington street in the present year, the men have been selected for their fitness, and have been kept on until the special work was finished, and the results have been very good. The number of men looking for employment is constantly increasing. Every one who has paid a poll tax can have his name entered on the rolls, and thereby secure his share of the work. In my judgment the time has come when the department should be put on a permanent basis; the lighter work of cleaning streets ought to be kept for those men who have grown old in the service, and who, under existing methods, are crowded out.

The most important work of the past year was the paving of Harvard square and Washington street as far as the railroad bridge with vitrified brick. Notice was given to all departments and companies having rights in the street to make whatever repairs and extensions of their structures were needed. The Brookline Water department laid new pipes on each side of the street and connected its service pipes with them, and the Brookline Gas Light Company did the same. The Gas Light Company also built a conduit in which to place its electric wires. The Boston Elevated Railway Company relaid its tracks to conform to the new cross section, and also built a conduit in which its feed wires may be placed at some future time. The New England Telephone and Telegraph Company extended its conduit to and across the railroad bridge. A sewer was laid across the street to serve any future needs of Davis court, and the sewer in the westerly side of the street was extended southerly to White place. After all this was done, the actual work of paving was begun and was carried forward as fast as possible. Considerable delay, owing to the scarcity of freight cars, was experienced in receiving the later shipments of brick, and the work was thereby prolonged much later than was expected. The work was all done by the day by our own men, and cost considerably less than was estimated. As all the streets leading into the square are of macadam, and every wheel brings more or less material on it, which is deposited on the pavement, it is somewhat difficult to keep the pavement perfectly clean at all times, but so far we find that one man keeps it in a very satisfactory condition. The pavement in Village square laid last year is in good condition, and, with that in Harvard square, is subjected to such a volume of all kinds of traffic from the lightest to the heaviest, that a short time will show whether it is wise to extend this class of pavement in our streets. Much to our regret we were obliged to issue a permit to the Brookline Water Board to excavate in Village square for the purpose of connecting a new main pipe laid in Boylston street last year with that already laid in High street, which necessitated digging up the pavement laid only eighteen months before. It was agreed, however, that the pavement should be restored by this department at the expense of the Water Department, and it seems to me that this arrangement should be insisted upon whenever a permit to dig up any improved pavement is granted.

Improved pavements will probably be desired in many parts of the town before long, to replace the macadam, which is the only kind now in use excepting the two pieces of brick pavement of which I have just spoken. For streets of the heaviest kinds of traffic, there is no doubt that a good granite block pavement is the best, but for streets of lighter traffic something smoother and less noisy is more desirable. Besides asphalt, the city of Boston has recently laid a considerable amount of improved wooden blocks treated with the creo-resinate process, which is well worthy of our attention. Some of it was laid nearly two years ago on Tremont street at the corner of Park street, but the grade at this point is so steep that the test here is hardly a fair one. Other pieces have been laid at the corner of Tremont and Beacon streets, on Boylston street near Charles street, and on Beacon street from Massachusetts avenue westerly to the entrance to the parkway. Harvard bridge has also been paved with this material, and it will be interesting at least to watch it closely. Another pavement, commonly known as bituminous macadam, has been laid in Brockton, Lowell, Cambridge and other places; the chief merits claimed for this pavement are its durability, smoothness, freedom from dust, comparative noiselessness, and cheapness. It has not been used in this vicinity long enough to make it certain that it possesses all these qualities, but if it should be found that it does, it would be certainly worthy of attention, as it can be laid at a somewhat increased cost over that of macadam, but not more than one-half that of asphalt.

Another important item in our work of the past year was widening the roadway of Washington street between Park street and Beacon street on the northeasterly side. The sidewalks, which were ten feet in width, were reduced to eight feet, and thus an additional width of two feet was secured for the roadway where it seemed to be more needed than in the sidewalk. This necessitated resetting all the edgestones, moving back all electric light and telephone poles, rebuilding catch-basins, and for the most part repaving concrete sidewalks which were originally laid in 1874. The sidewalk on the westerly side from Gardner road to Beacon street had already been made eight feet wide, and the improvement in the roadway, by reason of the additional width, is quite noticeable.

No stone was quarried or crushed at the Washington-street ledge during the past year. Most of that used in the southerly part of the town was prepared at the Newton-street plant, but for work in the central and northerly portions of the town 5,360 tons of imported trap rock was used, of which 4,498 tons came from Westfield, 458 tons from West Roxbury, and 404 tons from Brighton. It seems in every way desirable to continue the use of this trap rock for the upper layer at least of the road surface, and the softer and cheaper stone may be used in the foundations and bottom layers.

During the coming season Beacon street should receive a large share of attention. The surface in many parts needs renewal and the material should be of the best quality. On the northerly roadway, between St. Paul street and Hawes street, the road has settled considerably, in some places enough to keep the water standing in the gutters. These sections should be brought to grade, and the gutters for a very considerable length of the street should be repaved. In doing this work only the best of the cobble stones should be used, and the deficiency should be supplied by either granite blocks or concrete.

Your attention is also called to the urgent need of providing means for surface drainage in many parts of the town, and of extending the paved gutters on the streets of steeper grades. Goddard avenue may be cited as a street where both are required, and many other places could be mentioned if it were necessary.

At a meeting of the Board of Selectmen held on June 3d, 1901, certain regulations for opening streets by the Brookline Gas Light Company were adopted, the same to go into effect July 1st, 1901. Under these regulations the Gas Light Company is now required to obtain a permit from this office for each opening in the street. The first permit was given July 11, 1901, and since that time 178 permits have been issued. 11 permits were issued to the New England Telephone and Telegraph Company of Massachusetts for various purposes. 83 permits were issued to sundry other parties for crossing sidewalks, etc. 129 permits were issued for sewer connections. 4 permits for moving buildings through the streets were issued. 98 permits to occupy streets were issued, principally for building purposes.

The guideboards heretofore reported to the town are all maintained, and we are now having many of them repainted. One guideboard reading "Allandale Road, Arnold Arboretum $1\frac{3}{8}$ miles, Forest Hills Station 2 miles," has been placed at the corner of Grove street. Many of the street signs are also being repainted.

The name of Chestnut Hill road was changed to Dunster road at the town meeting held June 12, 1901.

The name of a part of Chestnut street and a part of Clark road, which together formed a continuous road between Boylston street and Walnut street, was changed to Kennard road at the town meeting held January 29, 1902.

Street Crossings.

In addition to the usual amount of repaving, new crossings of granite flagging with small granite blocks were laid at the following places:—

Across Ivy street at Carlton street.

“ Salisbury road at Williston road.

“ Winchester street near Thorndike street.

“ Borland street at Beacon street.

Crossings of North River stone with small granite blocks were laid at the following places:—

Across Beacon street (south side) at Kent street.

“ Boylston street at St. Lawrence chapel.

“ Browne street at St. Paul street.

“ Chatham street at Kent street.

“ St. Paul street at Browne street.

“ Sewall avenue at Charles street.

Crossings of coal tar concrete were laid at the following places:—

Across Abbottsford road at Naples road.

“ Chapel street at Colchester street.

“ Hawes street at Colchester street.

“ Osborne road at Naples road.

“ Tappan street at entrance to Beaconsfield terraces.

“ Warren street at entrance to Welch estate.

New Streets and Street Widenings.

WALNUT and CHESTNUT STREETS. The alteration and widening of these streets was accepted and allowed at the meeting held January 17, 1901. The work was done early in the season and cost $240.60.

MIDDLESEX ROAD was accepted as a public way June 28, 1900, and an appropriation of $500 was made for its construction, of which only $75 was expended in that year. During the past season the road has been practically finished with gravel walks, tree lawns, and a gravel and stone roadway with a plank walk on one side. The expenditure this year amounted to $412.70.

CYPRESS STREET WIDENING During the past season the sidewalk in front of the four houses on the Vass estate has been finished. The widening is now completed, excepting the sidewalk from Hart street to Franklin street. The expenditure this year for construction was $157.77.

BOYLSTON STREET WIDENING. The work on this street was completed early in the season by the Engineering department. Sundry rolling was done by the Highway department, the cost of which was $107.72. The 48-inch main pipe in front of the old reservoir, belonging to the city of Boston, broke on the 12th of April, 1901, doing considerable damage to the roadways, gutters, and tree lawns of the newly constructed road, and filling the water channels with gravel. The street was repaired by this department and the private lands and water courses were cleaned and restored to their former condition. The whole cost of the work, amounting to $955.49, was repaid by the city of Boston.

COOLIDGE STREET. The gutters on that part of the street between Harvard street and Clarence street were paved and the roadway was macadamized at a cost of $571.55, which was paid from the unexpended balance of last year. The appropriation of $1,500 for this street was made November 9, 1899, and there is still a balance of $410.01 unexpended.

DUNSTER ROAD (formerly CHESTNUT HILL ROAD). This street was finished by the Engineering department. Sundry rolling was done by the Highway department, costing $37.

CARLTON STREET WIDENING. The alteration and widening of Carlton street, between Beacon street and Ivy street, was accepted and allowed at the annual meeting, and an appropriation of $3,000 was made to pay for construction. The necessary land was released to the town free of cost by the abutters. This part of the street is now fifty feet wide, and is constructed with concrete sidewalks on the easterly side, and gravel sidewalks on the westerly side, tree lawns, paved gutters of granite blocks, and an eight-inch macadam roadway. The roadway and gutters were constructed in accordance with the official profile, except for a slight change at Ivy street, but the sidewalks were kept at a grade which would prevent injury to the trees, and would conform practically to the grade of the adjoining land. A fairly successful effort was made in moving back the granolithic walk near Beacon street. The appropriation was all expended.

COLUMBIA STREET. This street was accepted as a public way at the annual meeting. It is forty feet wide, and runs westerly from Harvard street about 750 feet, and then curving to the right, runs for about 650 feet parallel with Winchester street. It is a gravel road, with concrete walks and tree lawns in front of the houses, and was offered to the town free of cost. An appropriation of $250 was made to pay for fencing, of which only $38.53 was expended.

KENWOOD STREET. This street was accepted as a public way at the annual meeting. It is forty feet wide and runs from Harvard street to Columbia street. It is similar in construction to Columbia street, and like that street was made by the owners and offered to the town free of cost. An appropriation of $200 was made, and $112.48 was expended to pay for a catch-basin and some necessary fencing.

FULLER STREET. The part of this street between Harvard street and Gibbs street was accepted as a public way at the town meeting held November 20, 1901. It is forty feet wide, constructed by the owners with gravel sidewalks and roadway and tree lawns, and was offered to the town free of cost. The end near Harvard street is furnished with concrete and granolithic sidewalks in front of several houses. Nothing has been spent upon it since its acceptance.

GIBBS STREET. This street was accepted as a public way at the town meeting held November 20, 1901. It runs from Thorndike street to Naples road, is forty feet wide, and was constructed of gravel by the owners, and offered to the town free of cost. Nothing has been expended upon it.

CLINTON PATH was accepted as a public way at the town meeting held November 20, 1901. It extends from Clinton road down the bank to the Boston and Albany railroad, which is crossed by a subway, and thence along an embankment belonging to the city of Boston to Beacon street near the Leyden Congregational Church. The part between Clinton road and the northerly side of the railroad location, which includes the subway, was constructed with granolithic walks and steps with iron handrails by the Jacob W. Pierce estate at their own expense, and was offered to the town free of cost. An appropriation of $250 was made to pay for a plank walk from the railroad location to Beacon street, and for fencing along the embankment. The cost was $194.44 and the way is open for travel.

BROWNE STREET. The part of this street between St. Paul street and Powell street was accepted as a public way at the town meeting held January 29, 1902. It is fifty feet wide, and is well made of gravel with paved gutters. It was built by the owners and has cost the town nothing.

NEWTON STREET WIDENING. An alteration and widening of a part of Newton street was accepted and allowed at the town meeting held January 29, 1902, and an appropriation of $4,000 was made to pay for construction. All the land necessary for an eighty-foot street has been given to the town free of cost, and a sewer is being built which has been located with reference to the lines of the street as widened. The widening extends from a point about 1,300 feet southeasterly from Hammond street, nearly to the Newton line. The land was given upon the condition that the town shall bring the grade of the land given to the grade which has been adopted for the future street. Except this grading and restoring the loam to the surface, no other construction is contemplated until such time as the wider street becomes necessary. No work has yet been done upon it.

Watering Streets.

The appropriation for this work was $17,000, and $16,036 was expended. No teams of the Fire department were used this past season. Two additional hired teams were employed, making the whole number of teams now doing the work twenty-five. The same rates as heretofore were paid, viz.: one hundred dollars per month for each team for the six months beginning May 1st, and ending October 31st, which rate included watering on Sundays; before May 1st and after October 31st payment was made by the day at the rate of $5 per day for each team. During a part of the summer an inspector was employed in looking after the work and securing data which will enable us to lay out future routes with more precision, and to rearrange and equalize the present routes.

Sidewalks.

The kind and amount of work done on the sidewalks is shown in the following table, which does not include the patching of brick and concrete walks nor the repairs of plank walks. When plank walks have been rebuilt from old stock, the work has been considered in the nature of repairs and is not included in the table.

The allowance toward the cost of artificial stone walks was fixed at 55 cents per square yard, and on April 1, 1901, it was voted that payment for this kind of work should be deferred until at least one season had elapsed. Accordingly, no payments for artificial stone walks have been made during the past year, but 1,969 yards have been laid on which there will be due in the early spring, or as soon as the frost is out of the ground and their condition can be plainly determined, the sum of $1,083. These walks were laid in the following places:—

Care of Sewers.

The appropriation made at the annual meeting for care of sewers and drains was $5,000. The expenditure was $4,792.77, and was for work of the usual routine character, consisting chiefly of cleaning catch-basins, inspecting, cleaning and flushing sewers, repairing manholes, catch-basins, etc. The expenditure was for the following:—

Cleaning catch-basins	$3,291 95
Cleaning and repairing main sewers	222 55
Cleaning and repairing lateral sewers	390 65
Cleaning and repairing surface-water channels	206 28
Inspection of lateral sewers, etc.	111 14
Rebuilding and repairing catch-basins	61 50
Rebuilding and repairing manholes	98 45
Cash paid in exchange for new horse	160 00
Total	$4,792 77

The sewers are in all good working order, and in only three instances was any trouble experienced,—these were caused by broken pipes which have been replaced. The house connections of the sewers are now inspected by the Engineering department, and a record of each connection is kept.

The drain which carries off the storm water from two catch-basins on Warren street when originally laid was carried a short distance into the Sargent estate and connected with a private drain which has proved insufficient. In November last the public drain was continued in the Sargent estate some 438.5 feet toward the pond and two manholes were built.

A drain was laid from the surface drain in Tappan street across the Cypress-street playground to the corner of Gorham avenue and Davis avenue, for the purpose of intercepting the large amount of surface water which reaches this point from the slopes of Aspinwall hill, principally through the Blake estate, and which has caused the sewer in Davis avenue to back up into some of the houses. This drain should be extended in the near future through Greenough street to Cypress place, to take care of the storm water at that point.

The surface drain in Westbourne terrace was extended some 98 feet northwesterly.

The labor in these extensions was furnished by this department, but the work was done under the direction of the Engineering department, and the details of the cost will be found in the report of the Town Engineer.

Seventeen new catch-basins were built in sundry places, and their cost was charged to the surface drainage appropriation. The need of adequate surface drainage in many parts of the town is very urgent, and it is hoped that the most pressing demands may be met during the coming season.

Collecting Ashes.

The cost of collecting ashes and refuse throughout the town was $13,056.56, which sum includes $2,183.64, credited to the Highway department for the use of horses, the whole cost of whose keeping was charged to the highway appropriation. The cost of this work for the last nine years was as follows:—

1894	6,299 11
1895	6,996 37
1896	7,401 59
1897	8,075 24
1898	9,105 65
1899	10,903 16
1900	11,205 63
1901	13,056 56

The number of loads collected was 21,775, as against 19,374 loads collected last year. The order requiring the separation of paper and other combustible waste from the ashes is quite generally complied with, and this enables us to find many dumping places for ashes which would otherwise be closed against us. The combustible waste is all carried to the gravel pit on Warren street, and is there burned in the open air. How long this practice can be continued is very uncertain, and the problem of how to dispose of this refuse in the most economical way without annoyance still confronts us. The cost of the work will be increased during the coming season, owing to the much longer haul, which will necessitate the employment of an additional team. Three new carts will be needed for the ashes, and very likely another low-down cart for the combustible refuse.

Sundries.

Sundry other work in connection with public buildings, care of the Town Hall, repairing and laying drains at the Town Hall annex, grading around the old Devotion house, etc., was done and the cost of the work, amounting in all to $662.52, was charged to the proper appropriations.

At the special town meeting held November 20, 1901, an appropriation of $1,000 was made to pay for the following:—

Paving driveways at chemical engine-house on Monmouth street with granite blocks	$275 75
Paving area on Prospect-street side of Town Hall with granite blocks	480 34
Paving area on Holden-street side of Town Hall with hot coal- tar skim coat	175 08
Paving area in rear of engine-house in the Village with hot coal- tar skim coat	45 95
Sundry repairing at engine-houses	18 68
Total	<hr/> $995 80

The inventory of property belonging to the department will be filed with the Town Accountant.

Respectfully submitted,

MICHAEL DRISCOLL,

Superintendent of Streets and Sewers.

Arc-Lights.

Changes in this system of lighting have not progressed as rapidly as was anticipated a year ago. The contract was that all lights were to be changed January 1st, 1902. Owing to delays in shipment of machinery this work has not been finished, but the company think that everything will be ready some time in March.

That part of the town which has been lighted with the new inclosed arc-lights has been in darkness a great many times, more particularly during the last three months, the trouble occurring each time at the station. The machine in use was put in temporarily, and seems to be overloaded, as this is where the trouble occurs each time, being caused by a coil or coils burning out. When these coils burn out, the lights have to be shut off while repairs are being made. The new machines are now at the works and are being put in place as rapidly as possible.

New lamp poles were set on Beacon street from St. Mary's street to Park street. These are all connected with underground wires. Seven new lights were added, making eighteen lights on this part of Beacon street. These were connected and lighted March 26th.

One new light was added on Cumberland road at the corner of Glen road, April 18th.

One new light was added on Carlton street, between Beacon street and Ivy street, August 30th.

One light was changed from Fay place to Station street, October 8th.

One light was added on Washington street, between Pearl street and Walter avenue, October 8th.

One light was added on Boylston street, near High street, October 9th.

Two lights were added on Beacon street, between Marion street and Washington street, November 6th.

I would like to call the attention of your Honorable Board to the manner in which the electric-light cable is now placed in the Parkway from Washington street to Chestnut street. At the present time it is run in what is termed a belt line, or a single wire, starting from the corner of High street and Chestnut street, through the Parkway to Washington street, and from this point to High street back to Chestnut street, where it joins the other wire or what is called the loop. This belt line as it is now run, is liable to cause trouble to telephone lines and police signal after the new lights are installed. A new three-inch vitrified clay duct with brick manholes at each lamp, placed in the Parkway from Washington street to a point near Allerton street, and from Chestnut street to Cumberland road, would cost, including conduit, manholes, and cable,—

Conduit, 3872 ft. @ 60c.	$2,325 20
Manholes at each pole, @ $15.00	195 00
Cable, 3983 ft. @ 14c.	557 62
Labor, pulling in cable	90 00

Welsbach Street Lights.

The number of Welsbach gaslights was increased fifty-eight during the year, and five were discontinued.

The streets having more than one added were: Westbourne terrace, three connected August 9th; St. Paul street, between Freeman street and Commonwealth avenue, five connected August 5th; Circuit road, four connected August 23d.

Clyde street having part gaslights, part naphtha, and the Brookline Gas Light Company having laid a new main from Warren street to connect with a larger pipe which had formerly been laid, it was decided to re-locate five and put in fourteen additional gaslights between Warren street and Newton street. These were connected November 13th. On Newton street between Clyde street and Goddard avenue, six were added November 13th. On St. Paul street, three were added November 27th, between Beacon street and Browne street. The others were single lights scattered about the town, and placed between lights formerly connected which were too far apart to light the streets as they should be lighted. Newton street between Goddard avenue and the town line should have additional lights, as the distance is too far between the present ones.

I would recommend that enough money be appropriated this year for an increase of fifty lights.

Naphtha Lights.

The naphtha plate burners were changed on September 15th, 1901, for Welsbach burners, as recommended by the committee in March, 1901. While these are a more satisfactory light than the old plate burners, they require more care and cannot be lighted as quickly.

It is hoped that many of these will be changed for gas and that the change can be arranged during the coming year.

Copies of the contracts for street lighting are appended to this report.

Fire Alarm.

The system has worked very satisfactorily during the year. No new apparatus or boxes were added. The repairs on boxes and apparatus was very little, box 215 being the only one out of order. This was caused by lightning burning off small wire on the back of switch.

It was suggested that a new break wheel be purchased for the universal repeater and the location be given at the corner of Newton and Hammond streets. The houses are few and scattered, nearly all having telephones. In all probability the alarm would be sent in that way. Were a box placed at this point, it would require about fifty-eight arms and nearly two miles of wire. With this number on the running cards, if an alarm is rung from this location the call men will know where to go. The nearest boxes are 23, Boylston and Hammon streets, and 72, corner of Newton and Grove streets.

Three indicators were cleaned and a new device was added for stopping and restoring the numbers at once, instead of having to wait a certain length of time which the indicators were obliged to run before stopping.

Our repairs having been so few, we have been able to save enough to purchase one new fire alarm box, and as a petition was handed in requesting that one be placed on Goddard avenue near Rockwood street, your committee recommend that it be purchased and placed in this location.

We are constantly having reports of glass broken in key guards on the fire alarm boxes. In some cases the men have been to one box three times during the day. A great many are broken by children, and when others are passing the box and find they can open the door, there is a great temptation to pull the hook. I would respectfully recommend that a number of boxes have the keyless doors, the price of which is $35 each. Had there been one of these on box 14, the accident probably would not have happened on Boylston street.

I would recommend that a number of new plates be purchased for batteries. It has been suggested that a new box be added this year and located at the corner of Harvard and Harris streets.

Police Signal.

This system has given good satisfaction during the year. No new boxes were added, but a number of locations were changed. It was necessary to repair quite a number of the police boxes. These are required to do a great deal of work, and as some of the parts are rather delicate they have to be replaced with new, as they wear down.

The telephone switches on the signal desk had become so worn it was thought best to have a new and better kind. These were changed in August at a cost of $41.70.

There have not been any requests for new boxes this year. As a number will have to be repaired, I would recommend that a sufficient amount be appropriated for this purpose.

Underground Wires.

Very little work was done during the year by the New England Telephone and Telegraph Company. The streets in which conduit has been placed are as follows:—

	Ft. of Con.	No. of Ducts.	Ft. of Ducts.	Material Used.	Man- holes.	Pole Con.
Beacon st. from Harvard to Charles	717.6	2	1435.2	Hollow Brick.	2	1

Washington st. across B. & A. Railway bridge	39.7	1	39.7	Iron.
	1483.9	16	3439.8		4	3

It is expected that more work will be started this spring. A petition has been filed to extend conduit through St. Paul street from Freeman street to Commonwealth avenue, and the company has been requested to place a conduit in Norfolk road and Middlesex road, and to remove the overhead cables from Norfolk road and Hammond street.

BROOKLINE GAS LIGHT COMPANY.

At the time it was decided to brick-pave Harvard square, the Gas Light Company were asked to place their conduits through this section, and the following work was completed:—

	Ft. of Con.	No. of Ducts.	Ft. of Ducts.	Material Used.	Man- holes.	Pole Con.

It is hoped that this work will be continued this year, and from reports from the company it is expected they will extend their underground conduit on Beacon street from Harvard to Tappan street.

BOSTON ELEVATED RAILWAY COMPANY.

This company having put in so much underground work during 1900, and not knowing definitely what would be done in the way of running feed-wires and having so much work to do in other places, they requested that further work be postponed until 1902. It is expected, however, that conduit and manholes will be placed on Beacon street from Harvard street to Chestnut Hill avenue this year. The work put in by this company during the year was on Washington street from the bridge to the manhole in Harvard square.

FIRE ALARM AND POLICE TELEGRAPH.

The conduits on Boylston street from Heath street to Hammond street were completed and ready for use in May, and at that time the wires for the fire alarm box, police box, telephone and indicator for Water department were placed in the duct reserved for town use.

The wires connecting the Chemical Engine house were replaced under ground in November. In some places changes were made and new wire was purchased for this work. Repairs were required to be made on Park street where the insulation was burned off, caused by a cable box of the telephone company taking fire. One other was where electric-light wires became short-circuited on the poles. One iron post for a fire alarm box was set at Coolidge's Corner, and one new fire alarm and police box post purchased. The amount of wire used was as follows:—

Boylston street from Heath street to Hammond	51,182 ft.
Beacon street and St. Mary's street	2,370 "
Changes, repairs and laterals	4,459 "
Total	58,011 ft.

Poles and Locations.

The number of poles set this year was less than ever before. The New England Telephone and Telegraph Company petitioned March 7th to erect and maintain one pole on Charles street, and on November 26th for permission to erect and maintain four poles on Coolidge street between Clarence and Gibbs streets. While a great many petitions have been handed in by this company, the greater number have been for replacing old poles with new, set in the same location, and for attachments of wires to gas company poles. The greatest event of the year was on September 10th, when thirty-eight poles were removed from Beacon street between St. Mary's street and Harvard street. One pole was removed later by the Boston Elevated Railway Company, and one of their iron carrying-poles set in its place. This made a total of thirty-nine poles removed on Beacon street, which makes that section much more attractive. This coming year we are looking forward to the removal of the poles on Beacon street from Harvard street to Washington.

On April 2d the Brookline Gas Light Company petitioned for permission to erect and maintain three poles on Freeman street; May 18th, two poles on Middlesex road; August 23d, one pole on St. Mary's street; and October 31st, two poles on Sewall avenue. Two other petitions were handed in, and after a hearing before the Board, the petitioners were given leave to withdraw.

The Boston Elevated Railway Company have removed six of their tall poles on Beacon street, and have been requested to have the others removed and shorter ones set in their place. This has not been attended to up to the present time. I am informed it involves a complication of affairs with the West End Street Railway, and request has been made to allow them to remain.

Wires.

Many wires not in use have been removed from the poles on different streets, and quite a number which were old and so rusted as to be considered dangerous have been replaced with new wire.

The telephone wires became crossed with the electric-light wires on two occasions, one case being caused by a tree being cut down, catching and breaking the telephone wire, the other by a storm. These crosses burned out two cable boxes on the poles. More care must be exercised in the open wire construction, and the men will have to be more particular where the wires enter cable boxes.

The companies are notified of any defective work and requested to attend to such work immediately.

Interior Wiring of Buildings.

This work has received the usual careful inspection during the year. A few cases have been found where wires have been run without notifying the department. The parties have been notified and their attention called to the rules and regulations for such work.

The first fire caused by electric-light wires occurred this year, due to a plumber running a soil pipe across the electric-light wires. In order to get his pipe in the proper position he crowded the wires so that the insulation was removed, allowing the bare wires to come in contact with the pipe. The pipe was put in after the wires had been inspected and passed.

The number of buildings wired this year is seventeen more than last year. Two school buildings and the new hospital are included, and as they have quite a number of lights, it therefore increases the number more than if they were all single dwellings.

Inspection of Gas Fittings.

Much time has been devoted to this department, many calls having been made while the work is in progress, which is a great help. Oftentimes pipe has to be changed, and if a question arises it can be decided before the work has been completed.

This year shows quite an increase in the number of applications, and with the number of tests, repairs and changes, has been a busy one. I would recommend that changes be made in the rules and regulations, and presented to the Board of Health for approval at some early date.

Respectfully submitted,

EUGENE N. DAVIS,

Superintendent of Lights and Wires.

[CONTRACT WITH BROOKLINE GAS LIGHT COMPANY FOR ARC-LIGHTS.]

AGREEMENT made this twenty-seventh day of May, 1901, between the inhabitants of Brookline, a municipal corporation in the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, and the Brookline Gas Light Company, a corporation established under the laws of said Commonwealth.

Article 1. The Company shall maintain the existing arc lamps in the town of Brookline as and where now located, and may, until January 1st, 1902, continue to use the present style of open arc lamps, but on or before that date shall substitute new alternating inclosed electric arc lamps for said existing lamps: and the Company shall from and after the date hereof furnish and set up new inclosed electric arc lamps in such places in the highways, squares, parks, public grounds, public buildings and other places in said town as may from time to time be ordered by the board or officer having authority to place lamps in such places.

Article 2. The Company shall furnish and set up all new electric arc lamps to be furnished as aforesaid, of the inclosed pattern, proper and suitable for street lighting, with clear glass globes free from lettering unless otherwise ordered by such board or officer, of a quality and shape to avoid casting rings and streaks of light and shade, and of a style approved by the Selectmen of said town.

Article 3. The Company shall furnish for all such inclosed arc lamps, wooden posts belonging to the Company, substantially of the same size, style, and kind as those now being erected on Beacon street, except when the Selectmen order any lamp placed on a mast arm, in which case the Company shall furnish and set such mast arm. The Company shall inform the Superintendent of Lights and Wires when about to erect any post and shall place the post in the same location as the lamp for which the wooden post is erected, unless the Superintendent shall vary the location to secure a better and more uniform light.

Article 4. The Company shall keep all electric arc lamps now or hereafter set up in the town, and the posts, carbons, hoods, and globes therefor, clean and in good condition, satisfactory to the said Superintendent; and shall keep said lamps properly lighted so as to give a clear and steady light during such hours between dusk and dawn, not exceeding thirty-eight hundred and fifty (3,850) hours in any one year, as the board or officer ordering them shall require; each old lamp to be lighted by a current of electricity, furnishing usually in the lamp an electrical energy of not less than four hundred and sixty-one (461) watts, and each new electric arc lamp furnished as aforesaid to be lighted by a current of electricity furnishing usually in the lamp an electrical energy of not less than five hundred (500) watts, and never less than four hundred and eighty (480) watts; said Company shall employ a sufficient number of capable inspectors to inspect the lamps during the hours of burning, and promptly report at the office of said Company every lamp not so kept, and said Company shall immediately, to the satisfaction of the said Superintendent cause every such lamp so reported and every such lamp found to be defective to be put in good condition or replaced by a new electric arc lamp.

Article 5. The Company further agrees to indemnify and save the town harmless from and against any and all claims and demands for damages, costs, and expenses for or on account of injuries to persons or property arising from imperfect construction and maintenance, or from any use of its wires and apparatus, and also to assume the defense of and to hold the town, its agents, and employees, harmless from any and all claims for damage by reason of any infringement of patent rights in the use of lamps, lights, wires, poles, machinery, and appliances connected therewith.

Article 6. The town, by such persons as said Superintendent may authorize, shall have access to said lamps, posts, and reflectors, and the machines, wires, and other apparatus and appliances used in making or distributing electricity to said lamps; may at any time attach and maintain at any point or points in the circuits of such electricity one or more ammeters; and may at any time remove any lamp and test the same.

Article 7. The town, in full payment for everything furnished or done by or resulting to the Company in carrying out this contract, shall, after the first day of each and every month during the continuance thereof, pay, on bills presented prior to the fifteenth day of the preceding month, approved by the board or officer ordering same, the sum hereinafter stated for each electric arc lamp kept in good condition and well lighted as aforesaid prior to the said day, and not paid for, viz. :—

For each lamp of a no. not less than 239	35c.
For each lamp of a no. not less than 250	nor more than 299	34½c.
“ “ “ “ 300	“ “	349	34c.
“ “ “ “ 350	“ “	399	33½c.
“ “ “ “ 400	“ “	449	33c.
“ “ “ “ 450	“ “	499	32½c.
“ “ “ “ 500	“ “	599	32c.
“ “ “ “ 600	“ “	699	31½c.

“ “ “ “ 900	“ “	999	30c.

Provided, however, that if any such lamp shall be furnished with electricity by an underground wire belonging to the town, the price of each lamp per night shall be one cent less than the above prices, and if any lamp shall fail to be kept as aforesaid during any part of the hours required therefor, the town may deduct for that night from the price therefor otherwise due a proportional part thereof as determined by said Superintendent, and if during any night the deficiency of the electrical energy in any lamp shall be twenty (20) per cent or more of the required energy, as so determined, the town shall make no payment for that night for the lamp; and if such deficiency occurs more than five (5) nights in succession, on the same light, said Superintendent, with the approval of the chairman of the Board of Selectmen, may make such reduction in the sum to be paid per lamp or lamps for each night as he shall determine.

Article 8. This contract shall commence with the date hereof, and continue in force, subject to an appropriation therefor for each year, until September 30th, 1907, and thereafter until six (6) months after either party shall in writing notify the other party that the contract is to be terminated, but the said town shall have the right to cancel this contract on the thirtieth day of September, 1904, by giving written notice of its intention so to do six months prior to the date of such cancellation.

BROOKLINE GAS LIGHT COMPANY,

by H. M. WHITNEY, President.

[CONTRACT WITH WELSBACH STREET LIGHTING COMPANY OF AMERICA.]

THIS AGREEMENT made this fifth day of August, 1901, between the town of Brookline, in the County of Norfolk and Commonwealth of Massachusetts, hereinafter called "the town" and the Welsbach Street Lighting Company of America, a corporation duly organized under the laws of the State of Illinois, hereinafter called "the Company," WITNESSETH:

That the said Company, in consideration of the covenants and agreements hereinafter mentioned on the part of the town and its successors to be kept and performed, hereby agrees with the town to furnish lights as hereinafter set forth. The Company for the purpose of lighting the streets, public places, or private ways of the town of Brookline, agrees at its own expense to furnish, and renew as often as may be necessary, its most improved fixtures and street lanterns, all material and mantles used in connection with said lanterns, and all the gas and self-generating burners required for lighting said lanterns, and also to furnish and pay competent men to light and extinguish said lanterns and kept the same clean; also, at the expense of the Company, to light all such lamps and keep the same burning such number of nights and for such number of hours per night as are hereinafter mentioned, during the continuance of this agreement, in accordance with the following specifications, for a term of six years from September 15th, 1901, it being, however, mutually agreed that this contract may be terminated at the expiration of three years from September 15th, 1901, upon written notice given by the town, or by the Selectmen thereof, to the Company sixty days before the expiration of said third year of said term, and in case this contract is so terminated, it is further agreed that the town shall pay to the Company the additional sum of fourteen hundred dollars ($1,400), which amount has been determined upon by the parties hereto as a fair and reasonable allowance to the party of the second part by reason of extra expense necessitated by such termination, and is understood as being liquidated damages and not as being a penalty.

Minimum Number.—The lights to be furnished by the Company are not to be less than five hundred and ninety-five (595) in number, but shall be as many more as may be required from time to time by the Selectmen of said town, to be located in such parts of the town as the Selectmen may deem desirable.

Service—The lamps are to be lighted by the Company every night in every month in every year during which this contract shall be in force, and the lights furnished shall be of sixty candle power each; gas lights to burn all and every night in the year from dusk to dawn, on a schedule furnished by the Superintendent of Street Lighting; naphtha lights to burn every night in the year, a total of thirty-two hundred (3,200) hours each per lamp in each year, and as many additional hours between dusk and dawn as may be ordered by the Superintendent of Street Lighting.

The Company further agrees that should any of the lamps fail to burn uniformly and to give a clear and steady light of the afore-said candle power, to the satisfaction of the Selectmen of the town, the Company will, at its own expense, replace them with others satisfactory to said Selectmen; and the Company agrees, at its own expense, to maintain an efficient system of patrol for inspecting the lamps during the hours in which they are in use, so that any lamp which fails to burn properly shall be promptly reported and put in order, or immediately replaced. For this inspection a sufficient number of men shall be so employed by the Company to enable each lamp to be examined as often as deemed necessary by the Selectmen of the town.

Lanterns.—The Company shall, at its expense, furnish its first-class keystone lanterns, and shall keep the same in good repair, and in said lanterns the Company shall place its improved attachments for lighting, and in case of further improvements in lanterns, fixtures, or mantles during the term of this contract, such improvements shall be furnished the town under this contract, if required by the Selectmen.

Posts and Connections.—The Company shall at its own expense furnish and erect its standard iron posts wherever its self-generating Welsbach gas lamps are used or required, except where posts are furnished by the town. The Company shall also furnish at its own expense, where posts are required beyond those which may be furnished by the town, the standard iron posts of the Company for all their Welsbach gas lamps used, and shall pay the cost of connecting all such posts with the gas mains. If the connections with gas mains are not made in such a way as to assure a free flow of gas to the burners at all times, the Company shall have the right to use their self-generating burners instead of gas, but gas shall be used where and when obtainable with a proper flow.

Cleaning.—The lanterns shall be cleaned by the Company at its expense during the period while this contract remains in force, to the acceptance of the town or of its Selectmen.

Indemnity.—The Company further agrees to indemnify and save the town harmless from and against any and all claims and demands for damages, costs, and expenses for or on account of injuries to persons or property arising from any act or default of the Company or its servants or agents in the performance of this contract, and from any and all claims for damage by reason of any infringement of patent rights in the use of lamps, machinery, and appliances furnished by the Company under this contract.

Compensation.—The town agrees that if the Company shall well and faithfully perform the promises and conditions of this contract in all its parts, first satisfying the said town that no proceedings either in law or equity have been begun against said town on account of any infringement of patent rights or the wrongful use of or injury by said lamps, posts, and appliances, or any of them, then the town will pay the Company as full compensation to the Company for furnishing light as aforesaid, and for furnishing and affixing its improved fixtures, and for furnishing its self-generating burners, and for the performance by the Company of all its other undertakings under this contract, thirty dollars ($30) per year for each and every gas light, and twenty-four dollars and forty cents ($24.40) per year for each and every self-generating naphtha light furnished by the Company, according to this contract, payable monthly during the term of this contract.

In case any such suit or suits against said town shall have been begun, or notice of a claim for damages shall have been given, the town shall pay any amount due under this contract, notwithstanding such suit or notice, provided the Company shall assume the defense of any such suit, and shall furnish the town with a bond of indemnity against the same, with satisfactory sureties. Such sum shall be in full payment and discharge for any and all expenses attending the care, maintenance, and use of such lights and apparatus, and it is hereby understood and agreed that if through accident or other cause the said lamps, or any of them, shall fail to be lighted and kept so lighted as stated above any night or nights during the period of this contract, then for each lamp that shall fail to be lighted or kept so lighted there shall be deducted from the sum to be paid by the said town an amount for each light not so lighted equal to the rate to be paid for lighting the same under this contract as provided, for the time that such light remains unlighted.

In case the candle power of the lamps shall be less than that called for herein, payment shall only be made for the actual candle power furnished, the amount to be paid to be based pro rata on the amount which would be paid were the candle power equal to that required hereby, unless said deficiencies should amount to over twenty per cent (20%) of the candle power called for, in which case no payment shall be made, the lights being considered useless, but this provision is not to be construed to imply the right to continue to furnish lights under this contract at any candle power less than sixty candle power each or in any way waive the right of the town to cancel this contract for breach thereof on account of a deficiency in candle power of the lights furnished.

For the purpose of making tests of candle power and of examining the lamps, posts, apparatus, and appliances, with the view of learning whether the Company is complying with the terms of this agreement, it is further agreed that at all proper times the town, by such person or persons as the Selectmen of the town may authorize, shall have access to all said lamps, posts, apparatus, and appliances in the town, and shall have the privilege of making all proper tests by standard apparatus and methods for determining the candle power of said lamps, and shall have the further right to remove at any time one or more lamps for the purpose of testing the candle power of said lamps.

It is further hereby agreed and understood that all lanterns, posts, and fixtures furnished by the Company shall be and remain its property.

Bond.—The Company agrees to furnish to the town a bond in the sum of twenty-five hundred dollars ($2,500) with a surety or sureties satisfactory to the Selectmen, for the faithful performance of this contract.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, the parties hereto have caused their respective corporate seals to be hereunto affixed, and these presents to be signed by their respective officers hereto duly authorized, the day and year first above written.

Miscellaneous Work.

The following table of miscellaneous work performed by the force during the year shows in some degree the multifarious duties of a police officer, all of which are of more or less importance. Take for example the item, obstructions, etc., reported. The prompt report and lighting up of dangerous defects and obstructions on the public streets undoubtedly prevents accidents that otherwise might occur, and possible suits for damages that would follow.

Accidents reported and assistance rendered	47
Ambulance calls	54
Complaints investigated	365
Dead animals (mostly dogs) reported to the Superintendent of Streets and buried	16
Defects in streets and sidewalks reported (slight defects mainly)	267
Disturbances quelled without arrest	51
Dogs killed	36
Fires extinguished without alarm	12
Gas leaks reported	13

Lost children found and cared for	20
Number of street excavations reported	575
Nuisances reported	17
Obstructions and dangerous places on streets and sidewalks reported and lanterns furnished at night	103

Value of lost property found and restored to owners	$1,852.00
Water running to waste and leaks reported	58
Wires burning trees reported	20
Wires reported broken	23

Stolen Property.

Amount reported stolen	$7,833 00
Amount recovered	5,364 00
Value of property stolen out of town and recovered in Brookline	2,575 00
Property stolen in Brookline in 1900 and recovered in 1901	600 00

Of the amount of property reported stolen in this town during the past year, about one-half was the result of inside work; that is to say, the work of persons connected with the premises robbed.

No-License Law.

A strict watch is kept on all places and persons suspected of violating the liquor laws. During the year seven prosecutions have been made. One person, who has been a persistent violator of the law in this respect for several years, has finally been convicted, and is serving a sentence at the House of Correction at Dedham.

Police Signal System.

Our electric (Gamewell) police signal system continues to give very satisfactory service. Every officer during his tour of duty is required to report through the signal boxes on his route as often as once an hour, and on some routes more frequently.

Number of duty and telephone calls recorded	193,859
Number of wagon calls for arrest	450
Number of miles run by patrol wagon	481
Number of miles run by ambulance	354

Detective Department.

The special or detective work of this department has, as for many years, been done under the direction of Inspector Albert S. Paige. He has been assisted by Patrolman George E. Stitt, who has been detailed for this service during the past year. Much good work has been performed. I might particularly mention the close pursuit and quick arrest by Inspector Paige of a servant who had robbed her employer of much valuable property and fled to New York, most of the property being recovered by the officer at the time of arrest.

Especial Mention.

The following-named members of the force are deserving of especial mention for meritorious service performed during the past year:—

Patrolman M. F. Manley, for the prompt assistance rendered a patrolman of the Boston police department in rescuing a woman from drowning in the Charles River on the morning of April 15th.

Patrolman John T. Connor, for arresting a burglar on the night of June 30th who had entered and robbed two houses in the Longwood district.

Sergeant Joseph J. O'Connell and Patrolmen George E. Stitt, William Dugan, and Robert J. Evans, for the arrest on July 4th of two notorious burglars.

Patrolman John Johnson, for a heroic attempt to rescue a man from drowning in Leverett Pond, August 3d.

Miscellaneous.

The work rendered by the mounted service has been valuable in many directions.

The discipline and conduct of the force has in the main been excellent, and all calls for extra service have been cheerfully complied with.

I beg to recommend for your consideration the establishment of a new night route in that portion of the town north of Beacon street and west of Powell street. This would require the addition of two patrolmen.

I would call the attention of citizens to the great importance of promptly reporting any violations of the laws coming under their observation, and particularly of the presence in the town of any persons whom they may suspect of any unlawful designs.

In conclusion I beg to tender my sincere thanks to the officers and members of this department for their hearty co-operation. My thanks are also due the Fire department for courtesies extended, to the justices, clerk, and probation officer of the Municipal Court for valuable advice and assistance rendered, and to your honorable board for strong support throughout the year.

Respectfully,

ALONZO W. COREY,

Chief of Police.

TOWN OF BROOKLINE.

REPORT
FIRE COMMISSIONER
OF
MASSACHUSETTS,

FOR THE YEAR ENDING JANUARY 31, 1902.

BROOKLINE :
THE RIVERDALE PRESS : C. A. W. SPENCER.
1902.

REPORT.

OFFICE OF THE FIRE COMMISSIONER,
342 WASHINGTON STREET, BROOKLINE, February 12, 1902.

To the Honorable Board of Selectmen:—

GENTLEMEN,—I herewith respectfully submit my third annual report of the services of this department for the year ending January 31st, 1902, and with it a few recommendations.

We have had a large number of alarms during the past year, but our loss, with one exception, has been small. I would also like to state here, that in case of a fire starting in any dwelling house, if the occupants will notify this department at once, either by telephone or by ringing in a box, much valuable time will be saved and our fire losses greatly decreased.

There have been three new permanent men appointed during the past year, and one has resigned.

M. F. Keegan has been promoted to the rank of lieutenant.

Our houses are in good repair, with the exception of Stations A and G.

Our horses are in good condition, with the exception of four that are about twenty years old, and will probably have to be replaced during the year.

Our apparatus is in good condition, and will need only the ordinary repairs.

Engine No. 1 has been remodeled and put in first-class condition.

We received our new spare hose-wagon August 2d, and it has done good service.

We have had one bad accident during the year. In responding to a false alarm from box 14, November 4th, Engine No. 1 collided with an iron post belonging to the Boston Elevated Railway Company on Boylston street, and Driver Thomas N. Honey was injured, having one leg fractured, and his right foot crushed so badly that it was necessary to have it amputated. He is at present at his home, and can get about with the aid of crutches. The engine was badly broken and was sent to Manchester for repairs, and was returned and put in commission November 28th.

Recommendations.

I would recommend that the sum of one thousand dollars be appropriated for the purchase of hose and hose-fittings.

I would recommend that the salary of the Chief Engineer be increased, and would ask that two hundred dollars be appropriated for that purpose.

I would recommend that the salary of two enginemen be increased, and would ask that the sum of one hundred and forty dollars be appropriated for that purpose, to take effect May 1st.

REPORT OF THE INSPECTOR OF BUILDINGS.

OFFICE OF THE INSPECTOR OF BUILDINGS,
TOWN HALL, BROOKLINE, January 31, 1902.

To the Board of Selectmen:—

GENTLEMEN,—I herewith submit the thirteenth annual report of the Building department.

New Buildings and Alterations.

As I predicted in my last report, the past year has been an exceedingly busy one, with a large increase of building operations, compared with the previous year. I must again call to the attention of the Board the necessity of having some one in this office throughout the day to do the clerical work and see the callers when the Inspectors are out. It is impossible with the amount of work, both outside and in, that there is now to do in this department, to do it as it should be done, especially nine months in the year, under the present arrangement. Architects, builders, plumbers, and gas-fitters cannot always find it possible to call or ring up this office during our office hours, and almost every day we are asked why we do not have some one in the office all day. It also would greatly facilitate our work if we had an additional horse; the Plumbing Inspector and myself have endeavored to do our work with one, but find it very unsatisfactory, as we have an immense amount of territory to cover and need to get around as rapidly as possible. In the other towns and cities, where the work is not nearly what it is here, the inspectors are both provided with horses.

The work of inspection has been carried on in the usual manner, most of the time being spent where there seemed to be the most chances of an attempt at an evasion of the law or of the work not being properly done, but it is impossible in some cases, if the contractor is unscrupulous, to spend time enough at a building to see that everything is done as it should be. This is especially true of buildings where piling or concrete footing is necessary, and these are both worse than useless if not done thoroughly. We have an example this last year of an otherwise nice and well-built house, where the piling was not done properly, with the result that one corner went down several inches, pulling the top of the front around very much out of perpendicular. The low part was raised and new piles driven, but the house was so far advanced that nothing could be done to remedy the front without practically tearing that part down, which was not done, and the building stands today safe and strong, but an eyesore to every one connected with it. To prevent things of this kind happening, it would be necessary for the Inspector to stay at the building all the working time for three or four days and see that every pile was driven home; this of course is impossible.

There has been no change in the building law the past year, although it is needed badly, the committee in charge having not yet reported.

The filing cabinet bought for this office has been a great help in keeping the applications in proper shape.

I intend this year to keep a closer watch on the renewal and repairs of heating apparatus in old buildings, and have sent a circular to the heating contractors reciting the law in regard to permits being necessary.

Following are the building statistics for the year ending January 31st, 1902.

Whole number of permits granted for new buildings and alterations, 262, the largest number issued since the department was created, an increase of 25 per cent over last year. Of these 118 were for wood, being an increase of 34 per cent, 50 for brick and stone, an increase of 138 per cent, and 94 for additions and alterations, a decrease of 6 per cent. Besides these there were 331 permits for plumbing, and 1,000 for gas-fitting.

The building permits were divided as follows:—

Wood.	Number.	No. of Fam.	Valuation.	Ave. Cost.
1 Family	52	52	$381,000 00	$7,326 92

Gas-Fitting.

There were granted during the past year 1,000 permits for gas-fitting, 146 more than the previous year, divided as follows:—

New buildings piped	107
Changes, extensions, etc.	430
Stoves and heaters connected	217
Meters connected	297
Fixtures hung in new buildings	184
Gas engines set up and connected	2
Monarch heaters set up and connected	3
National generator set up and connected	1
Acetylene “ “ “ “ (afterward taken out)	1

The work of this department is moving much more smoothly than formerly, the gas-fitters understanding better what is expected of them and showing a disposition to do as required, although of course there will always be some who will make as much trouble as possible.

As will be seen in the division of permits, a large percentage are for changes, extensions, etc., and no doubt there would be a large increase of these if the fitters applied for permits for all of their small jobs, which we feel very sure they do not, but find it difficult to prove.

It would seem as though most of the Boston licensed fitters had also registered at this office, as only 45 registered during the year, and two of these were examined here. Of this number 20 were masters and 15 journeymen, making a total of 114 masters and 149 journeymen registered to date. Of course all that have masters' licenses are not in business for themselves.

Most of these gas-fitters take the examination in Boston, as a license issued there enables them to work anywhere in the state, while one from Brookline is not good outside of this town.

The Examining Board of Gas-Fitters certified to me two persons for masters' licenses, to whom they were issued, and the fees ($4.00) paid over to the Town Treasurer.

Report of the Examiners of Gas-Fitters.

The Board organized with choice of Luther M. Merrill as chairman, and Alfred G. Sanborn as clerk, holding meetings for examination the second and fourth Mondays in each month when necessary. Only four such meetings were held, at which four applicants were examined, and the following certified to the Inspector of Buildings for masters' licenses: Richard E. Webb and George G. Morton.

Board of Examiners of Gas-Fitters.

Plumbing.

The report of the Plumbing Inspector is as follows : —

Mr. Ernest L. Lyon, Inspector of Buildings :—

DEAR SIR,—I herewith submit my ninth annual report for the year ending January 31st, 1902.

The whole number of applications received for permits to do plumbing was 331. Of this number, 30 were for brick and stone buildings, 88 were for wood and frame buildings, 154 were for additions and repairs, and 59 were for improving the drainage.

The aggregate cost of the above plumbing was $147,136, as compared with $107,851 in 1900, a gain of $39,285. This increase is attributed in part to the increase in the number of new buildings in which plumbing was installed (118 as compared with 101 in 1900), and in a less degree to the large number of additions and repairs to existing plumbing (154), an excess of 28 over any previous year of record.

During the year water fixtures have been installed in various buildings, as follows :—

Water closets	444
Baths	287
Bowls	348
Sinks	319
Trays	188
Other fixtures	48
Total	1,634

Tests and inspections have been made as follows :—

Water tests	226
Peppermint tests	41
Smoke tests	13
Total tests	280
Number of visits of inspection	1,158

As may be seen from the foregoing, the past year has been one of great activity in this department; the calls for inspections, information, and tests have been numerous, but as no complaints have been made it is believed they have all been satisfactorily met.

There have been no changes in the existing law, which appears to be working in a satisfactory manner. Much time and labor has been expended during the past few years in improving the plumbing ventilation. While the results obtained when taken as a whole have proved especially gratifying, there is still room for further improvement in this direction. Much opposition has been shown at times by house-owners and contractors when required to ventilate traps located beneath floors from the top instead of from the side of the trap; the objection to the latter method is, that the air or vent pipe when attached in this manner is likely to, and does become quickly choked; when taken from the crown it is more efficient and will remain free and clear much longer. It is to be regretted that people of good judgment and discrimination in other matters will allow their prejudice against having any piping in open view to violate the soundest principles of sanitary science, and yet this sometimes is the case.

I am pleased to report that progress and improvement is to be seen in all departments of the work, and it is to be hoped will continue until the highest standard is reached.

The opportunity of using (during the morning hours) the horse and buggy provided for the Building department, has proved of great value in despatching the public business, but I think the time has come when this branch of the Building department should be provided with a horse and buggy for its own special use. The need of this has been emphasized during the past year, when we were many times obliged to call upon the Inspector of Buildings for the use of the horse in the afternoon for making the necessary inspections and tests for those whose interests would suffer by delay. Judging from the number of building enterprises projected or already under way, the coming year will be a very busy one, and it is to be hoped this matter will receive prompt and favorable consideration.

My official relations with those having business with this office have been in general cordial and without friction. I have found most of those whose interests were chiefly affected by the enforcement of the laws quite ready to obey them as soon as their provisions were understood. Such violations as have occurred were promptly corrected upon notification and without resorting to legal measures.

Respectfully submitted,

MICHAEL DUFFLEY,

Inspector of Plumbing.

Report of the Examiners of Plumbers.

The Board of Examiners of Plumbers submit their report for the year 1901.

In March Mr. Horace James, who had been a member of the Board and acted as its chairman since its organization in 1893, and whose advice and counsel in many matters had been of great value to the Board, resigned, and was succeeded by Mr.

Nathaniel Conant, a member of the Board of Health. Mr. Michael Duffley, Inspector of Plumbing, was appointed by the Board of Health March 18th, a third member of the Board. The Board organized by the choice of Nathaniel Conant as chairman and Michael Duffley as secretary. The Board held one meeting for the examination of applicants for licenses on January 6th, 1902. Edward Ernest Thompson was certified to the Inspector of Buildings to be licensed as a journeyman plumber.

The licenses of six master plumbers and thirteen journeymen plumbers have been renewed, as required by statute.

The amount of fees collected for plumbers' licenses was $10.00, and said sum has been paid into the Town Treasury, as required by law.

NATHANIEL CONANT,
ERNEST L. LYON,
MICHAEL DUFFLEY,
Board of Examiners of Plumbers.

The Board of Examiners of Plumbers have certified to me Edward E. Thompson for a journeyman's license, which has been given him, and the fee, together with renewal fees collected, amounting altogether to $10.00, has been turned over to the Town Treasurer.

Respectfully submitted,

ERNEST L. LYON,
Inspector of Buildings.

REPORT OF THE SEALER OF WEIGHTS AND MEASURES.

BROOKLINE, MASS., February 1st, 1902.

To the Honorable Board of Selectmen:—

GENTLEMEN,— I have the honor of submitting the report of the Sealer of Weights and Measures for the year ending January 31st, 1902.

Scales condemned	5

-----------------	-------

Number of scales, weights and measures found under legal standard	643
Number found over legal standard	55
Number of visits made to stores and peddlers	133
“ “ “ “ “ “ on complaint	42
Number of weighed-out packages tested	240
“ “ “ “ found short	7

Eighty-three places of business were visited, and 736 scales, weights and measures were inspected and sealed, for which fees amounting to $50.74 were collected and remitted to the Town Treasurer. The number of scales, weights and measures inspected and sealed at the office was 10,755, for which no fees were charged, in accordance with Chapter 65, Section 23 of the Public Statutes.

Of the forty-two complained of twelve were found to be using illegal scales, weights, and measures, and in the cases where there seemed to be no intention to defraud, those that could not be made to conform to the legal standard were destroyed by the owner in the Sealer’s presence. From those who resented any interference by the Sealer, their illegal weights and measures were confiscated, and are held to be used as evidence should they again be found using scales, weights, or measures below legal standard. One Boston milk dealer who paid no attention to the notice sent by the Sealer concerning the inspection and sealing of milk jars, was prosecuted. As it was subsequently found that the man was ill at the time the notice was sent, and did not personally receive any business communications, no fine was imposed, although the man pleaded guilty, as the Sealer stated the case to the court and asked that it be placed on file.

The town scales were sealed during the year and inspected twice.

Several complaints on the measurement of wood were investigated, and although a shortage was found in each case, no action was taken for want of jurisdiction, as there is no official measurer of wood in the town. One of the cases referred to showed such a flagrant attempt to defraud, there being over one-third shortage, that the offender was notified to make restitution, and warned not to be caught again, or the matter would be turned over to the State Officer for prosecution.

I therefore recommend that the Sealer of Weights and Measures be legally appointed a Measurer of Wood and Bark, in accordance with Chapter 57, Section 75 of the Revised Laws, that the statutory law may be applied in any case of willful violation.

The present method of licensing peddlers is greatly appreciated by the citizens, especially those in the residential portions of the town, and is creditable to the Chief of Police, for it reduces the number and excludes undesirable persons from doing business on our streets, but I think in justice to our own merchants who have to compete with them, a substantial license fee should be charged for such privilege, as is the case in many towns and cities.

Concerning bread sold in the town, our dealers have shown a marked regard for the law, and have for the most part, had their loaves of proper weight; but several non-resident dealers, who sell from wagons, have been found delivering short-weight bread. In each case a notice was sent, to the effect that unless their bread was brought up to the legal weight prosecution would follow. Two of these dealers have been recently subjected to inspection, and the bread was found to be of satisfactory weight.

It is your Sealer's intention to prosecute promptly any party who does not comply with the statutory law after the receipt of one notice.

Two important bills were passed by the Legislature the past year. One reduces the number of milk jars condemned, but makes the work of testing more arduous and takes more of the Sealer's time, as the excesses and shortages have to be carefully measured with a graduate. It is as follows:—

[ACTS OF 1901, CHAPTER 360.]

AN ACT RELATIVE TO THE SEALING OF GLASS BOTTLES OR JARS USED BY MILKMEN.

Be it enacted, etc., as follows:

Section 1. Glass bottles or jars used for the distribution of milk or cream to consumers, that hold, when filled to a level with the bottom of the cap or stopple, not less than seven ounces and six drams and not over eight ounces and two drams; not less than fifteen ounces and five drams and not over sixteen ounces and four drams; not less than thirty-one ounces and four drams and not over thirty-two ounces and four drams; not less than forty-seven ounces and three drams and not over forty-eight ounces and five drams; not less than sixty-three ounces and two drams and not over sixty-four ounces and six drams, shall be sealed as measures under the provisions of chapter three hundred and sixty-nine of the acts of the year nineteen hundred, and of chapter sixty-five of the Public Statutes; and all dealers in milk or cream who use glass bottles or jars for the distribution of milk or cream to consumers shall bring in such bottles or jars to the office of the sealer of weights and measures in their respective cities and towns to be sealed as aforesaid, and no fee shall in any case be charged or received for sealing the same. When a bottle or jar has once been sealed by the sealer of weights and measures it shall not in any case be necessary to have it sealed again at any time while it is used for the distribution of milk or cream to consumers. Glass bottles or jars sealed under the provisions of this act shall not be legal measures except for the distribution of milk or cream to consumers.

Section 2. All acts and parts of acts inconsistent herewith are hereby repealed.

Section 3. This act shall take effect upon its passage.

—[Approved May 3, 1901.]

The other bill I think will be appreciated by the consumers of coal, as it gives Sealers local jurisdiction over all coal brought for delivery in their respective towns and cities. This seems to be a step in the right direction, as the shortages in coal which have come to the notice of the State department as well as the local sealers, have become appallingly apparent during the last few years. This is especially so in cases where coal is furnished to large institutions, public building, etc., by contract, and the invariable excuse is "allowance for screenage," which has been a loophole in many instances of illegal weight which the new law will not allow. Any citizen who has reason to believe he is not receiving proper weight may have his coal weighed before delivery, and pay only for such weight as the Sealer may declare.

The system now in vogue of having sworn weighers at the large coal wharves, protects only the consigners and receivers. For instance, a fifty-ton lot of coal may be properly weighed and recorded by the weigher, but he has no jurisdiction over the weight that may be entered on the dealer's books against the consumer.

I herewith append a copy of the law referred to:—

[ACTS OF 1901, CHAPTER 423.]

AN ACT RELATIVE TO THE SALE OF COKE, CHARCOAL, AND COAL.

Be it enacted, etc., as follows:

Section 1. Coke in quantities of less than one hundred pounds, and charcoal in any quantities, shall be sold only by baskets or in bags, and when sold by baskets shall be kept until delivered in the same baskets in which the goods are measured. Coke sold in quantities of one hundred pounds or more shall be sold only by baskets or by weight. Coal sold in quantities of one hundred pounds or more shall be sold only by weight.

Section 2. Every basket used in selling coke or charcoal shall be of the capacity of two bushels, of one bushel, or of one half bushel, Massachusetts standard dry measure; shall be sealed, and its capacity plainly marked thereon by a sealer of weights and measures of the city or town in which the person using the same resides or does business, and shall be filled level full. Every bag of coke or charcoal sold or offered for sale shall contain and shall be sold as containing one half bushel, dry measure, standard aforesaid, of said goods, and shall be plainly marked with the name of the person who puts up the same, and the words in capital letters, each at least one inch in height,—one half bushel.

Section 3. Every person selling coke or coal by weight shall without cost to the purchaser cause the goods to be weighed by a sworn weigher of the city or town in which they are sold, and shall cause a certificate stating the name and place of business of the seller, the name of the person taking charge of the goods after the weighing, as given to the weigher on his request, and the quantity of the goods, to be signed by the weigher; which certificate shall be given to the said person and shall by him be given only to the owner of the goods or his agent when he unloads the same; and every such person, owner or agent shall, on request and without charge therefor, permit any sealer of weights and measures of any city or town to examine the certificate and to make a copy thereof.

Section 4. Any sealer of weights and measures of any city or town in which any quantity of coke, charcoal, or coal for delivery is found may, in his discretion, direct the person in charge of the goods to convey the same without delay or charge to scales designated by such sealer, who shall there determine the quantity of the goods, and, if they are not in baskets or bags, shall determine their weight with the weight of the vehicle in which they are carried, and shall direct said person to return to such scales forthwith after unloading the goods; and upon such return the sealer shall weigh the vehicle.

Section 5. Every sealer of weights and measures of a city or town and every sworn weigher shall keep in a book used by him solely for that purpose a record of all baskets sealed by him as aforesaid, and of all weighings and determinations of quantities of coke, charcoal, or coal made by him as aforesaid, which records shall be made at the time of measuring or weighing, and shall state the day and hour of the measuring or weighing, the name and place of business of the seller of the goods, the name of the owner of the baskets or of the purchaser of the goods, as given to him on his request by the person taking charge of the baskets or goods after weighing or measuring, the capacity of the baskets measured or quantity of goods determined, and the name of said person, and, in the case of a re-weighing as aforesaid, shall state the weight as given in the certificate and as determined by him. No charge shall be made by any such sealer for anything done under authority of this act.

Section 6. Whoever violates any provision of this act or fails to comply with any request for information or direction made under authority of this act, or gives a false answer to any such request, shall for each offense be punished by a fine not exceeding fifty dollars; and whoever shall be guilty of any fraud or deceit in relation to the weighing, selling or delivering of coke, charcoal, or coal, shall for each offense be punished by a fine not exceeding one hundred dollars.

Section 7. All acts and parts of acts inconsistent herewith are hereby repealed. [Approved May 23, 1901.]

The above law will greatly increase the Sealer's duties, as it will be necessary for either him or a deputy to be accessible during the business hours of the day. The establishing of the Sealer's office and work room at the Town Hall has been greatly appreciated, as a larger number of dealers have brought their scales, weights, and measures there. Although this is done, thereby saving the expense of a fee, it is the Sealer's duty to make a personal inspection of the premises whenever he has reason to suspect that the law is not being complied with. Of course no fees can be charged for this unless something is found that had not been sealed.

A number of towns and cities in Massachusetts have recently done away with the charging of fees, and there seems to be a growing feeling that more effective work could be done if fees were entirely dispensed with. I will make no recommendation, however, believing that if it is of sufficient importance to Sealers, the State department will take proper action in the matter.

In view of the recent demands of the State department for more constant inspection, the time consumed in marking milk jars, the advent of the new law relating to the sale of coal, the recommendation of the State department that your Sealer be furnished with a deputy, together with the fact that he has to provide his own team, it is very apparent that the amount of $250 per annum allowed your Sealer for the work is entirely inadequate. In order that the work might be satisfactorily done, I have been obliged to employ assistance which was paid for from this appropriation.

I respectfully recommend that a sufficiently large amount be appropriated for a Department of Weights and Measures that your Sealer may provide himself with a deputy, and such appliances as he may need from time to time; and that the office may be conducted more fully in accordance with statutory law, thus making a favorable comparison with other towns and cities.

The State Deputy, Mr. S. V. Palmer, made two official visits during the year, and although he made several suggestions which have already been brought to your notice, he expressed his approval of the manner in which the work was being performed in Brookline, strongly advocating, however, the services of a deputy.

The Sealer wishes to acknowledge his indebtedness to members of the Police department, the Inspector of Milk, and other citizens who have kindly assisted him.

Respectfully submitted,

WILLARD E. WARD,

Sealer of Weights and Measures.

THE PUBLIC BATHS

FOR THE YEAR ENDING JANUARY 31, 1902.

BROOKLINE :

REPORT.

BROOKLINE, MASS., Jan. 31, 1902.

To the Honorable Board of Selectmen:—

GENTLEMEN,— The Committee on the Care and Management of the Public Baths respectfully submits its fifth annual report.

The total number of baths taken during the fiscal year, February 1st, 1901, to January 31st, 1902, inclusive, was 48,081, as against 51,453 during the corresponding period of the previous year,—a loss of 3,372.

It will be observed that there has been a falling off in the amount of business as compared with that of the year before. This is explained in several ways, depending partly on the season of the year. In the spring months of April and May, when the business should be at its best, the weather was unusually rainy and cold, and had the effect of keeping many persons away, especially those who came for swimming lessons. During the summer months many bathers who formerly patronized the Baths now resort to some of the new open-air ones, of which the number is constantly increasing.

As a result of the prevalence of smallpox, a large portion of the community was vaccinated early in the winter, and this cause also had the effect of materially reducing the number of baths taken.

All these reasons must be taken into account in considering the history of the past year. It must be remembered also that the general interest in bathing has grown wonderfully since the Bath House was opened.

The following tables explain themselves.

Total receipts	$5,845 25

The total appropriation for the fiscal year beginning February 1st, 1901, and ending January 31st, 1902, was $9,000, $8,000 being for maintenance and $1,000 for special repairs and improvements. The total expenditure for maintenance was $7,996.35. Deducting from the latter sum $5,845.25, which represents the receipts of the Bath House for the fiscal year, we find that the actual cost to the town for maintenance for twelve months was $2,151.10, as against $1,842.60 for the previous year. It will be seen by these figures that the cost was more for the last year than the year before.

Heating and Lighting.

391½ tons of coal were used during the year at a cost of $1,452.71. The heating apparatus has, as before, worked well even in the coldest weather. One of the two boilers is amply sufficient to do all the required work; therefore, they are used in alternation. There is in this way a saving in wear and tear in the plant.

The lighting was mainly by gas, costing altogether $414.75, the electricity costing, of this sum, $61.50.

Water.

The large tank in the Natatorium holds a little over 70,000 gallons of water. While the exact amount used to keep it filled cannot be given, it is interesting to know how much town water has been consumed for every purpose in the Bath House. For the twelve months this was found to be about 17,000,000, gallons.

Non-Residents.

6,119 non-residents have availed themselves of the privileges of the Public Baths during the year. They have not in any way interfered with resident bathers, and have materially contributed to the receipts. Since January 1st, 1899, non-residents have had the privilege of buying commutation tickets. During the last year $880 was received from the selling of these tickets, which came largely from non-residents. It is undoubted that this way of paying for baths has materially added to this class of attendance.

As in previous years a considerable number of students from Wellesley College and from the Boston Normal School of Gymnastics received swimming instruction in small classes.

Fee System.

During the fiscal year, as already stated in Table I., 6,089 rain and tub baths were taken, only 457 of these being paid for. If we add the 2,447 free baths taken in the Natatorium by public school pupils, 177 by the police, 895 by the vacation school children, and 88 by all others, we get a total of 9,696, which is more than one-fifth of the whole number of baths taken during the year.

The Committee would reiterate the opinion founded on the experience of former years, that they feel they were justified in adopting the fee system, not only because it has made the Bath House far less a burden to the tax-payers of the town, but because it has enabled them to exercise proper control over those who have taken baths. It is a question whether during the past year many persons have not availed themselves of the free days who were able to pay. Often they come on free days, not because they are unwilling to pay, but because it is a convenient day for them.

Swimming Club.

The club has continued its admirable work in the quiet and unostentatious manner which has always characterized it. It now stands second to no club in the country, and is a credit not only to the town, but to the state as well. Last winter at Chicago it won four water polo games out of five, the championship in a relay race, and was first in two other races. In the summer it won the Riverside Recreation Grounds trophy by winning the relay race for the third consecutive time. At the meet of the New York Athletic Club in January, 1902, Mr. H. LeMoynes of Brookline won the 100-yard open handicap race. Mr. G. P. Moore of Brookline won the plunge for distance, breaking the American record.

Employees.

The only change in the staff has been the appointment of Mrs. Elizabeth A. Gifford to take the place of Miss Street, who resigned.

The Committee for the fifth time testify to the good work done by the employees. It is largely owing to their intelligent and faithful attention to their duties that the Bath House has attained its present high reputation.

School Instruction.

During the fiscal year 2,447 swimming lessons were taken as part of the regular school instruction, and adding the 895 given to the vacation school children, there were 3,342 taken by the pupils of the public schools altogether. It will be seen that the number taking lessons in the course of the regular school instruction was 851 less than the previous year. This may be partly accounted for by the fact that a large number of children attending the schools make use of the Bath House at all seasons of the year, learning in that way to swim without special instruction, and also by the fact that high school pupils have their time during school hours so filled with work that it is not considered expedient to give any of it to swimming instruction, and it is also the case that many of them have already learned to swim before reaching the high school, and hence it is unnecessary for them to take lessons. Instruction, therefore, is confined to the upper grades of the grammar school.

As already stated in Table III. the total number of private lessons given was 4,914, as against 5,717 the previous year. Mr. Holm, with Mr. Fletcher and Miss Street, continue to give lessons as before, paying over to the town 40 per cent of the total receipts.

Repairs and Improvements.

The special appropriation made last year amounted to $1,000, and was expended in the ways specified. The paint in the Natatorium was put in excellent order. All of the building inside is now for the first time well covered with paint. In order to keep the plant in good condition frequent repairing is necessary, owing to the unusual amount of moisture and hard usage to which it is put.

The gallery has been much improved for the use of spectators by the erection of the platform and new seats provided for by the special appropriation.

Death of a Member of the Committee.

Since our last report, our Committee on December 12th, 1901, suffered for the second time a severe loss in the death of Mrs. J. Elliot Cabot. Mrs. Cabot took great interest in the work, was faithful in attendance at the meetings, and from time to time made valuable suggestions in regard to the management of the Bath House. The following resolutions have been entered in the records:—

“Resolved, That in the death of Mrs. J. Elliot Cabot the Committee of Management of the Brookline Public Baths has sustained a severe loss.

“When the committee was organized at the opening of the Bath House, Mrs. Cabot was at once thought of as a desirable member. Her extremely valuable services on the School Committee and in other public positions had proved that she possessed executive capacity of the highest order. With the strong sense of duty which was one of her marked characteristics, she accepted a place on the Committee, and always co-operated heartily with the other members. Her cheerful and helpful presence will be sadly missed.

“Resolved, That copies of these resolutions be published in The Chronicle, and sent to the family.”

General Remarks.

We have regarded it as an important part of our work not only to carry on the regular work of the Bath House, but also to encourage and develop a better knowledge of both bathing and swimming by furnishing frequent object lessons. One of these lessons which interests a large number of persons is the exhibitions given annually on January 1st, by the Committee on Management, and those by the public school children, and the Swimming Club. The annual exhibition this year was the most largely attended and successful of any so far held, and demonstrated what a hold on the public water sports have come to have, and indicated also incidentally how much more intelligently the uses of water for exercise, pleasure, and hygienic purposes are understood and utilized.

As this is the first report prepared by the Board itself for many years, it seems fitting that a general statement should be made of the various subjects with which the Board is called upon to deal and of the organization and methods by which the work, much of which is of a technical medical character, is carried on by a Board which includes no physician in its membership.

Agent of the Board.

In addition to a general authority to employ necessary officers, agents, and assistants to execute the health laws, the Board of Health appoints an Agent to act for it in cases of emergency, or if it cannot be conveniently assembled. This Agent possesses by statute all the authority of the Board itself, but is directly responsible to it and under its supervision and control. With the growth of population and the increased importance of matters pertaining to the public health the Agent, once the occasional adviser of the Board, is developing into its executive officer, and ought soon to become the head of a department, charged with financial as well as professional responsibility, just as the Superintendent of Streets or Schools is. His present duties are to exercise a general oversight over all the other employees of the Board, to see that the Board of Health Hospitals are properly conducted when open, and when they are closed to have everything in readiness for opening them at short notice, to find out what patients ought to be sent to the hospitals, and to see that they are sent, to organize the corps of doctors for inspection of schools when contagious diseases are sufficiently prevalent to make school inspection desirable, to inform, advise, and assist the Board in every way in performing its statutory duty of using all possible care to prevent the spread of infection when a disease dangerous to the public health exists in the town, and in general to bring to the attention of the Board all matters requiring its action and to be prepared to furnish it with such medical advice as it needs. For a number of years the salary of the Agent has been $1,000 per year, and he has been paid in addition for all medical visits, whether at the hospitals or elsewhere, and for vaccinations provided by the town. The whole amount paid him from the Health appropriation during the fiscal year has been $1,924.80, and from all appropriations $2,121.80.

The Board of Health Laboratory.

The laboratory, conveniently situated in the Police Station building, is in charge of the Bacteriologist and Director of the Laboratory. Here free daily examinations and tests are made to assist the physicians practicing in the town in determining the presence of diphtheria, consumption, and typhoid fever.

Outfits for taking cultures are provided by the town and kept at centrally located drug-stores where physicians can readily obtain them. Numerous cultures taken by direction of the Board in the course of a search for the cause of cases of diphtheria, and those taken in the public schools, are also examined. Other more elaborate microscopical and chemical examinations described in a circular issued to physicians are made for a small fee, of which the town receives one-fifth and the Bacteriologist four-fifths. In addition to the Bacteriologist, who receives a salary of $700, the laboratory requires the services of an assistant to prepare the materials and utensils and to keep them clean and in order. The laboratory assistant is now paid at the rate of $500 a year for his whole time, and when not needed in the laboratory is employed in various kinds of sanitary work throughout the town. It is proposed to increase the rate at which he is paid to $800 a year. Provision is also made for calling in an additional physician to examine some of the cultures when their number is so great that they cannot be handled by one man with the promptness which is essential to their usefulness, or when the Bacteriologist is ill or absent from town, as the work cannot wait. A detailed account of the past year's work will be found in the interesting report of the Bacteriologist.

Smallpox.

Prior to 1901 there had not been any great number of cases of smallpox for a long time, either in Brookline or in neighboring municipalities. As a result of this long immunity, the character and danger of the disease has been lost sight of by the public generally, and the ordinary precautions of vaccination, and more especially of revaccination, have been much neglected. As soon as the number of cases in Boston and elsewhere became serious last autumn, the town smallpox hospital was put in order, circulars were issued by the Board of Health and distributed throughout the town calling attention to the importance of vaccination, and a number of physicians were appointed to vaccinate, free of charge, all who felt unable to pay. During the last four months more than half the population of Brookline has been vaccinated or revaccinated, but there are still several thousand not recently vaccinated and some, chiefly domestic servants from the provinces, who have never been vaccinated at all. Many of those who neglect to take this simple precaution against a loathsome and dangerous disease do so on the ground that they are too old or too busy, or give other trivial reasons for thinking themselves unlikely to take the disease or for delay. During the period covered by this report there have been eight cases of smallpox in Brookline, distributed among old and young, rich and poor, idle and busy, male and female, without the least discrimination. There have been no deaths up to February 1st. One case was isolated at home, and seven were removed to the town hospitals. Five cases, all of which occurred in January, are now at the smallpox hospital. Great care has been taken to vaccinate all persons who have been exposed to any of these cases, and also to quarantine or place under observation such persons as seemed likely to spread the disease. None of the eight cases seems to be in any way attributable to any of the other seven.

The expense of smallpox cases is large, first in examining suspected cases and in taking necessary precautions, and secondly in the cost of nurses and doctors, who very properly receive higher pay for smallpox than for ordinary cases. This expense falls upon the patient when able to pay, otherwise on the state or the municipality where the patient has a settlement, and it is expected that a part of the town's outlay will be reimbursed to it.

Diphtheria and Scarlet Fever Hospitals.

At the last annual meeting the town authorized the construction of new contagious disease hospital buildings at an estimated cost of $86,500, on the site of the old Board of Health Hospitals erected in 1894. The work on the new buildings is well advanced, and will be finished in the course of the spring. The amount of the contracts to date including architect's commission is about $77,000. An appropriation for furnishing will soon be asked for. The old buildings have been moved back and are now ready for occupancy, although but little use of them has been practicable since the work on the new ones began. Arrangements were made with the Newton hospital and later with the Boston City Hospital for the care of both diphtheria and scarlet fever patients while our own hospitals have been out of commission, the charge at the former being $13.75 per week and at the latter $14.00. When patients having no settlement in Brookline are sent to these hospitals, an effort is made to secure reimbursement for the outlay from the commonwealth or the municipality where the settlement is. At our own hospitals the charge is $15.00 a week, which has been roughly estimated to be about the average cost, and a charge at this rate is made according to law except in cases where the Board deems a less charge or no charge at all, reasonable.

Medical Services.

In addition to the regular work of the Agent and the Bacteriologist already described, the services of those doctors, and sometimes of others as well, are obtained for visiting patients at the town hospitals and patients whose removal to hospitals is under consideration. Besides this a number of doctors have been appointed to act as free vaccinators, and they have been paid at the rate of seventy cents for each person so vaccinated, the doctors supplying the materials. A corps of doctors has also been formed and maintained for a number of years to act as school inspectors. These inspectors, under the general direction of the Agent of the Board, make frequent and regular inspections of all the public schools and of the parochial school, and their work performed in co-operation with the school authorities has been of great value in preventing the spread of contagious diseases throughout the schools. A circular has been prepared by the Agent of the Board describing very fully the work of school inspection.

Inspectors are occasionally authorized to make cultures at the homes of poor pupils, and of others who cannot well afford a physician; also, when so directed by the Agent of the Board, to make free cultures for release after diphtheria, and in certain cases to give protective anti-toxine, when desired, to persons exposed to that disease. Experience has shown the practical value of these measures.

Disinfection.

By Revised Laws, ch. 75, § 49, it is made the duty of every householder, upon the death, recovery, or removal of any person in his family or house who has been sick of smallpox, diphtheria, scarlet fever, or any other infectious or contagious disease dangerous to the public health, to disinfect, to the satisfaction of the Board of Health of the town, such rooms of his house and articles therein as, in the opinion of the Board, have been exposed to infection or contagion. A penalty of not more than one hundred dollars may be imposed for violation of this provision.

For the convenience of householders and in order that the Board of Health may be satisfied that disinfection is properly done, Mr. Willard E. Ward has been employed to disinfect such rooms as the attending physician may deem necessary, at a rate not exceeding three dollars for each room, to be paid by the householder except in cases where the householder by reason of poverty is unable to pay the bill, in which case the expense is borne by the town. The three-dollar rate is intended to be for the room occupied by the sick person, and also the adjoining room when there is bedding or other material in considerable quantity to be disinfected. For other rooms involving less labor the price is correspondingly less. Disinfection in addition to that deemed necessary by the attending physician is a matter of arrangement between the householder and Mr. Ward, who is instructed not to do such additional disinfection unless the householder agrees to pay for it.

The town furnishes the apparatus and material for disinfection, the estimated value of which for an ordinary room is one dollar. Mr. Ward sends his bill directly to the householder and pays over to the town all the money he receives. The town pays Mr. Ward for his labor and five per cent of the amount collected by him from householders and paid over to the town.

Mr. Ward has the use of the apparatus free, for any out-of-town disinfection which he may do, when it is not needed in town.

Inspection of Milk and Provisions.

Selectmen are authorized to appoint inspectors of milk with authority to take samples and make analyses of all milk sold or kept in the town, and the law is strict in giving milk inspectors sufficient control over all milk dealers to prevent the sale of adulterated or watered milk or milk from diseased cows. The Inspector of Milk now has an office in the Town Hall, and employs a chemist who makes chemical tests of samples of milk, and a collector who takes samples of milk from dealers at all sorts of unexpected hours. When typhoid fever or scarlet fever occurs, the source of milk supply is examined to see if persons having the disease are connected with the production or distribution of the milk. During the past year great efforts have been made to prevent persons having diphtheria from milking cows or in any way handling milk. Whenever a considerable number of cases of diphtheria are reported on any one milk route, an investigation is made and cultures taken from the throats and noses of all concerned, and all employees found to have diphtheria bacilli are excluded from barns and dairies. The Board has also adopted an order forbidding milkmen from leaving cans at houses where there are cases of diphtheria or other infectious diseases. The householder is required to furnish his own receptacle in such cases, and the milkman simply pours the milk into it, removing his own can.

The Selectmen, as provided in Chapter 90 of the Revised Laws, appoint annually in March an Inspector of Animals, whose appointment is subject to the approval of the Cattle Commissioners. As the laws now stand, an Inspector of Animals is to a large extent controlled by the Cattle Commissioners, and reports directly to them. He is required by statute to make thorough inspections of cattle, sheep, and swine, and to give special attention to all suspected cases of contagious diseases, and also to examine barns in which cattle are kept, with reference to their situation, cleanliness, light, ventilation, and water supply, and the general condition and cleanliness of the cattle. The regulations of the Brookline Board of Health require that buildings where cows are kept shall have sufficient air-space for the health of the cows, and that the premises shall be clean and otherwise sanitary. Permits are granted by the Board on the recommendation of the Inspector of Animals, who is also Inspector of Milk, for keeping two or more cows, and nobody is allowed to keep cows without such license.

The Inspector of Animals is also appointed Inspector of Provisions, and in that capacity has charge of the inspection of meat and provisions required of the Board by statute. (Revised Laws, ch. 56, §§ 70-76.)

Collection of Ashes and Rubbish.

The collection of ashes and rubbish is the most expensive work paid for from the Health appropriation, because it is both universal and continuous. The number of loads increases every year, and the average length of haul also constantly increases, as available dumps become scarcer.

Combustible rubbish is separately collected and much of it is burned. The work is done by the Street department.

Removal of Garbage.

This work is done by contract, as it has been for a long time. On the whole, it is done in as satisfactory a manner as can reasonably be expected for work of this character.

Sanitary Inspection.

The positions of Inspector of Plumbing and Sanitary Inspector of the Board of Health are at present filled by the same incumbent.

The Inspector of Plumbing is an assistant Inspector of Buildings, and as such it is his duty to inspect all plumbing work, for which permits are granted, while it is in process of construction, alteration, or repair, and to report to the Board of Health all violations of any law, order, by-law, or regulation relating to such plumbing work.

It is the duty of the Sanitary Inspector of the Board of Health, under the direction of the Board, to make such sanitary inspection and examinations into nuisances, sources of filth, and causes of sickness as will enable the Board to take appropriate action for the preservation of the public health.

The services of this officer are not available for private individuals desiring to have existing plumbing investigated or tested. In all such cases a plumber should be employed. Old plumbing will, however, be tested by the Inspector in connection with the inspection of new work.

In addition to the work of the Inspector, some inspection has been done by the laboratory assistant when not busy in the laboratory, and a good many yards have been cleaned up, interior sanitary arrangements improved, and in some cases houses ordered vacated as unfit for human habitation, as a result of his work, which is more fully described in the report of the Agent of the Board.

Stables.

Licenses to keep stables for more than four horses may be granted to suitable persons by the Board of Health in specified places, and no such stables can be maintained without licenses. Applications for such licenses are usually opposed by neighbors with much warmth, and hearings on these questions occupy much of the time and attention of the Board. During the past year one such application has been granted, one denied, and one laid over to await changes in the petitioner's stable.

Improvements in the sanitary condition of established stables are constantly being required by the Board.

Bakeries.

Bakeries are inspected by the Sanitary Inspector of the Board to see that they comply with the laws as to drainage, ventilation, and separation of sleeping rooms from rooms used for manufacturing and storage.

Mosquitos.

The growing opinion among physicians that malaria is transmitted by mosquitos, has led the Board to spend a small sum in putting oil or lime into catch-basins, filling up unnecessary pools, and spreading oil over others to prevent the breeding of mosquitos. Circulars have also been issued containing information upon the subject. More work on these lines will be undertaken in the coming season.

Undertakers.

Undertaker's licenses were issued to the following named:—John C. Barthelmes, Eneas Smyth, William H. McManus, Parker Bryant, James J. O'Day, and Mrs. Thomas F. O'Day.

Attention is called to the following extracts from the Revised Laws and to the Orders of the Board of Health, also to the appended reports.

EXTRACTS FROM THE REVISED LAWS CONCERNING VACCINATION.

CHAP. 75, SECT. 136. A parent or guardian who neglects to cause his child or ward to be vaccinated before the child or ward attains the age of two years, except as provided in section one hundred and thirty-nine,* shall forfeit five dollars for every year during which such neglect continues.

CHAP. 75, SECT. 137. The Board of Health of a city or town if, in its opinion, it is necessary for the public health or safety shall require and enforce the vaccination and re-vaccination of all the inhabitants thereof and shall provide them with the means of free vaccination. Whoever, being over twenty-one years of age and not under guardianship, refuses or neglects to comply with such requirement shall forfeit five dollars.

[Application for free vaccination, by persons who are unable to pay for it, may be made to the Clerk or Agent of the Board.]

CHAP. 44, SECT. 6. A child who has not been vaccinated shall not be admitted to a public school except upon presentation of a certificate signed by a regular practising physician that he is not a fit subject for vaccination. A child who is a member of a household in which a person is ill with smallpox, diphtheria, scarlet fever or measles, or of a household exposed to such contagion from another household as aforesaid, shall not attend any public school during such illness or until the teacher of the school has been furnished with a certificate from the Board of Health of the city or town, or from the attending physician of such person, stating that, in a case of smallpox, diphtheria or scarlet fever at least two weeks, and in a case of measles, at least three days, have elapsed since the recovery, removal or death of such person, and that danger of conveying such disease by such child has passed.

PRESERVATION OF THE PUBLIC HEALTH.

[Revised Laws, Chapter 75.]

SECT. 49. A householder who knows that a person in his family or house is sick of smallpox, diphtheria, scarlet fever or any other infectious or contagious disease dangerous to the public health shall forthwith give notice thereof to the Board of Health of the city or town in which he dwells. Upon the death, recovery or removal of such person, the householder shall disinfect to the satisfaction of the Board such rooms of his house and articles therein as, in the opinion of the Board, have been exposed to infection or contagion.† Whoever violates the provisions of this section shall be punished by a fine of not more than one hundred dollars.

SECT. 50. If a physician knows that a person whom he is called to visit is infected with smallpox, diphtheria, scarlet fever or any other disease dangerous to the public health, he shall immediately give notice thereof in writing over his own signature to the Selectmen or Board of Health of the town; and if he refuses or neglects to give such notice, he shall forfeit not less than fifty nor more than two hundred dollars for each offense.

SECT. 57. Reasonable expenses incurred by the Board of Health in making the provision required by law for a person infected with the smallpox or other disease dangerous to the public health shall be paid by such person, his parents or master, if able; otherwise by the town in which he has a legal settlement. If he has no settlement, they shall be paid by the commonwealth and the bills therefor shall be approved by the State Board of Charity.

* Sect. 139 exempts children who present a certificate signed by a registered physician that they are unfit subjects for vaccination.

† In Brooklyn disinfection after smallpox, scarlet fever, diphtheria and consumption is done by the Board of Health, and is done free of expense where the householder is unable to pay for it.

[The Board of Health considers smallpox, scarlet fever, measles, diphtheria, membranous croup, cholera, typhus fever and typhoid fever to come within the meaning of sections 49 and 50 of the above, but disinfection after measles and typhoid is not insisted upon.]

ORDERS OF THE BOARD OF HEALTH.

1. Ordered, That no child be allowed to attend school from any household in which there is or has been a case of scarlet fever, measles or diphtheria, until all danger of conveying such disease by such child is passed, and the following conditions have been complied with, namely: that six weeks shall have passed from the commencement of the last case in the household if scarlet fever; one week shall have passed after recovery, if measles; and if diphtheria, two weeks shall have elapsed from the date of the second successive negative bacteriological culture, said cultures in every case to be made from both nose and throat. Any pupil coming from such household shall be required to present to his or her teacher a certificate from the attending physician, or the Board of Health, or its agent, stating the facts necessary to entitle the pupil to readmission, in accordance with this order.

2. Ordered, That no child who has visited a house in which there was at the time a case of scarlet fever shall attend school until the expiration of two weeks following exposure, unless he has already had that disease.

3. Ordered, That no child ill with whooping-cough be allowed to attend school; and further, that no child from a household in which there is a case of whooping-cough shall continue in school, unless he or she has already had that disease.

4. Ordered, That no child from any house where there is a case of scarlet fever or diphtheria shall be allowed to mingle with persons from any other house until after the removal, recovery or death of the patient and the disinfection of the premises.

5. Ordered, That every house infected with diphtheria, scarlet fever or smallpox shall have affixed on or near the front door a card, furnished by the Board of Health, stating the disease to be avoided; and any unauthorized person removing such a card shall be liable to a fine not exceeding one hundred dollars.

6. Ordered, That the clerk of the Board of Health be directed to notify the Trustees of the Public Library of the existence of any case of contagious disease as soon as reported.

7. Ordered, That such rooms and such articles in any house, as in the opinion of the Board of Health have been subjected to infection or contagion from smallpox, scarlet fever, diphtheria or consumption, shall be disinfected by the Board. The attending physician or the Agent of the Board of Health shall decide in each case as to the proper time for disinfecting, and shall then notify the Board; but in no case of scarlet fever shall disinfection be done in less than four weeks from the commencement of the last case in the household (except by special permit of the Agent of the Board); and in diphtheria disinfection shall not be done until after at least two successive negative bacteriological cultures from both nose and throat have been obtained; and in all cases a certificate of the attending physician shall be required, stating that all danger of infection from the patient is passed; said certificate in case of diphtheria to be based on the result of bacteriological examinations as above prescribed. Disinfection by the Board shall also be done in every case after a death from consumption, and after the removal of a consumptive patient, whenever in the opinion of the attending physician or of the Agent of the Board, disinfection is necessary.

8. Ordered, That no public funeral shall be held over the remains of any person who has died of smallpox, scarlet fever or diphtheria, without the written permit of the Board of Health, and under such regulations as may prevent the spread of either of said diseases. Ordered, further, that the remains of any person who has died from either of said diseases shall at once be placed in a tight or sealed coffin, and shall not thereafter be exposed to view or disturbed except for burial.

9. Ordered, That the undertakers of the town be notified to warn families, in the case of the death of a member from contagious disease, against a public funeral.

10. Ordered, That circulars suggesting means for preventing the spread of scarlet fever and diphtheria be sent to every house in which a case of said fever or diphtheria shall be reported.

11. Ordered, That no person infected with diphtheria, membranous croup or scarlet fever, shall leave the Board of Health Hospitals until the Board of Health or its agent shall find and certify that all danger of communicating such disease has passed.

12. Ordered, That no person other than patients, physicians and nurses shall enter the Board of Health Hospitals, except with the special permission of the Board, or of its Agent.

13. Ordered, That visiting the grounds of the Board of Health Hospitals shall be allowed daily between the hours of 2 and 3 P. M. only, except with the special permission of the Agent of the Board; but in no case shall children be allowed to visit the premises.

14. Ordered, That no article of food be sent to the patients in the Board of Health Hospitals excepting fruit, which must be left with the nurse in charge.

15. Ordered, That in the case of death where the deceased had not been attended by a practicing physician, the certificate of death shall be issued by the Medical Examiner.

16. Ordered, That no dead body of any person shall be carried to any cemetery, or from one place to another within the town, in any public vehicle other than a hearse or undertaker's wagon provided for that purpose.

17. Ordered, That the use of "wall draperies" in any room or place used for a funeral or for the preparation or retention of any human body before or in connection with such funeral be and the same is hereby forbidden.

18. Ordered, That no person shall spit upon the floor of any public conveyance, shop, store, hall, church, school-house, railroad station or other public building in said town, or upon the steps of any of said conveyances or buildings, or upon the sidewalk (spitting into the gutter or street is not forbidden) of any public way of said town.

19. Ordered, That no person or corporation shall keep or allow to be kept upon any premises in his or its possession, within the limits of this town, more than one cow, without securing a permit from the Board of Health to do so. Such permit shall expire on the first day of May, annually.

20. Ordered, That no person or corporation shall use any building as a stable for cows, unless such building is properly lighted and ventilated; has a tight floor and roof; good drainage, connecting wherever practicable with the public sewer; a supply of pure water, and not less than one thousand cubic feet of air space for each animal.

21. Ordered, That manure shall not be allowed to accumulate in the neighborhood of barns. Yards surrounding buildings where cows are kept must be well drained and free from standing water and filth. The barns shall be kept as clean as possible, and the floor shall be sprinkled before being swept.

22. Ordered, That animals kept for the production of milk shall not be fed upon swill.

23. Ordered, That neither hogs nor manure shall be kept in cellars of cow stables, except by special permit of the Board of Health.

24. Ordered, That a person having any infectious disease (the Board considers consumption to come within the meaning of the statutes in regard to infectious diseases), or having recently been in contact with any such person, shall not be allowed to milk cows or handle cans, measures or other vessels used for milk intended for sale, or in any way take part or assist in the sale of the same, until the Board of Health is satisfied that all danger of communicating such disease is past.

25. Ordered, The premises where cattle are kept shall be open at all times to inspection by the Board of Health, or its appointed officer.

26. Ordered, That upon satisfactory evidence being furnished to the Board of Health of violation of any of the above regulations, the permit will be revoked.

27. Ordered, That from May 1st to November 1st no vault or cesspool shall be emptied by any other than the odorless process, nor by carts not of the Odorless Excavating Company, except permission be first obtained from the Chief of Police.

28. Ordered, That the manure from livery stables shall not be removed between the hours of sunrise and sunset.

29. Ordered, That no manure heap shall be allowed within one hundred feet of any dwelling, unless so covered as not to prove offensive.

30. Ordered, That all householders be required to keep the waste material set out by them for removal by the town in separate receptacles.

(1) One or more of such receptacles shall be for garbage or swill and shall have tight-fitting covers. (An old pork barrel, beer keg, or lead cask makes an excellent swill barrel and may advantageously be kept in a tight garbage locker.)

(2) A second receptacle or receptacles, preferably made of iron, shall be used for ashes, tin cans, and other incombustible waste.

(3) A third separate set of receptacles shall be used for dry combustible waste, such as paper, old shoes, house sweepings, and such other waste material as it is customary for the Health department to remove.

31. Ordered, That no person shall overhaul the contents of receptacles for waste material set upon the sidewalks to be removed by the town.

32. Ordered, That any person having reason to suspect the presence of glanders and farcy among horses shall immediately report that suspicion, together with the street and number of the premises at which the animal is kept, to the Board of Health, when the Veterinary Inspector will at once examine the animal.*

EXTRACT FROM THE REVISED LAWS.

CHAP. 75, SECT. 65. The Board of Health shall examine into all nuisances, sources of filth and causes of sickness within its town, . . . which may in its opinion be injurious to the public health, shall destroy, remove or prevent the same as the case may require and shall make regulations for the public health and safety relative thereto, and relative to articles which are capable of containing or conveying infection or contagion or of creating sickness which are brought into or conveyed from its town. . . . Whoever violates any such regulation shall forfeit not more than one hundred dollars.

*The more ordinary symptoms of glanders and farcy are: A discharge from the nostrils, enlargement and hardness of the glands under the lower jaw; or nodular enlargement of the skin with or without ulceration.

REPORT OF THE AGENT.

The following table* shows the number of cases of diphtheria, scarlet fever, and typhoid fever, during the last five years:—

	Diphtheria.	Scarlet Fever.	Typhoid Fever.

1901	158	27	26

There were six deaths during the year from diphtheria, two from scarlet fever, two from measles, none from typhoid fever, smallpox, or whooping cough. From consumption, however, there were twenty-four deaths, in other words, a mortality double that from all the other infectious diseases put together. Of the deaths from other diseases, twenty-six were reported from pneumonia, thirty-nine from heart disease, and seventeen from cancer. The number of deaths from all causes during the calendar year was 279, as against 285 in 1900. This number of deaths (279) includes, besides the number of residents who died here, a number of residents who died away from home, and also all the deaths of persons temporarily sojourning here. Deducting the number of still-births (6) there were 273 deaths during the year. With a population of 21,500, as estimated by the Town Clerk, this gives a mortality of 12.60 per 1000 inhabitants, which is a lower mortality than that of the previous year.

The diphtheria epidemic that was still active in this and neighboring towns at the beginning of the year continued for several months, but the number of patients was 89 less than during 1900, and the number of deaths was 3 less.

Until June the diphtheria and scarlet fever patients needing hospital isolation, 44 of the former and 3 of the latter, were admitted to the hospitals of the Board, but after that date, on account of the construction of the new hospitals, it was impracticable to continue to use the old buildings which had to be moved back. Permission was obtained to send patients to the Boston City Hospital and the Newton Hospital, temporarily. Under this arrangement, 36 diphtheria and 6 scarlet fever patients have been cared for.

The medical inspections of the public schools and of the parochial school were continued throughout the year. Until the summer vacation several visits each week were needed, and no effort was spared to protect the pupils from preventable disease, more especially diphtheria. Since the beginning of the fall term much less inspection has been found necessary. During the whole year it has not been found necessary to close a school, or even a room. Special efforts were made by the school inspectors to see that adequate protection by vaccination was given, and not one of the pupils has contracted small-pox. The physicians who served as medical inspectors of schools the past year are Doctors B. S. Blanchard, G. H. Francis, H. M. Cutts, E. M. Bowker, C. S. Francis, T. J. Shanahan, J. Kittredge, and R. W. Hastings.

Consumption has continued, as in the past, to be the most fatal of our infectious diseases. In at least two families there have been two or more members ill with that disease at the same time, and in one family two deaths from it. Such instances emphasize the advisability of requiring all cases of consumption to be reported (just as typhoid fever cases are) to the Board of Health, in order that a few simple but effective measures may be taken for the protection of the other members of the family.

Typhoid fever, generally of a mild form, prevailed more than usual in the town during the year, but it did not become epidemic. A very large proportion of the cases were certified by the physicians who reported them to have been contracted away from home. The circular of suggestions for preventing the spread of typhoid fever has been revised, and a copy is sent to every family in which a case is reported.

Among the unusual and more prominent features of the Health department's work during 1901 have been the building of a hospital for diphtheria and scarlet fever patients; more systematic sanitary inspection; a beginning of efforts directed against the mosquito nuisance, the same measures also tending to abate malaria; the checking of an outbreak of diphtheria, probably due to infected milk; and finally, the precautions taken against smallpox by prompt and thorough isolation of every patient, and most unusual facilities for free vaccination.

The new buildings of the hospital for diphtheria and scarlet fever patients are now approaching completion. The central building will contain the kitchen, office, supply room, and accommodations for the attendants. This building of two and one-half stories is connected by open corridors with two one-story pavilions, containing wards, private rooms and accessories for diphtheria and scarlet fever patients respectively. In a small building in the rear of the central building is to be a laundry, a garbage and refuse furnace, and a disinfection plant; the last-named may be used for disinfecting infected mattresses and blankets for the whole town. All the buildings are of brick, with light stone trimmings, and are steam heated. The wooden buildings formerly in use will continue to be very serviceable in connection with the new hospital.

The hospital's new ambulance has recently been provided with runners, and gives excellent service.

The increasing number of tenement houses and the unsanitary condition of many old tenements, stables and their immediate surroundings, have made it necessary to provide for more thorough and more frequent inspections. With this object in view a beginning of the work was made in June, when the Board authorized the laboratory assistant, Mr. Nyben, under the supervision of the Agent of the Board, and of Mr. Duffley, the Sanitary Agent, to devote as much time to inspection work as his regular duties in the laboratory might permit. For the past eight months, therefore, he has devoted three or four afternoons each week to systematically inspecting, and reporting in writing on the condition of the tenements in the most densely populated districts. The conditions most frequently requiring attention in houses were defective drainage, damp and filthy cellars, lack of cleanliness, of light and of ventilation; in stables, improper disposal of manure; in yards, rubbish heaps and offensive garbage receptacles. Minor nuisances and lack of cleanliness were usually found on reinspection abated without recourse to a formal complaint, but in 78 instances of serious menace to health, complaints were regularly filed and followed up, often requiring many visits, but usually resulting in compliance with requirements without recourse to litigation. In five cases legal notices were served by the Board of intention to prosecute, if necessary, to secure abatement of extremely dangerous conditions. Satisfactory abatement followed without more trouble. Three buildings were vacated by order of the Board, and they have since been put in sanitary condition. Two other buildings were voluntarily vacated on advice of the department, and are still vacant. Two very old and vacant structures, that were not only "eye-sores" but sources of danger from fire and other causes, were destroyed by their owners on the advice of Mr. Nyhen. The writer cannot too heartily commend the good beginning that has been made in this important part of the Health department's work, as it seems to him much wiser to search for and remove causes of disease than to wait for it to appear, and perhaps become epidemic; while the moral, mental and physical advantages sure to come from greater cleanliness, purer air, and more light in the homes of the poor, cannot be overestimated.

In August the writer made a special report to the Board on the mosquito nuisance, with recommendations. Not only the unusual prevalence of mosquitoes, but the important fact, recently demonstrated, that malarial fever is transmitted through a species of mosquito (the anopheles), found to some extent in the town, made the matter one of considerable importance. This report may be found, if desired, in the Brookline Chronicle of August 31st, 1901. A brief circular of information on the subject, with suggestions as to co-operation with the Board in measures to abate the nuisance, was sent to every family in the town. The laboratory assistant inspected almost every pond, pool, and ditch in the town, and "petrolized" many found to be the breeding places of mosquitoes. He also treated in the same way nearly 250 catch-basins, found infested with mosquitoes. Malarial and other mosquitoes in every stage were also cultivated in the Board of Health laboratory, and experiments made with various oils to determine the best for the destruction of mosquito larvæ (wrigglers).

In certain parts of the town, draining and filling-in should be done to permanently remove breeding places of mosquitoes. This work, now just begun, will be continued throughout the season.

During the fall, on account of the unusual prevalence of smallpox in the neighboring city, especially in the Roxbury district, plans were made for meeting an outbreak of that disease. The smallpox building was prepared for immediate occupancy, nurses were provisionally engaged and thoroughly re-vaccinated, and circulars advising vaccination and re-vaccination were sent to every house. In November two cases appeared, and were promptly and effectively isolated, one at home, the other in the smallpox hospital; the other members of the two households were vaccinated or re-vaccinated and quarantined. Free vaccinations were at once begun, all the physicians employed receiving the applicants for vaccination at their own offices, both afternoon and evening, daily. In December the third case was detected, and in January five more; all went to the hospital. During this time the writer was called in consultation to see a number of patients, some ill with chickenpox, and others with smallpox. It is interesting to know that of these eight smallpox patients, three were unvaccinated, and the others not vaccinated since infancy or childhood. Many people have yet to learn that when exposed to smallpox re-vaccination is necessary, if, say, five to seven years have passed since the last previous vaccination. The three unvaccinated patients were seriously ill, but happily recovered. The others, thanks to their old vaccinations, had rather light attacks, and little or no disfigurement. Owing to the precautions taken in each case, namely, vaccination or re-vaccination of the various households, no new cases, so far as can be learned, were contracted from the eight reported. At present the free vaccinations are still being made, but to reach numerous persons, who for various reasons have not applied, house to house vaccination in certain parts of the town is now being done during the early evening, and many very busy adults, who are away from home all day, are thus reached and protected. The employees at our largest manufactory, and other places where many people are employed, have also received free vaccination. Three circulars of information about smallpox and vaccination have been sent to every family, as far as practicable, during the past three months, and the people are usually perfectly ready to be vaccinated by physicians well known to them. The physicians serving as public vaccinators are the following-named: Doctors

H. L. Chase, B. S. Blanchard, F. B. Percy, G. H. Francis, S. A. Houghton, H. V. McLaughlin, E. M. Bowker, C. S. Francis, J. Kittredge, F. P. Denny, T. J. Shanahan, R. W. Hastings, A. G. Williams, L. W. Gilbert, G. P. Sanborn, F. L. Taylor, and J. P. Murphy.

Their work in these free vaccinations has been of exactly the same character as when done for their private patients. The entire absence of mishap among the thousands they have vaccinated is evidence of the care exercised by the vaccinators and of the purity of the vaccine used.

The writer wishes to acknowledge the cordial support he has had from many town officials and private citizens.

Respectfully submitted,

REPORT OF THE SANITARY AGENT.

OFFICE OF THE BOARD OF HEALTH,

BROOKLINE, MASS., January 31st, 1902.

To the Board of Health :—

GENTLEMEN,—I have the honor to submit the following report for the year ending January 31st, 1902:—

The past year has been an unusually busy one, and has been marked by important changes in the methods of tenement inspection and recording work, and the character of the work in general.

Believing that defective house drainage, lack of cleanliness, of light and air, and overcrowding are predisposing causes of the spread of dangerous infectious disease, the Board ordered a thorough periodical inspection or sanitary survey to be made of all tenement houses in the town. This work was begun in November, and has been continued up to the present with as much dispatch as the more urgent duties of the Inspectors would permit. Thirty different tenement houses, each containing from two to six families, have been inspected, their general sanitary condition carefully noted and systematically recorded on blanks prepared for the purpose, and filed for future reference in book marked "Tenement House Reports."

The unhealthful conditions found in several of these habitations showed that measures to correct the evils discovered had not been adopted any too soon. As a result of these inspections the Board has already caused the installation of fourteen new water-closets and the correction of a large number of general unsanitary conditions which it is believed have been a serious menace to the health of the occupants of this class of dwellings. While much has been accomplished during the past few months towards carrying out the orders of the Board in its efforts to prevent the spread of dangerous infectious disease, it is believed that progress in this direction will be relatively greater during the coming year: we have only begun.

Much of the work necessary for the carrying out of this new and important enterprise of the Health department was done by Mr. J. Albert C. Nyhen, the laboratory assistant, who was authorized by the Board in June to engage in this work, so far as his other duties might permit.

The nuisances complained of and abated under direction of the Board during the year were greater in number, but of about the same character as those of previous years, and generally consisted of filthy yards and cellars, defective and obstructed house drainage, overflowing cesspools, offensive privies, stables, etc.

Among the most frequent sources of complaint which the Board is called upon to deal with are stables in unsanitary condition. Seventeen were complained of during the year, and in the case of a number the Board gave public hearings. As a result of this work, very radical changes and improvements were made or are now under way in five of these stables, and in twelve others only minor changes were found necessary.

By request of attending physicians, inspections have been made of the drainage in five houses where there had been cases of serious illness from infectious disease. Serious defects were found in the general sanitary arrangements of three, particularly in the drainage. The owners made quite extensive improvements in all. Minor defects were found and corrected in the drainage of the other two houses.

In accordance with the public statutes, the various bakeries of the town have been periodically inspected during the year. Improvements in their condition in regard to whitewashing and cleaning were made in four of them, and the general condition of two other bakeries were found to be entirely satisfactory.

During the year the Board has granted permits to build and maintain five cesspools in places where no sewers were available. Fifty-nine permits for improving the drainage have been granted.

During the year ending January 31st, 1902, Mr. Willard E. Ward, Disinfecter for the Board, has disinfected 228 rooms infected with diphtheria, 36 with smallpox, 40 with scarlet fever, 29 with consumption, and 5 which had been infected by persons before being quarantined. He has also disinfected at the office, in the cabinet constructed by the Board of Health for the purpose, 23 trunks, packages and boxes of toys, clothing, bedding, etc., and 398 books (private property), also 1,250 school and library books; 5 loads of infected bedding were taken to the dump and burned, on recommendation of the attending physicians or Agent of the Board, and three loads also were taken to a naphtha cleansing establishment. He has also washed and disinfected with corrosive sublimate, upon request of householders, 33 rooms, and has disinfected with formaldehyde gas after twelve cases of typhoid fever, measles, etc. Finally he has disinfected 29 telephones that had been used by diphtheritic or consumptive patients.

Before closing this report I desire to express to the Board my thanks for furnishing me such help in outside inspection work as Mr. Nyhen, the laboratory assistant, has had time to give.

In systematizing our regular tenement inspection work, begun this year, we have been assisted with valuable suggestions and advice by Mr. Thomas Jordan, Chief Inspector of the Boston Board of Health, to whom our thanks are due.

Respectfully submitted,

MICHAEL DUFFLEY,

Sanitary Agent.

REPORT OF THE BACTERIOLOGIST.

LABORATORY OF THE BOARD OF HEALTH,
BROOKLINE, MASS., February 21st, 1902.

To the Board of Health : —

GENTLEMEN,—I have the honor to submit the following report for the year ending January 31st, 1902:—

The work carried on at the laboratory during the past year has been of the same character as during the preceding years. It has consisted of —

(1) The examination of cultures from suspected cases of diphtheria;

(2) The examination of sputum for the early detection of cases of pulmonary tuberculosis;

(3) The test for the presence of the typhoid, or so-called Widal's reaction.

All of the above examinations are made without charge for residents of Brookline. The necessary outfits for the use of physicians are kept at Young & Brown's, Harvard Square, and also at Hayman's drug store, corner of Beacon and Park streets.

In addition to these, other microscopical and chemical examinations which aid in the diagnosis of non-contagious diseases have been made for the physicians of the town. A small fee has been charged, which has contributed somewhat to the support of the laboratory.

In February, 1901, the fitting up of the new laboratory in the Court House building was completed, and the work has since been carried on there. The location and arrangements have proved to be very satisfactory.

Diphtheria. There have been 1,463 cultures from 664 persons examined during the past year. This is less than one-half the number of the preceding year. The decrease is due to the fact that there have been fewer cases of diphtheria in the town, and also because many of the diphtheria patients were sent to Boston and Newton, and the cultures for release were made in laboratories in those cities. Fewer cultures were also made in the schools.

Cultures were made by physicians from 434 persons having symptoms more or less suggestive of diphtheria, and sent to the laboratory for examination. In 127 of these the bacilli of diphtheria were found. Many of the cases appeared to be simple sore throat, and could not have been recognized as dangerous to other members of the family and to the public except by cultures. Of the 307 persons in whom no diphtheria bacilli were found, at least 15 (or nearly 5 per cent) were thought to have diphtheria by the attending physician at the time the cultures were made. Without cultures, therefore, some of these negative cases would have been reported as diphtheria and unnecessarily quarantined. Thus while the cultural method of diagnosis results in quarantining persons who would otherwise have their freedom, it also has the effect of relieving from detention some who would otherwise be isolated.

Cultures from 230 healthy persons were examined and 11 of them were found to have the bacilli of diphtheria in their throats or noses. Most of them were persons who were known to have been exposed to the disease. The attention of physicians is again called (as in previous reports) to the importance of making cultures from persons who have been exposed to cases of diphtheria in the same household.

There were very few cultures made in the schools, only 44 with 2 positives, as compared with 1,154 and 43 positives during the preceding year. In no instance did it seem very probable that the disease was spreading through the schools.

A number of cultures were made from persons engaged in the handling of milk. During November and December it was found that most of the cases of diphtheria which occurred were widely scattered, but were among the customers of two milk dealers. The dairies from which their milk was obtained were therefore visited, and cultures were made from all persons engaged in handling the milk.

Two apparently healthy men connected with one milk route were found to have the bacilli of diphtheria, and it seemed probable that from them the infection of the milk had taken place. They were at once isolated; everything which might come in contact with the milk was disinfected, and no further cases occurred. In the other milk route the source of the infection was not found, probably because it was not searched for early enough.

This is the third time within two years that diphtheria has almost certainly been transmitted through the milk. This is an unusual experience, as the number of instances on record where the infection has been traced to milk are very few, although more would undoubtedly be discovered in other places if they were systematically looked for. Such outbreaks as these may occur at any time, and when there is no connection with persons sick with diphtheria, the infection taking place from apparently healthy men, there is nothing to give a clue of the danger of infection until cases of diphtheria appear among the customers. The Board now ascertains the milk supply in every case of diphtheria, so that, when it is seen that a number of cases are occurring on one milk route, cultures may be made from all persons handling that milk, and other necessary steps taken to prevent the further spread from that source.

797 of the cultures examined were for release, that is, they were made from persons convalescing from diphtheria in order to determine when it would be safe for them to be released from quarantine.

Tuberculosis. There were 100 specimens of sputum examined for the presence of the bacilli of tuberculosis, 21 with positive result.

Typhoid Fever. 68 tests were made for the presence of the typhoid, or Widal's reaction, with specimens of dried blood from 54 persons with symptoms suggestive of typhoid fever. The reaction was present in 18 of these.

Solutions for the use of the Disinfector of the Board have been put up in the laboratory, with the result of a saving of expense to the town.

Mr. J. A. C. Nyhen, the assistant in the laboratory, has been doing other work for the Board when the laboratory has not required his whole time. Reference to his work will be found in the report of the Agent of the Board.

Dr. George P. Sanborn has acted as bacteriologist during the absence of the writer.

The following table shows the bacteriological work which has been done in the laboratory during the past three years:—

Cultures examined	1242	3503	1463
Specimens of sputum examined . .	91	83	100

REPORT OF THE INSPECTOR OF ANIMALS, PROVISIONS, AND MILK.

BROOKLINE, MASS., January 31st, 1902.

To the Board of Health :—

GENTLEMEN,—I have the honor to submit the following report for the year 1901:—

During the year the premises of all applicants for permits to keep more than one cow have been examined and, in the majority of the instances, found to be in good sanitary condition; changes suggested upon two occasions were promptly made by the owners.

Permits have been issued to all applicants, excepting one. He has neglected so far to comply with the regulations of the Board.

There has been a marked diminution in the number of cases of glanders reported during the year. Thirty-one horses, which had been exposed to the contagion, have been examined; and all of the premises where the disease has been found have been thoroughly disinfected.

All cattle brought into the town from out of the state, other than those which had passed through the state quarantine stations, have been examined physically, subjected to the tuberculin test, identified, and when proper, released.

During the month of October a general inspection of all the neat stock in the town was ordered by the State Board of Cattle Commissioners, to be completed on or before the fifteenth day of November.

Your Inspector, with all others throughout the commonwealth, was instructed not to quarantine any animal as a suspected case of tuberculosis unless the disease was so far advanced as to make it possible to condemn without the aid of tuberculin, unless a location in the udder was "suspected." This examination was made, and a report forwarded to the State Board.

On November 30th an order was received from the before-mentioned Board with instructions not to quarantine any more cows during the year, whatever their condition might be, the reason given for this order being a lack of funds.

In this report for last year, attention was called to the fact that it was a common practice among store-keepers to expose for sale certain articles of food in an injudicious and, from a sanitary point, undesirable manner. I am pleased to be able to report that suggestions then and since made in this respect have been followed in many instances by the dealers. While these precautions may not be of as great importance as many other similar ones, it is still comfortable to feel the chance of swallowing dust and dirt, that may or may not be positively harmful, has been in this way distinctly lessened.

Sixty-eight milk licenses were issued during the year, a list of which is appended.

Thirteen teams and four stores were found to be selling milk unlawfully. All of these persons were notified to procure licenses at once; and all, excepting one, immediately complied. In the excepted case, the dealer discontinued further business in Brookline. This man had, at the time, recently been convicted in the courts of the town, upon complaint of the police authorities, of stealing milk from doorways.

During the warmer months most of the milk is delivered between midnight and four o'clock in the morning, consequently the collections have usually been made between these hours,—the different sections of the town being covered on different days.

While many of the known smaller routes have been absorbed by the larger dealers during the year, their apparent numbers have not been correspondingly reduced, because this year, for the first time, this department has been able to avail itself of the use of the collector's team without incurring additional expense. This has enabled a more frequent covering of the entire town, with the above results.

There have been examined, as shown by the detailed laboratory report, six hundred and forty-four samples of milk, eighteen samples of vinegar, and seven samples of butter.*

There have been five prosecutions in the Brookline court for the sale of milk not of good standard quality, each of which resulted in a conviction and fine.

In three of the above cases an appeal to the Superior Court was entered. Two of these have since been called for trial, and in each instance the defendants defaulted, whereupon the opinion of the lower court was sustained and a large additional fine imposed. The third case has not yet been called.

On September 9th a note was addressed to your Honorable Board, suggesting that the contemplated removal of the office and laboratory of the department be made at once, and that quarters be furnished in the Town Hall. On September 21st a reply was received, stating that this suggestion had the approval of the Board, and allotting a portion of room number 14 for an office, with laboratory room in the basement.

This arrangement was rendered possible through the courtesy of the Sealer of Weights and Measures, who kindly volunteered to give half of the room allotted to his department for these purposes. The office has since been open from two to five o'clock in the afternoons of Thursday and Friday.

Several new appliances have been added to the laboratory apparatus, which have greatly facilitated the work of the department.

During the year a special study has been made of the relation and bearing, if any, that the dealer or producer of milk may have in the spread of contagious disease; and a considerable amount of time has been spent in the investigation of the milk supply in each case of contagious disease reported to the Board of Health, with the object of ascertaining its source, and, if found likely to be in the milk supply, eradicating, so far as possible, all danger of further contamination.

Periodical examinations have been made of all dairies located within the town limits, and of many situated in adjoining towns, by request or with the consent of the owners.

During the year eighteen samples of vinegar have been taken from the following dealers:—

J. J. Harrington,	269 Boylston st.
J. M. Seamans & Co.,	Harvard sq.
Relix R. King,	236 Washington.
P. H. Merrigan,	42 Flora st.
Wm. F. Young,	121 Washington st.
B. J. Duffy,	207 Boylston st.
Wm. H. Foley,	9 Kendall st.
F. F. Seamans,	Harvard sq.

And two samples brought to office.

Of these eighteen samples only four were below the legal standard, and of the four only one was manifestly spurious. Notice was sent to this dealer that his vinegar was below standard and that further sale of same would result in prosecution. This notice had the desired effect, and subsequent examination from his stock showed that he had obtained an article of satisfactory quality.

Seven samples of butter, taken from the stores of T. H. Dyer & Co., F. F. Seamans, J. M. Seamans & Co., William F. Young, B. J. Duffy, Felix R. King, and P. H. Merrigan were all found to be of a quality which satisfied the legal requirement for pure butter.

Sick Poor, Miss Edgerly and Mr. Conant.

REPORT.

In May, 1901, Miss Chapman, for several years an active member of the Board, died. Her intelligence, her devotion to the details of the work, and her good judgment made her services very valuable, and her fellow-workers desire to put on record their appreciation of them. Her place has been temporarily filled by Mrs. Codman, a former member of the Board.

Any variety in the work of the Overseers of the Poor is merely in small matters of detail, and there is little of interest or of novelty to report from year to year.

At the almshouse, which continues under the management of Mr. and Mrs. Estey, there are now eight inmates, two less than at this time last year. One man died there during the summer, one man and one woman have been transferred to the State Hospital at Tewksbury, and one woman, who had no settlement in Brookline, was sent by the state to her home in Ireland. In his annual report, the State Inspector says: "This almshouse is in good condition, clean and well managed." He adds, "Of the inmates, seven are between 70 and 90, one between 90 and 100." From a population of this kind little work of value can be expected, and, to supplement what little they can do, a woman is regularly employed to help Mrs. Estey. This, in part, accounts for the increased expense of the almshouse during the past year.

Of those who receive out-door relief, either regularly or occasionally, the number is a little less than last year, and of those relieved seventeen are persons without settlement in Brookline. Eleven of these are state cases, a much larger number than usual. In two cases the state officials refused all further aid, except at the State Hospital, but finally agreed to remove one woman and her child, at the expense of the commonwealth, to relatives in another state, who promised to take charge of her. The other woman and her child were sent to the State Hospital.

The list of the sick poor is also somewhat shorter than usual, but the number is of necessity uncertain, and but little can be done to control the expenditure for this class. The number of those who have received medical treatment only, during the year is thirty-two, of whom nine are state cases.

Of the insane, four have died during the year, but the number has steadily increased, and there are now thirty-three, including one woman whose settlement is in Boston, in the various hospitals. This is by far the most expensive part of the work of the Overseers, and there is no way in which the outlay can be reduced. As will be seen from the table given below, many of the cases are of long standing, and have cost the town large sums of money. One woman has been in the hospital for twenty-one years, at a cost of $3470, one man and one woman, twenty years each, one man and one woman, eighteen years each, without the slightest hope of recovery or improvement. In 1904, the new law, making all the insane state charges, will go into effect, and the town will then be relieved from direct payment for their support. The increase in the state tax will, however, more than make up for this. There are also this year two patients at the Hospital for Dipso-maniacs, at Foxboro.

The number of children supported by the town is the same as last year. The three at the School for the Feeble-Minded, one of whom has already cost the town over a thousand dollars, will never become self-supporting; the others will, as soon as old enough, be placed in free homes. Children so placed are carefully watched and visited till they are twenty-one.

The usual statistical tables are given below.

REPORT.

The Brookline Water Board herewith submits its twenty-sixth annual report, it being for the fiscal year ending January 31, 1902.

As in former years, the reports of the Superintendent of the works and the engineers at the pumping stations, with pumping statistics, are appended.

At the annual town meeting held March 14, 1901, Mr. Timothy J. Burke was elected a member of the Board for three years. The Board organized by the choice of Oscar B. Mowry as Chairman. Zeph. R. Forbes was appointed as Registrar and Clerk, and Fayette F. Forbes as Superintendent of the works.

In addition to the regular monthly meetings of the Board, held the first Tuesday of the month, meetings for the purpose of drawing the warrant for the weekly pay-rolls and for the transacting of any miscellaneous business have been held each Monday morning. Meetings have also been regularly held on the third Tuesday of the month for the transaction of the ordinary business of the department.

The general condition of the works is excellent. The filtering galleries and driven wells have furnished an abundant supply of pure, cool water, which with our improved machinery we have delivered to the consumer the same day it was drawn from the ground.

The amount received for water-rates is fully as large as expected, considering the reduction of 50 per cent made on the annual charge for meter rentals.

The Board has had under consideration, during the past year, the matter of recommending to the town the establishment of a wholesale meter rate which would apply to large consumers. A wholesale or sliding scale of rates is in common use in nearly all other towns and cities, and it would seem just to the large consumers of Brookline that such a rate should be established here. This matter will doubtless be presented to the town at the annual meeting.

The work of the department for the past year has, with the exception of building the foundation for the new pumping engine at Cow Bay, been mainly of the routine order.

As in former years this report is followed by a financial statement which shows in detail the receipts and expenditures of this department.

Extensions.

All the changes in our distributing system made necessary by the widening of Boylston street have been completed, and a balance of $348.19 from the sum set apart by the Selectmen for this purpose remains unexpended.

All petitions received for extensions of street mains have been granted, and excepting two cases where cold weather prevented, the pipes have been laid

A ten-inch water main has been laid in Boylston street between Village square and Cypress street. Suitable connections were made with the old main and new fire-hydrants set at frequent intervals. This main furnishes a much-needed reinforcement to the water supply of a district which during the past few years has been thickly built up with wooden buildings.

For a detail of these extensions attention is called to the report of the Superintendent which is hereto appended.

The contract for cast-iron pipe and special castings for the coming season has, in accordance with authority granted by the town, been awarded, and the material will be delivered in the early spring.

New Pumping Engine.

The purchase of a five-million vertical triple-expansion high-duty pumping engine was authorized by the town at a town meeting held November 22, 1900.

Bids were solicited, in accordance with specifications prepared by this department, and were opened on February 19, 1901. Five bids ranging from $28,400 to $41,500 were received from leading pump manufacturers.

After a careful examination of the plans it was voted, on March 14, to award the contract to the Edward P. Allis Co., of Milwaukee, Wis., for $28,400, they being the lowest bidder. The engine is now in process of construction, and while it is doubtful, on account of labor troubles experienced by the manufacturer, if it will be in operation by the coming June as originally intended, it is hoped that no material delay in its delivery will ensue.

The building of the foundation for this new engine was known to be an extremely difficult operation, and for this reason it was decided that it should be done by day labor, under the personal supervision of the Superintendent. It was necessary to make an excavation 20 feet in depth inside the engine-room, in such a manner that the foundations of the other machinery and the walls of the building should not be endangered thereby. This excavation was made with great care, heavy bracing being used to support the existing foundations. The work was completed without accident, and the concrete foundation was at once built. All the changes in the piping, both for water and steam, have been made, so that the engine can be immediately set up on its delivery.

Meters.

We now have 1,927 meters in use, a net gain of 143 having been made the past year.

The total number of new services laid the past year was 122, which is 21 less than the number of new meters set. By this increase in the meter system it is clearly evident that many of the water-takers have decided that the payment of water-rates on the basis of actual consumption is preferable to paying an arbitrary tax. The Board believe that the most equitable method of assessing water-rates is by meter measurement, and the fact that the number of new meters set exceeds the number of new services laid is regarded as a practical indorsement of this system.

The following table shows the number and size of all meters now in service:—

Quality of Water.

It is unnecessary to report at length upon the quality of the water supply, as its uniform purity is so well known. There is no reason to expect any change in either the quality or quantity of the water flowing from the filtering galleres and the driven wells as long as proper supervision is exercised.

Buildings.

It was stated in our last annual report that our work-shop and stable was "very much crowded and wholly inadequate for our present requirements." At this time it was recommended that another story be added to the present building, but the Committee to whom the annual appropriations were referred were of the opinion that the matter should be temporarily deferred, and that a new and larger building should be built in the near future.

Additonal accommodations, both for work-shop and stable purposes, are greatly needed and should be secured as soon as possible.

An Additional Water Supply.

At the time the excavation for the foundation for the new pumping engine was being made, a large quantity of water was encountered. This water proved, on careful examination, to be of equal quality to that furnished by the filtering galleries and wells. It is deemed advisable to secure this water, and it is therefore proposed that a limited number of wells be driven in the immediate vicinity of the pumping station. This can be done the coming season, in connection with the erection of the engine, at a much lower cost than in the future.

The contract price for the new engine was nearly two thousand dollars less than the estimate, and as the foundations and all changes at the pumping station have been made and have not exceeded the estimate, it is recommended that the sum of one thousand dollars be transferred from the appropriation for the new pumping engine, for the purpose of driving these new wells.

New Covered Reservoir.

Our present covered reservoir on Fisher Hill has a capacity of about one and a quarter million gallons, and, based on an average consumption, only holds about one-half of a day's supply. During the summer months the daily consumption is often twice and sometimes three times the capacity of this reservoir; in case of a large fire or breakage of the force-main we should be obliged to depend upon the city of Boston, or our open reservoir (which is not desirable) for a water supply.

The matter of the storage of water in an open reservoir has been fully reported upon in former years and it seems unnecessary to again go over this ground. It is a fact, however, that as long as our water supply is taken from an underground source, its storage in an open reservoir is wholly impracticable.

Plans and estimates have been made by the Superintendent of the works, Mr. F. F. Forbes, for building a covered reservoir on the site of the present open reservoir, and there is no doubt the work can be done for the amount recommended.

C. E. RILEY,
T. J. BURKE.

I assent to the above report excepting so much thereof as applies to the construction of a proposed new reservoir and the proposed appropriation therefor.

I make this exception as I am of the opinion that the subject-matter has not received sufficient consideration, and because I am not convinced that the necessity or even demand therefor exists which would justify the recommendation of an appropriation of seventy-five thousand dollars.

OSCAR B. MOWRY.

Extension of Street Mains.

Nearly two miles of main pipes have been laid the past season, and by referring to the last annual report it will be seen that this is nearly twice the amount there recorded.

The most important extension was that of laying a ten-inch pipe on Boylston street, from Cypress street to High street. This larger pipe greatly adds to the efficiency of the fire protection in this neighborhood.

The paving of Harvard square made several changes in the piping desirable, and, in fact, necessary.

The original main, with all the house connections, ran diagonally through the square, and in case a leak or stoppage should occur in any of the services, it would be necessary to break through the paving at a large expense comparatively, and also to put the public to much inconvenience while repairs were being made. To avoid such an occurrence, a six-inch main was laid near the curbstone on each side of the street, as far as the paving extended, and all supply pipes connected to these new pipes. This pipe with house connections can be easily reached by excavations made in the sidewalks, and tunneling out a short distance under the paving. A new cover for the gate-boxes was designed in order to allow the paving to be carried to its full depth up to the gate-boxes.

The main in Browne street was extended and connected to the main in St. Paul street, the main on Sewall avenue was carried to and connected with the main in Longwood avenue, and the ends of the main in Clark road brought together for the immediate purpose of eliminating the dead ends, and also for increasing the amount of water for fire purposes.

All the other extensions were of the usual kind.

More service-pipes were laid the past year than during the year before. We yet use cement-lined iron pipe for this purpose, and after an experience of thirty years see no reason for making a change.

Only one leak has occurred in the street-mains the past year. A six-inch pipe broke squarely in two, caused probably by a settlement of the ground at that point. A very few leaks were found in the service-pipe, all of which were repaired at a small expense. The force-main has given no trouble.

The hydrants have received the usual amount of attention. It is intended to paint most of them the coming season.

The amount of water consumed is a little less than that used the year before, owing to a large extent to the wet season. There is no doubt that a more general use of meters would reduce the per capita rate, and it seems quite certain that in the future more meters will be used, not in Brookline alone but in all other cities and towns having public water supplies.

It is the general opinion of those who study water works problems that for several reasons water should be sold by a meter; and as our knowledge of bacteria in their relations to the causes of disease advances, we find that a safe water for all domestic purposes cannot be obtained in every river, lake, or pond, and that to get and keep a water which meets all modern requirements is generally a difficult and expensive matter. And then again, there are other legitimate uses for water, and it seems hardly fair to the public to take water which might be used to furnish power for mills, and allow it to be wasted in such a way that no benefit is derived thereby. No one wishes that water should not be used very freely, but to allow it to run through defective fixtures for days, weeks, and months is certainly unbusiness-like, to say the least. If all water was sold by meter, it would be found much cheaper to repair leaky fixtures than to pay for the water which would pass through them.

The most important work of the past season was the building of the foundations for the new pumping engine at Cow Island. When the station was erected in 1892, room was left in the building for the second engine, but the foundation was not built at that time, as it was impossible to forecast what type of engine would be required. To make room for the masonry, it was necessary to excavate to a depth of twenty feet below the engine-room floor, and ten feet below the usual summer level of the water in the river. The greatest expected difficulty was to keep the ground-water down so that the excavation could go on without causing any settlement, as any disturbance of the earth under the walls of the building or foundations of the present engine would be quite disastrous.

A number of test-wells were driven inside and around the building to determine as near as possible the character of the material. It was finally decided to drive nine two-and-one-half-inch wells around the outside of that part of the building in which the foundations were to be built. The bottom of these wells was about twenty-five feet below the engine-room floor. These wells were connected to a pump located outside of the building, but supplied with steam from the main boiler, and they did their work so well that the water in the ground was kept at the desired level and no difficulty was found in carrying the excavations to the required grade. The engine foundation, including the pier, was built wholly of American Portland cement concrete. All the gravel and sand needed was obtained from the material taken from the excavation for the foundations and from a gravel pit on the town land nearby. Five hundred and ninety barrels of cement were used for the foundation and work immediately connected with it, such as plastering the walls of the pump-pit and so forth. In the lower part of the foundations, two sets of old-steel rails were embedded, one set being at right angles to the other, the individual rails being eighteen inches apart measured from centers. The purpose of these rails was to stiffen the mass of concrete and make it quite like one large stone. As the top of the foundation or bottom of the pump-pit is permanently below the normal level of the water in ground, it was necessary to make the foundations water-tight, and this, of course, added to the cost of the work. The foundations were completed in October without disturbing the foundations of the building or engines, and during the high water of January last showed practically no leakage. This work gave much anxiety at first, and it is with pleasure that we can note its successful termination.

In connection with this work, a large cast-iron air chamber was placed just outside the building on the suction-main to intercept any air which might leak through the numerous joints of the well-system.

The water connections for the new engine have been made in the building, but the connections outside will not be put in until the engine is in position.

The new engine is now being built at Buffalo, N. Y. It was thought best to employ a competent inspector to watch its construction at the shop so that the material and workmanship should be fully equal to the requirements of the specifications. Labor troubles, which were general in all western machine shops last spring, have retarded the work somewhat, but it is expected that the engine will be in commission by September 1st next.

The general condition of the works is fully as good as it was one year ago. Boiler number two at the high-service station has been removed, as it was not worth repairs, and a new one set in its place. The new boiler was made by the Cunningham Iron Co. of South Boston.

The machinery at the low-service station is quite fully reported upon by Mr. Flinn, the engineer, and nothing in addition need be said here.

It is quite desirable that the land of the town in the neighborhood of the low-service station should be patrolled in summer, as many boating and picnic parties are sure to be trespassers unless some one is on hand to keep them off.

It is probable that we can add several hundred thousand gallons of water per day to our supply at an expense of less than $1,000 by driving a few wells near the low-service pumping station, and as the lumber which was used for building the engine foundations can be used for doing this work, the coming season would seem to be the most favorable time to make this addition.

We have outgrown our stable accommodations on Walnut street, and it is hoped that in the immediate future a larger lot of land can be secured and a suitable building erected.

I subjoin the following tables, etc., all of which is respectfully submitted.

FAYETTE F. FORBES,
Supt. Water Works.

LOW-SERVICE ENGINEER'S REPORT.

LOW-SERVICE PUMPING STATION,

WEST ROXBURY, January 31, 1902.

To the Brookline Water Board:—

GENTLEMEN,—I have the honor to present the annual report of the Engineer for the year ending January 31, 1902.

The total amount of water pumped by engines No. 1 and No. 3 was 698,247,007 gallons—nearly twelve million gallons less than last year. The pumping time shows an increase of 421 hours, and the coal consumed for pumping and heating an increase of 209,377 pounds. This increased pumping time and coal consumption was on account of doing a large amount of extra pumping with Engine No. 1 and a Blake high pressure pump when excavating for the foundation of the new engine.

Boilers.

The boilers are in good condition. Slight repairs have been made on the feed and blow-off pipes and valves. New gage-glass fittings are needed for Boiler No. 2, as the present fittings are too light, and are nearly worn out. The check-valves on the boiler feed-pipe are also too light and should be replaced by valves of a heavier pattern. The return pipe from the cylinder jackets and separator to the boiler should be replaced by a stronger pipe and fittings, as the present fittings are not able to withstand the strain caused by expansion and contraction without leaking.

A cheaper grade of coal was used this year, and as it was exposed to a heavy rain before being housed, it was saturated with water. In the early part of October the coal in the coal-shed showed signs of heating. In order to observe the rise in temperature, several 2-inch pipes were driven into the coal to various levels, and thermometers inserted in the pipes. Daily observations showed an increase in temperature, until a maximum of 130 degrees was reached, after which it slowly fell to the normal temperature of the coal shed.

The walls of the boiler room need a coat of whitewash, as they have not been coated since 1895.

Engines.

The pumping engines are in good working condition and have needed only the ordinary repairs, with the exception of the intermediate and low-pressure valve chambers of Engine No. 3. On September 22d, a slight crack appeared near the manhole of the low-pressure valve chamber. As a similar crack showed near the manhole of the intermediate valve chamber in September, 1898, and was repaired at that time by bolting a steel plate over the crack, it was concluded after an examination by Mr. I. H. Reynolds of the E. P. Allis Co., the designer of the engine, to strengthen both valve chambers by shrinking steel hoops $3\frac{1}{2}''$ x $1''$ on the chambers above the manhole, and bolting steel plates $22''$ x $1\frac{1}{4}''$ on the face of the manholes. Turned steel bolts $1\frac{1}{2}''$ in diameter were driven into reamed holes into the lower flanges of the valve chambers, on each side of the cracks in the bottom of the manholes. Most of the material for these repairs was furnished by the E. P. Allis Co., and the work was done by the regular employees of the water works.

Although the high-pressure valve chamber shows no sign of weakness at present, it might be well as a precautionary measure to strengthen it also, unless it is deemed expedient, when the new engine is in commission, to replace all three valve chambers by stronger ones similar to those shown in the drawings of the new engine.

All the delivery valves in the high-pressure valve chamber have been replaced by new bushed valves. The air-pump valves have also been renewed. Two of the cage bolts were renewed, as the old ones were cracked, evidently by straining them beyond their elastic limit when they were first put in place.

During the year a number of interesting experiments have been made for the purpose of determining the relative economy of different plunger packings and lubricating oils. High grade Valvoline oil gave the best results, but its greater cost prohibited its adoption, and a cheaper grade of oil is now used.

A very exhaustive and careful test,—extending over a period of several months,—of two standard packings was made on the plungers of Engine No. 3. The data of the test (now on file at this station) showed that square flax packing properly treated with Dixon's flake graphite and mineral oil gave the best results, in regard to first cost and low friction qualities.

A new set of Tripp packing has been placed on the piston rods of the high-pressure cylinder of Engine No. 3, the old packing having been in use since the engine was first started in 1894. The packings on the intermediate and low-pressure piston rods are still in excellent condition, after eight years' service.

A mercurial vacuum regulator has been attached to the suction-pipe of the air extractor pump, by means of which the level of the water in this pipe is automatically maintained at any desired height above the air-chamber on the 24-inch suction-pipe, and the load on the air pump reduced to a minimum amount.

I subjoin the pumping record, all of which is respectfully submitted.

Very truly yours,

RICHARD J. FLINN,

Engineer.

HIGH-SERVICE ENGINEER'S REPORT.

HIGH-SERVICE PUMPING STATION,
BROOKLINE, February 1, 1902.

To the Brookline Water Board:—

GENTLEMEN,—I have the honor to present herewith the report of the Engineer of the high-service pumping station for the year ending January 31, 1902.

Boiler No. 1 is in good working condition. It was found early in the season that boiler No. 2 would require new tubing if it was to remain in service, and as the expense of re-tubing was nearly equal to the cost of a new boiler, the old boiler was removed and a new one set.

Both engines are in good condition, and are doing good work.

The buildings will require no outlay for repairs the coming season, with the exception of the coal shed, which needs a new roofing.

The past year has been favorable for the water department on account of abundant rains, and we have used less water and consequently less coal.

It is quite desirable that a damper regulator should be purchased for boiler No. 2.

The following tables show the records of this station the past year.

Respectfully submitted,

WILLIAM B. WEBBER,
Engineer.

REPORT OF THE PARK COMMISSIONERS.

The Board of Park Commissioners herewith submit their twenty-first annual report, for the year ending January 31st, 1902. The appropriations for the work under the charge of the Commissioners were as follows:—

Land for New Playgrounds.

Balance from appropriation of April 14, 1896	$55,191 20
Appropriation of April 11, 1900 (reappropriated)	100,000 00
Total	$155,191 20
Expended	124,651 10
Balance, January 31st, 1902	$30,540 10

Maintenance.

General appropriation for the maintenance of parks and public grounds, 1901	$10,300 00
Expended	8,656 58
Balance	$1,643 42

Of this general appropriation for maintenance, $1,300 was for the grading of the Marion-street triangle, of which but $46.60 has been expended, which reduces the general balance to $391.02.

On March 14, 1901, Mr. Charles H. Pearson, having been nominated for the office of Selectman, resigned his position upon this Board, and Mr. Albert L. Lincoln, Jr., was elected to fill the vacancy at a joint meeting of the Selectmen and Park Commissioners, held on December 9th, 1901.

Playgrounds.

The first appropriation of $100,000 for playgrounds was made April 14th, 1896, and the second appropriation of $100,000 was made on April 11th, 1900. Owing to many delays in negotiations, securing deeds, and other causes, the Board still had in hand at the beginning of the past year, a considerable portion of the first of these appropriations, and the whole of the second, although purchases of land had already been made which when paid for would exhaust a large part of the money.

Table No. 1. Land Purchased Before February 1, 1901.

No.		Sq. ft.	Acres.	Price Paid.
1.	Heirs of Thomas Winters, Heath street	12,125	0.28	$4,700 00
2.	Sylvester B. Hinckley, Warren street	157,288	3.61	15,733 80
3.	Chestnut Hill Land Co., Hammond and Newton streets	2,700,720	62.00	22,000 00
4.	David J. Quinn, Sewall school . . .	7,571	0.17	2,375 00
		2,877,704	66.06	$44,808 80

During the past year the Board has paid $15,000 for the Boylston-street school lot, referred to in the report of 1900; and also $29,094.10 for the playground between Washington and Beacon streets referred to in the last annual report. The first of these two parcels of land was purchased for the purpose of enlarging the playground in connection with the Boylston-street primary school; and the second, containing 182,235 square feet, or 4.18 acres, was purchased from the Griggs and other estates in the low marsh land between Washington and Beacon streets, for the purpose of providing a much needed playground for the children in that somewhat crowded neighborhood. In addition to the above, the Board has purchased 5.58 acres of land near Dean road and Beacon street, and adjoining the railroad, to secure a playground for that section of the town. The price paid was $45,000. In connection with this land, a small lot containing 2,935 square feet has been purchased from the city of Boston for $733.75, but the deed has not yet passed, and the money has not yet been paid.

The most important purchase made during the year is that of an addition of 62.6 acres to the large playground containing 62 acres at the corner of Newton and Hammond streets already in possession of the town. The addition has a long frontage on Newton street, and lies in such a position that a road may be built in the future, starting from Newton street near the corner of South street, encircling the whole of the town land, containing altogether about 125 acres, and connecting with Hammond street, which will give a street frontage to the whole area. The Board is much indebted to the efforts of Mr. Charles H. Pearson, a former Park Commissioner, and to Mr. William J. McDonald, the real estate broker, for valuable assistance in securing this property. The price paid was $35,557.00.

Upland Road Triangle.

At the special town meeting held on November 20th, 1901, authority was given to purchase the triangular piece of land surrounded by Upland road for $2,500, the residents in the vicinity of the triangle having subscribed a similar amount. The area of the triangle is 11,861 square feet. It is surrounded by trees, and very little work is required to put the land in perfect condition as far as grading is concerned.

As this triangle was secured by special appropriation it is not included in the accounts of this Board.

Maintenance.

All of the public grounds in the town, including parks, playgrounds, schoolhouse grounds, and the grounds in connection with the Town Hall and the Public Library, have been kept in good order. About half a mile of park drive has been resurfaced during the past year, and this work should be continued. A considerable amount of money has been expended under the special direction of Professor Charles S. Sargent in thinning out and pruning the trees on the Newton-street land.

A special allowance of $1,300 in the general appropriation was made last year for the grading of the Marion-street triangle, and of this amount there remains a balance of $1,253.40, which should be reappropriated by the town, as very little opportunity has occurred for doing this work economically during the past year, as explained in the report of the Town Engineer.

The following appropriations for maintenance are recommended for the ensuing year:—

Appropriations Recommended.

(a)	For general park maintenance	$9,000 00
(b)	For repairing park drives	500 00
(c)	For grading the site of the old Police Station	600 00
(d)	For grading and planting the Marion-street park, reappropriation	1,253 40
(e)	For grading and planting the land about the Devotion House	1,800 00
(f)	For grading land adjoining the Boylston primary school	100 00
(g)	For grading, surfacing, planting and fencing the Parsons school land, and the adjoining land	900 00
(h)	For improving the Devotion playground	200 00
(i)	For building steps to the Beacon-street playground from Dean road	100 00
(j)	For building wall, including coping, iron fence, entrance steps and grading at the Pierce primary school building	500 00

REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE ON PLANTING TREES.

There were planted during the past year 180 trees, as follows: Beacon street, 8; Thorndike, 3; St. Paul, 3; Crowninshield, 6; Stetson, 1; Winchester, 1; Francis, 1; Kenwood and Columbia, 41; Druce, 3; Carlton, 8; Babcock, 1; Addington road and path, 4; Evans and Williston roads, 41; Blake, 3; Holland, 29; Salisbury, 9; University, 1; Woman's Hospital, 17.

There were also planted 407 red oak on Boylston street, though these trees were bought and paid for by special appropriation.

Planting-holes for 48 trees have also been prepared on Kenwood and Columbia streets, and Stedman street will require 44 trees, which have been asked for. There are also in prospect, Fuller street 52, Gibbs 22, and Coolidge 40.

Ten roadside trees were removed on petition from abutters.

There was expended during the past year $2,410.14. Of this sum $2,398.14 was taken from the regular appropriation of $2,400, and the remaining $12 from the income of the Warren Tree Fund, which now amounts to about $225. The balance left from regular appropriation is therefore $1.86.

The coming of the Elm Leaf Beetle has been considered carefully, and steps will be taken to keep it within safe bounds during this season. The Brown Tail Moth is, in every way, a formidable difficulty; but the committee hopes by thorough work now to render the town wholly safe until next fall, when we are likely to have another invasion from adjoining territory.

A regular appropriation of $2,500 will be surely needed for current work, and an extra appropriation of $1,000 is asked for to meet additional expenses to be incurred in fighting the Brown Tail Moth and other injurious insects.

The Trustees report that the new receiving tomb has been finished. The old one has been removed, the grounds about the new structure have been graded and a new avenue has been built from the tomb to Grove street. This is intended for an exit for carriages in use at the tomb.

As soon as spring opens, some seeding will have to be done and a great improvement to the Cemetery will then be finished.

Some fencing should be built about the cottage; the old fence about the cemetery should be put in good repair, and the Trustees recommend an appropriation of $1,000 for these improvements and for completing the new driveway.

By the vote of the town passed November 20th, 1901, the care of the Old Brookline Cemetery is placed in the hands of the Trustees of Walnut Hills Cemetery.

This old and interesting spot has been neglected for many years. Several of the tombs are in need of repairs. The trees are in bad condition and must be pruned at once.

The surface of the ground has become very uneven from the sinking in of old graves and should receive a coat of loam to make it level. It will require several years to bring the old cemetery into good condition again, and the Trustees recommend that $1,000 be appropriated this year for the most important repairs.

FORTY-FIFTH ANNUAL REPORT
OF THE
TRUSTEES OF THE PUBLIC LIBRARY.

The Trustees of the Public Library, in making their annual report to the town, would in the first place call attention to the work of the Library. More and more it is taking its place as an educator, and therefore is more and more considered an essential in the daily lives of our citizens. The circulation is large and constantly increasing. The children's reading room is becoming almost insufficient to meet the demands made upon it; the school reference room is a decided success, administered by an assistant whose sole duty it is to supply the wants of the school children; and the department of photographs and art is patronized beyond our highest expectations.

All this means an intelligent and efficient force of assistants to carry on the Library's work. There is such a force of assistants, we believe, laboring faithfully and well. It has been found necessary to increase it by one additional, during the past year, and after a competitive examination, Miss Rose Heath, connected recently with the Medford Public Library, was selected. Miss Candage, a most able and courteous assistant, was compelled by illness to resign her position in the early autumn, and her place was filled by the selection of Miss Alice Burrage. The classification of the books of the Library is being still carried on by Miss Robbins, who has as her assistant Miss Kinsman. It will be about eighteen months before the work is actually completed. It was, and is, a laborious undertaking, but when finished will be well worth the pains and trouble given to it.

A most interesting occasion in the month of December was a gift to the town by the Hannah Goddard chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution. The Trustees of the Library were made the trustees of this gift, and cordially gave their consent to placing it on the Library's wall, over the card catalogue as one enters the building. The gift is a beautiful brass tablet commemorating the citizens of Brookline who rendered patriotic service either as soldiers or otherwise during the war of the Revolution. After much research on the part of the Hannah Goddard chapter it is believed that all their names have been ascertained, and they are inscribed on the tablet tastefully and distinctly.

It is believed to be the only instance in this country where such a work has been done, and we congratulate this patriotic society on having achieved it, and the town on being the recipient of this beautiful monument.

The Trustees wish to press upon the attention of the town the subject of a new library building, the need of which becomes more apparent with every year's use of the present one. The limit of available space for books has been nearly reached, while the working quarters are insufficient and have been for some time overcrowded. The rooms are badly ventilated, almost to the point of being unsanitary, and the structure in general is far from being fireproof. No satisfactory way of enlarging the present building has yet been devised and the temporary means of accommodating more books are very limited. The population is increasing rapidly, and it would seem advisable to prepare for a larger future.

REPORT OF THE LIBRARIAN.

BROOKLINE, MASS., February 1, 1902.

To the Trustees :—

I have the honor to submit my fourth annual report, for the year ending January 31, 1902.

Classification.

The system of numbering and arranging books on the shelves was adopted here many years ago when the library was small and before modern methods of classifying had been perfected. Consequently, with the rapid growth of the library, it became necessary to renumber the books in conformity with some standard scheme of classification.

Last spring a sufficient appropriation was obtained from the town to permit of employing two special classifiers; and the laborious undertaking of rearranging the books in accordance with the Dewey decimal classification was begun in May. Although serious defects in the card catalogue have made necessary its complete revision and the rewriting of many cards, it is probable that the work will require but little longer than the two years first estimated.

The classification has been carried on expeditiously and efficiently in charge of Miss Mary E. Robbins, an expert classifier; and the books have already been reclassified under the following general divisions—agriculture, domestic economy, landscape gardening, amusements (including indoor and outdoor games and the theater), and the two large classes of biography and history, except local New England history. Parts of various other sections have been classified, and all the current accessions.

When this work is completed, the library will be in excellent, up-to-date condition,—systematically classified, thoroughly and accurately catalogued.

Accessions.

As the books have been arranged in classes, notes have been made of places where the library seemed weak, and by judicious addition the collection is being rounded out. Broken sets of books and documents have been noted. Some of the gaps filled have been in the series of United States Census Reports, the Geological Survey, the publications of the Bostonian Society, the valuable reports of the American Historical Association, the Massachusetts Agricultural reports, and—through the kindness of Mrs. James M. Codman—in the Proceedings of the National Conference of Charities and Correction.

Four thousand one hundred and fifty-eight volumes have been received, as against 4,378 last year, and 4,441 the year previous. 471 volumes were gifts, 549 were added to replace worn copies, and 2,910 were new purchases. According to the reckoning carried on from year to year by adding accessions and subtracting books lost or discarded, the library now contains 58,866 volumes. So far as is known, an actual count of the volumes has not been made for about thirty years; and owing to the practice in early times of adding to the reckoning miscellaneous gifts which, because duplicates or without value, were never catalogued or incorporated in the library's collection, it is probable that this reckoning gives a considerably larger figure than will be obtained by an accurate count (to be made as soon as the classification is complete) of volumes actually recorded on the shelf-lists and catalogues.

In May last a net system of retailing books, except fiction, was adopted by booksellers and publishers, and the discount of 33 per cent usually given libraries was cut down to 10 per cent. It was expected that prices would be reduced coincidentally so that libraries would not pay over 8 per cent more than formerly. Unfortunately, that reduction does not seem to have followed. An examination of eighteen common series showed that the library paid from 12 per cent to 36 per cent more than formerly, the increase in cost averaging 24 per cent. The average cost per volume of the books purchased a year ago was $1.30, while the past year it was $1.47. As this average includes many volumes of fiction and old publications, it is probable that the cost of new books other than fiction has been at least 25 per cent higher than formerly. This fact accounts for the smaller number of accessions in spite of a larger expenditure for books.

Recent political events have so stimulated interest in the Spanish language that the library has gathered the nucleus of a collection of Spanish literature, having purchased twenty-six volumes and acquired five as a gift from the Hon. Charles H. Drew. A special list of this literature will be reprinted from the Bulletin as soon as the books are catalogued.

The collection of music has been enlarged by the addition of 160 volumes, the selection of which, as for a number of years past, has been made chiefly by Miss Hooper, the assistant librarian. This section has become an important department of the library, numbering 833 volumes. It embraces an unusually good collection of operas, of vocal, and especially of piano music. It contains also a small but well-chosen selection of violin music.

Within two months, as a beginning in the way of music for the parlor organ and the harmonium, thirty-five collections of organ pieces have been purchased at a cost of forty-five dollars; and a list of this music has been reprinted from the Bulletin. The library is greatly indebted to Mr. Edward Stanwood for his personal services in making the selection.

The music has been used more during the past year than ever before. Its circulation amounted to 2,985 volumes, which is 13 per cent more than in any previous year.

There is a dearth of books about music, and I respectfully recommend that at least a hundred dollars be allowed in our estimate for increasing this department. The library has also very few orchestral scores, and it is perhaps questionable whether the town's money should be spent for this expensive class of music, which is limited in its use to the more studious music-lovers of the community. Yet such music undoubtedly performs a high use, and its addition to the library would be an excellent object for private beneficence.

Special attention has been directed to increasing the department of fine arts, and besides current publications older standard works aggregating in cost about two hundred and fifty dollars have been purchased. Books upon architecture, however, are still needed.

A list of notable accessions is presented in appendix C.

Circulation.

A graduated chart accompanying this report shows the growth of the library from the beginning to the present. Separate lines represent the increasing number of volumes in the library, the extension of its circulation, the varying amounts appropriated for its support, and the growth of population.

Although the circulation of the school reference department is included, the appropriation for that department is not included, as it is distinct from the main library and under the joint control of the Library Trustees and the School Committee; and, moreover, the amount is balanced by a large expenditure for re-classification, which is hardly a proper charge against maintenance.

The most notable feature is the wonderfully rapid increase of population during the last score of years, and particularly in the last decade, which neither appropriation nor circulation have kept pace with.

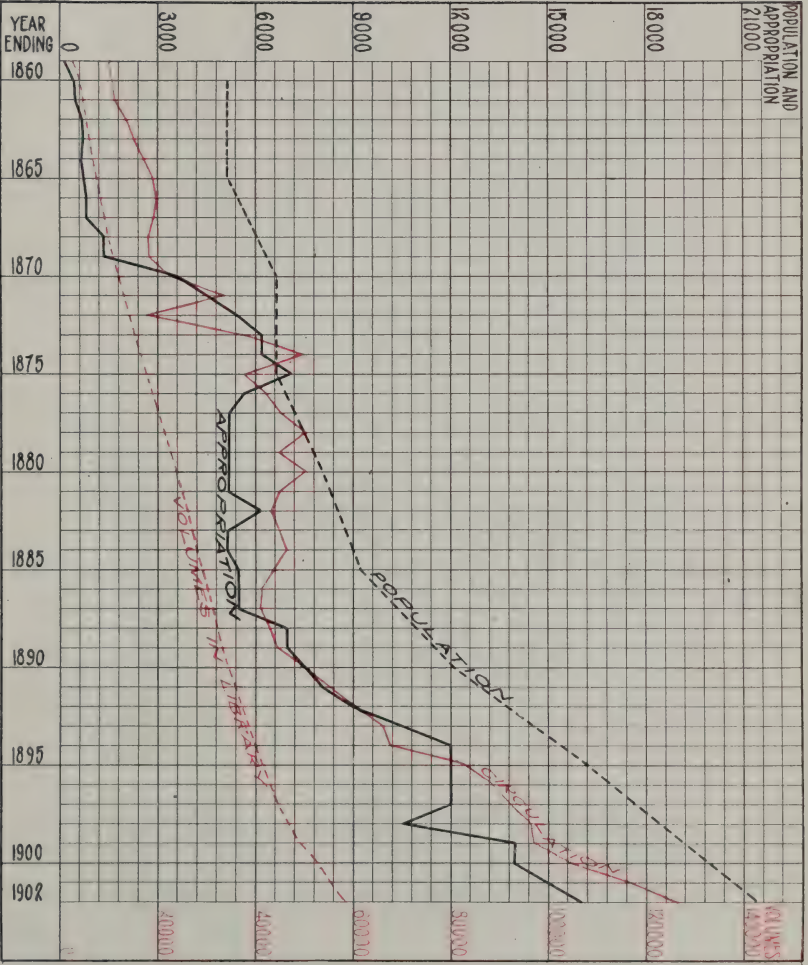

The circulation, however, is high compared with that of other municipalities. Statistics, published last March by the Cincinnati Public Library, representing over a hundred of the leading libraries showed the circulation in Brookline, which is 5.9 volumes per capita, to be larger in proportion to population than that tabulated for the library of any other city or town of equal or greater size.

Another feature is the remarkably close correspondence between appropriation and circulation. An increase of appropriation has been followed in almost every instance by an increase of circulation, and a decrease of appropriation by a falling off in circulation. It is apparent also that the circulation has been increasing at a much faster rate than the number of volumes owned by the library.

The statistics of volumes issued for home use the past year are again larger than ever before, the figures being 126,881 volumes against 118,092 the year previous, showing a gain of 8,789 volumes, or 7 4-10 per cent, and this in spite of private circulating libraries which have drawn away many previous patrons.

Most of the gain, however, has been secured by the increased issue of books through the schools and the children's room. Over a thousand new names have been added to the register, and yet the number of volumes issued at the delivery desk has been practically no larger than last year. It is evident, therefore, that with many who were previously borrowers, the place of the Public Library has been usurped by the private circulating libraries. This condition would be most welcome if their patrons continued to resort to the Public Library for more studious purposes. But the percentage of fiction in the books delivered at the desk—69 per cent this year against 68 per cent last—indicates that the subscribers to these circulating libraries are content with the literature they supply and forego altogether the use of the Public Library. This statement is particularly true of persons remote from the library. One or more branch libraries suitably located might check this tendency.

In this connection it may be noted that the percentage of fiction in the total issue of the library is 7 per cent less than that of the desk issue, owing to the larger proportion of "other works" drawn by children and the schools. Of the entire issue only 62 per cent was fiction, as against a corresponding figure of 63 per cent last year and of 68 per cent the year previous.

The sending of books by express to residents out of town for the summer did not work satisfactorily, owing to the cost of transportation; and consequently last summer such borrowers were allowed to draw and retain books for several weeks by means of special privilege slips. This plan gave general satisfaction, and some six hundred volumes were so issued.

In order to aid borrowers in securing books which are "out" at the time of application, the privilege has been granted of paying a cent for a printed postal card, by which notice is sent when the book is next "in." The book is then held for the borrower one day. This privilege, at first limited to works other than fiction, was in October last extended to cover all books in the library, except that in the case of a book so popular as to require duplication, one or more copies are not allowed to be secured in this way. About eleven hundred books have been applied for thus during the last three months. Although this arrangement involves much additional labor on the part of the library, it has given great satisfaction to patrons. It has resulted in placing in people's hands the books they particularly desire, and has thereby lessened the dissatisfied attempts to secure novels of current interest. While the library provided previously in some cases fifteen, and in one instance twenty copies of a popular novel without perceptibly appeasing the demand, since the adoption of this plan it has been unnecessary to purchase more than five copies of any work except in two cases, where six and eight respectively were bought; and it is seldom that any book is not supplied within three weeks from the time it is applied for.

Two hundred and fifty-five titles of fiction were added, against 311 titles in 1900.

Exhibitions.

Six exhibitions of pictures have been held, as follows:—

In March were displayed thirty-four photographs from our own collection, showing paintings by artists represented in the notable exhibition of "Pictures of Fair Children" in Boston. An illustrated catalogue of that exhibition circulated by the library was much used.

In September was shown a collection of photographs of Orvieto and its art treasures.

In November forty-three large pictures of scenery in Canada and among the Canadian Rockies excited much interest; while still more visitors were attracted in December by a set of photographs of the picturesque mountains, rivers, and cañons of Colorado.

School-children and art-lovers were interested in photographs of paintings by Albert Dürer, exhibited in January, followed two weeks later by a series of fine reproductions of his drawings.

All of these collections except the first were the property of the Library Art Club.

Without question such exhibitions are of great educational value; but the library needs for these displays a larger and more convenient place than the present reference room, where there is difficulty in seeing the pictures and danger of disturbing readers.

Miscellaneous Matters.

The poor ventilation in Gardner Hall, which has been the source of much complaint, was remedied so far as is possible without a large expenditure of money by cutting holes in the ceiling and connecting them with a ventilator on the roof. The atmosphere of this room has thereby been greatly improved.

As long ago as 1875 the lack of ventilation in the main library was commented upon in the report of the Trustees. Since then this condition has grown materially worse, owing to the fact that three times as many persons frequent the library now as at that date. The existing means of ventilation supplemented by window boards and open windows is inadequate; and on busy afternoons the air becomes so close and exhausted as to affect employees, and, I fear, constitute a serious menace to their health. I would respectfully recommend that consideration be given to remedying these conditions, as far as may be possible.

In order to provide for the increase of books, three intermediate cases of shelving were constructed in the rear alcoves, and several thousand volumes of duplicates, documents, etc., stored in the second story were disposed of. The shelf room thus gained has no more than equaled current accessions, and 430 feet of new shelving, or cases about 60 feet long, will be required to accommodate the normal growth of the coming year.

Children's Department.

Notable work is being done in the school reference department which is exciting interest outside of Brookline. The school reference librarian and the librarian have been called upon to describe this work on a dozen different occasions before meetings of library associations, teachers' institutes, normal school associations, education societies, and similar organizations.

The general character of our aims and methods has been presented in previous reports. The statistics show that 15,976 volumes have been circulated through the schools (against 9,618 volumes last year), and of this number only 4,599, or less than 29 per cent, were works of fiction. Five thousand five hundred and fifty-five visits have been made by children to the school reference room, chiefly for work in connection with lessons, and 14,308 visits have been made to the children's reading room. The collection of books for use in the schools now numbers 2,628 volumes, and the collection in the children's room embraces 981 volumes more. Eight sets of stereoscopic views, purchased on recommendation of the Superintendent of Schools, have been borrowed by teachers, and proved a valuable aid in the study of geography and history.

The elementary talks on methods of using a library and on the principles of consulting indexes, encyclopædias, and the card catalogue, have been given to all pupils in the eighth grammar grade, but the more advanced talks upon reference books have yet to be given to the ninth grades. This feature, I am convinced, is of great value.

The most notable innovation was simple bibliographical work undertaken by pupils of one eighth grade and three ninth grade classes. Each pupil was assigned a topic in English or American history, and was sent to find and make a list of every reference—book, article, chapter, even paragraph or footnote—bearing on his subject to be found in the collection in the school reference room. Any one observing the process could hardly fail to appreciate the benefit to be gained from it in judgment, in thoroughness, and in knowledge and facility in dealing with books. This work, which was done out of school hours, appeared to be an agreeable task, for many of the pupils after sifting the school reference collection continued the search voluntarily in the main library.

With a view to encouraging systematic reading among young people, the library published in The Chronicle last June a list divided in groups of five related books; and, through the generosity of Dr. Tappan E. Francis and the Rev. Leonard K. Storrs, was able to offer a book as a prize to the child who after reading the books of a group during the school vacation should write the most appreciative essay upon one of them. A number of children began the reading, but only three completed it. Miss Hazel Canning presented a paper of unusual merit, and was awarded a handsomely bound, two-volume edition of Bryant's translation of the Iliad.

Provision for issuing books from the children's room to children under twelve years of age, who by the by-laws may not draw books from the main library, has been the greatest need of the juvenile department. In the summer some books for circulation were placed in the children's room as an experiment. During July and August 275 different children borrowed 990 volumes from this collection, and without any resulting confusion or ill-treatment of books beyond reasonable wear. In January an addition to the staff made it possible to extend this work and to issue regularly to children under twelve years of age cards which entitle them to borrow books from the children's room. It is found advisable to deprive of this privilege for a limited period children who fail to return a book within the time limit, rather than to charge fines. In all 453 children have taken out cards, and 2,485 volumes have been borrowed, 58 per cent of which were fiction.

Service.

In October Miss Phebe T. Candage resigned after nearly four years of service conspicuous for fidelity and zeal. Her place was filled by the promotion of Miss Charlotte M. Allen and the addition to the staff of Miss Alice Burrage, who had served previously in classifying. In December an examination of candidates was held, and Miss Rose Heath, who passed the highest examination, received an appointment as assistant. Miss Lucy L. Carter, as a volunteer, has rendered valuable service in cataloguing.

It is a pleasure to record here my appreciation of the loyalty and enthusiasm of the members of the Library staff, and the consideration and coöperation of the Trustees.

Respectfully submitted,

HILLER C. WELLMAN,

Librarian.

REPORT.

The School Committee of the town of Brookline herewith submit their annual report for the year ending January 31, 1902. The members of the Board, as now constituted, with the dates when their terms of service respectively expire, are shown on the opposite page.

The Board organized by the choice of Prentiss Cummings as chairman, and Joseph Walker as secretary, and the following sub-committees were appointed:—

On Buildings—Michael Driscoll, Everett M. Bowker, Walter Channing.

On Teachers—J. Emory Hoar, Mrs. Elizabeth Cabot, Mrs. Edith C. Baker.

On Finance—Joseph Walker, Michael Driscoll, William H. Lyon.

On Course of Study and Text Books—Prentiss Cummings, J. Emory Hoar, Mrs. Elizabeth Cabot.

The various schools were assigned for visitation and inspection as follows:—

High, Prentiss Cummings, J. Emory Hoar; Boylston and Lincoln, Mrs. Edith C. Baker; Cabot and Parsons, William H. Lyon; Devotion and Pierce Primary, Everett M. Bowker; Heath and Runkle, Walter Channing; Lawrence, Longwood, and Newton, Mrs. Elizabeth Cabot; Pierce Grammar and Winthrop, Michael Driscoll; Sewall, Joseph Walker.

Mrs. Paine was appointed to fill the vacancies on the various sub-committees occasioned by the death of Mrs. Cabot.

The details as to the appointments and changes of teachers will appear in statements appended to this report.

School Accommodations.

Since the preparation of our last report, a contract has been made with Messrs. Mead, Mason & Co., of Boston, for the erection of the new Manual Training building, and a contract with Henry Bulman of New Bedford for the erection of the new Runkle building. It is the expectation of the Committee that these buildings will be ready for occupancy with the opening of school in September, and that the appropriation made for each of these two buildings will not be entirely used. Instead of depending on any unexpended balances, however, it has seemed wise to the Committee to ask at the approaching annual town meeting independent appropriations for furnishing and fitting for occupancy these two buildings. The cost of so equipping the Manual Training building will, of absolute necessity, be large. Included in this undertaking is the providing of engines, dynamos, motors, and a variety of other articles, the first cost of which is great. In this connection we remind the town that every such building enterprise as those now under discussion involves an increase in the annual cost of maintaining the schools. It is evident that a considerable increase in the cost of fuel is involved, that additional janitor service must be secured, that the employment of additional teachers becomes necessary, and that numerous incidental expenses which it is impossible to particularize in advance are certain to follow on such enlargements.

In reference to the building for manual training, it is perhaps well to remind the town that the laws of the commonwealth now require that manual training be taught in high schools in municipalities of twenty thousand inhabitants or over, thus extending greatly the scope of high school instruction. As far back as 1647 the Province required towns of one hundred families to maintain not only common schools but grammar schools—"grammar" meaning "Latin" grammar—the intent being to give children a fit for college; and thus provision was made at public expense for the elementary training of such as designed entering the learned professions. The law as to manual training alluded to is the outgrowth of a sentiment that such discrimination is unfair and unwise, that scholars who may have no special aptitude for books, and who design becoming artisans and mechanics, should have an elementary high school training adapted in a general way to their after lives, and that skilled mechanics are as important to the public and justify expenditure of public moneys as much as other classes. This does not mean that trades are to be taught in the high school any more than professions are taught, but that such instruction be given as will afford a solid foundation for either when in after life a special vocation is selected. The building erected is considerably larger than is needed at the present time; but Brookline is growing so rapidly that it would have been a mistake economically and otherwise to have provided less accommodations than it affords.

In the last report of the Board the needs of a new structure for the Heath school were set forth at considerable length. During the year which has since elapsed, a vigorous effort to secure a suitable site for a new building has been made, but thus far no success has attended such efforts. Feeling itself compelled to such action by force of circumstances, at the last town meeting the Board asked of the town authority to procure plans and estimates looking to the erection of a new building on the present Heath street lot. While this course of action is not entirely acceptable to the Committee, the need of the Heath school is so urgent that the Board feels that the matter should be no longer delayed. In case a new structure is to be built on the Heath-street lot, no more convenient time than the present is likely to offer itself. It is probable that the very youngest children could be provided for in a portion of the present building, which might be moved to another part of the lot and fitted up for temporary occupancy, while the older children could perhaps be accommodated at the new Runkle building, which for a year or more will have certain unoccupied rooms.

During the summer of 1901 the special appropriation for painting the interiors of the Devotion and Pierce grammar buildings was used for that purpose. The color scheme for the Pierce building was dictated by Mr. J. A. Schweinfurth, its architect, and a similar scheme for the Devotion building was secured from a competent source. The result of this expenditure has proven entirely satisfactory to the Committee.

During the year many minor repairs to the interiors of the several buildings of the town have been made, included therewith being careful attention to plumbing and to all apparatus for heating and ventilating.

The building committee looks with favor on a suggestion made by the Superintendent of Schools, that a slightly different policy be adopted in the management of interior repairs. This suggestion is to the effect that certain buildings most in need of attention be singled out, a careful estimate of the cost of interior renovation be obtained, and that a grant of money be specially assigned for the purpose. This policy, if pursued for a short term of years, would give us a body of school buildings whose interiors would be in a thoroughly satisfactory condition. In the past, the cost of interior repairs has been met by making drafts on the general appropriation, subject to calls from many different directions, and as a result there has rarely been a year in which the Committee found it possible to effect all the repairs which seemed to them urgently necessary.

Gifts.

The Committee take pleasure in acknowledging the receipt of many valuable works of art for the decoration of our schoolhouses during the year. Such decorations in the assembly rooms and hallways are not only a great ornament, but are full of instruction, and have a refining influence on every class of pupils. The most considerable gift was made by our fellow-townsmen, Mr. Caleb Chase, amounting to one thousand dollars for the decoration of the assembly hall in the Pierce grammar school; and this sum was expended for statues, busts, and bas-reliefs in plaster selected largely by Mr. William H. Lincoln, which are a positive addition to the art treasures of the town.

Other gifts received are as follows:—

J. Elliot Cabot school: From Pauline Pollard, framed portrait of Longfellow.

Edward Devotion school: From class of '01, portrait of Dante; from Alfred T. Waite, group photograph of class of '01.

Lawrence school: From class of '01, the sum of twenty-five dollars for books, slides etc.; from Wilder Pollard, picture of Abraham Lincoln; from Fordham Kimball, picture of Greek heroes.

Parsons school: From Miss Mabel Cabot, bas-relief of "The Trumpeters" by Luca della Robbia.

Pierce school: From the Art Committee of the Brookline Education Society, a collection of pictures valued at two hundred and fifty dollars.

Runkle school: From the Daughters of the American Revolution, three flags; from Mrs. H. S. Ballou, a picture of the Madonna della Sedia.

Sewall school: From Mrs. C. M. Baker, pictures of "The Shepherdess," the Sistine Madonna, "Niagara Falls" and "Song of the Lark."

Physical Training.

The details relative to physical training, evening schools, and the summer school appear in the report of the Superintendent hereto appended, to which reference may be made. Mental and moral well-being depend so much on physical well-being, that the Committee regard the health of school children second to nothing within the scope of its duties. The summer school is somewhat in the line of physical culture, and appears to have proved its usefulness. The evening schools are not as fully attended as we could wish, but are worth all they cost.

Penny Savings.

During the fiscal year just closing, the system of penny savings has been carried on by the clerk of the School Committee, assisted by teachers of the several schools. Such success as has attended its operation is chiefly due to the zeal and well directed efforts of these individuals. In making the subjoined statement of the cost of operating the Penny Savings system for the year, it should be observed that no account is made of the large amount of labor which has been performed. If this fact is lost sight of, the statement of expense is quite misleading.

Mrs. Elizabeth Cabot.

In December of the year the town and the Committee suffered a great loss by the death of Mrs. Cabot, for twelve years a member of the Board. She was a woman intelligent, earnest, and sincere, who gave lavishly to the public of her time and strength, and to the Committee was a prudent adviser and a faithful friend. The Board has entered upon its minutes the following tribute to her memory:—

The School Committee of the town of Brookline wish to place on record their profound sorrow at the death of Mrs. Elizabeth Cabot, their warm appreciation of her character, her ability, and her devotion to the duties of her office, and their heartfelt sympathy with her family, particularly with her husband, formerly a member and the Chairman of this Board, after whom one of the schoolhouses of the town is named. As one of this Committee since March 27, 1889, she brought to the service of the community an intelligence already ripe, yet fresh and sound, which steadily gave and grew as years lengthened opportunity and gathered experience. She was sensitive to the needs and awake to the ideas of the advancing day, and at the very time of her death was proposing improvement according to the latest light in one of the branches of popular education. Her courtesy was unfailing, yet never at the sacrifice of independence, so that love and respect vie with each other for the foremost place in recollection. Her intercourse with her associates and with the teachers and pupils of the schools was marked by a refinement of nature and a dignity of bearing which were in themselves an education, yet which never repelled confidence or cooled affection. To the community she furnished an unconscious example of the generous devotion of talent and leisure to the public welfare, and of the voluntary sacrifice of time and comfort to labor that was often arduous and always active. The Town has had no better friend, and the School Committee softens its regret at her death with these happy memories of her life.

School Sessions.

Many years ago the practice was begun in Brookline of holding but one daily session, owing to the fact that the schoolhouses were so far apart and ministered to so wide a territory that pupils could not easily go to their homes for dinner and return during the intermission. This practice is usual everywhere in high schools for similar reasons, but is almost unknown in grammar and primary schools, Brookline being almost or quite alone in this particular. The conditions which led to the practice with us still continue to some extent, notably in the Heath school, but with the increase in population and in the number of schoolhouses will soon have disappeared utterly, and the Committee for many years have considered the general question whether the change of conditions, when it is complete, should lead to a corresponding change back to the well-nigh universal practice elsewhere of two daily sessions five days in the week. Some years ago a committee consisting of Dr. Channing, and Messrs. Walker and Driscoll, sent letters of inquiry to a number of noted educators and medical men, to ascertain their opinions as to the relative merits of the two methods, and the weight of opinion was found to be decidedly in favor of two sessions, both as affecting the health and the proficiency of school children. It is clear upon a moment's reflection that five hours' continuous mental work as strenuous as is necessary to secure the greatest efficiency in the schools, would be a severe strain for a healthy man, and is still less suited to the still immature child in the grammar and primary grades. It is a provision of nature for their safety that the mind is apt to become dull and listless during the last hour or two of the session, and thus health is preserved at the expense of progress. Moreover, the sessions in Brookline begin at half-past eight in the morning and continue to half-past one — and it is hardly practicable to begin earlier — with the result that children cannot take the noon meal with the family, and are about equally injured whether they go without a lunch, or take such a lunch as is practicable in school hours, thus preventing a healthy appetite when they reach their homes at about two o'clock. On the other hand, with the morning session so shortened that the pupil could take the noon meal at home, and a sufficient intermission for out-of-door air, exercise, and change of scene, the afternoon session would involve no serious tension of the mind, and would be as profitable as the morning session. A mere statement of the facts leads almost inevitably to the conclusion that, considered merely as a school question, two sessions for children of the intermediate grades are preferable. On the other hand, changes in themselves are always objectionable, and this particular change would be unwelcome to teachers in most cases, particularly, as owing to circumstances for which they are not to blame, many of them live out of town, and would interfere with uses of the afternoon which are prized by both pupils and parents; so that the question is not purely a school question. While acknowledging the general principle that during a child's school days the claims of the school ought to be paramount, these objections are felt by the the Committee to be serious. The Board contemplate no hasty action in so important a matter, nor think the time ripe for a change in any case; but they do think the time has come for considering a change in the grammar and primary schools, while continuing the present single session in the High School and in the kindergartens.

Financial.

For the maintenance of the schools during the fiscal year 1901-02, the town appropriated the exact sums recommended by the School Committee. These sums were marked as the result of careful and detailed estimates of the necessary expenditures of the year. While not extravagant in amount, they were yet liberal. It is fair subject for congratulation that no supplementary grants of money for ordinary expenses have been asked for during the year, and that today shows an unexpended balance in each item of the annual budget. A summary of the financial operations of the year is herewith submitted:—

REPORT OF THE SUPERINTENDENT.

To the School Committee of Brookline:—

The regulations for the public schools contain the following provision: "The school year shall begin on the second Monday of September and shall consist of forty weeks, not including Christmas week and the week beginning on the first Monday of April." Our last complete school year, to which, in considerable measure, this report relates, began with Monday, September 10th, 1900, and ended, nominally, with Friday, June 28th, 1901. Forty unbroken weeks of school would yield a total of two hundred working days. Instead of that number, it appears from the records of the school year now under consideration, that the schools were actually in session upon 186 days. Having in mind the facts that the daily session of our elementary schools is shorter than the session common in American schools, and that, in a number of the schools, the integrity of the year is impaired by the late return and the early departure of many pupils, it is clearly evident that the time actually at our disposal is scarcely adequate to the demands which the present times make upon the public school.

The law of the commonwealth makes it the duty of the several school committees to ascertain and record the names and ages of all persons between five and fifteen years of age residing in their respective towns and cities on the first day of September. According to the Brookline census of 1900, the town contained 3032 such persons, an increase of 98 over the preceding year. To public school authorities the matter of attendance upon school must always be of prime importance. We may freely admit the desirability, even the necessity, of various forms of instruction which public schools do not attempt to provide. Attendance at a gymnasium, lessons in dancing, music, riding, etc., have an important place in the training of youth, but such advantages must be secured by the initiative of the individual parent, who will, if a good citizen, do his best to make such arrangements as will least interfere with the efficiency of the public school which his child attends. Public school authorities, whose duty it is to guard the interests of the schools intrusted by the people to their care, can only be content with the prompt, willing, and constant attendance of all children not otherwise satisfactorily provided for.

Promptness in attendance implies the absence of tardiness. During the school year under discussion, teachers have made an earnest and continued effort to diminish the amount of tardiness which had been during the preceding year unnecessarily and discredibly large. In general, the home has co-operated readily and effectively in this effort. Occasionally a parent is met who thinks the teacher fussy and finical because he insists upon the punctual attendance of the pupil, instead of allowing him to loiter in some minutes late. Such persons seem to think that the presence (or absence) of tardy marks upon the school register is of no great importance, and that the matter has no further significance. This view is quite inadequate. If it is the fact that the central aim of the public school is effective moral training, and if such a result must be largely secured by the daily practice of such homely virtues as punctuality, industry, courtesy, neatness, etc., then teachers would fail in their duty if they did not exert their whole influence to secure entire promptness on the part of all pupils. In this matter of tardiness, the record of certain schools is much less satisfactory than the record achieved in other schools no more favorably circumstanced, but perhaps no good would result from public mention of the schools whose record, in this respect, is still unsatisfactory.

During the school year 1900-1901 the total enrollment of pupils was 3635, an increase of 31 over the figures for the preceding year. The following tables will afford further information as to the enrollment for the last year:—

For purposes of further comparison the following table, corresponding to one which appeared in my last report, may prove of convenience. It relates to the second month of the school year, when most of our children have returned to school:—

It will be remembered that the figures of these several tables all relate to the school year which closed in June, 1901. For the convenience of any who may wish later information, I have prepared two tables relating to the second month of the current school year, a month ending on November 1, 1901. Similar tables appear in the report of last year:—

Belated Pupils.

At my request the principal of each of our five fully graded grammar schools has prepared a table which affords interesting information as to the ages of all pupils at present belonging to Grade IX. By way of explanation it should be remarked that the age of each pupil in years and months has been reckoned up to July 1, 1902, when most of the number will leave the grammar school. Collating the returns referred to above, I obtain the following:—

	Whole number belong- ing to Gr. IX.	Between 12 and 13	Between 13 and 14	Between 14 and 15	Between 15 and 16	Between 16 and 17	Between 17 and 18	Between 18 and 19
School A	40	1	3	14	9	9	4
B	13		4	5	2	2
C	31		3	9	11	6	1	1
D	37		5	9	18	3	1	1
E	62	1	9	19	19	8	6
	183	2	24	56	59	28	12	2

Before offering any comments on the above table, it seems necessary to determine the age which shall be regarded as normal for each grade, and I suggest—

For grade 1 the age of 6 years.
"	"	2	"	7	"
"	"	3	"	8	"
"	"	4	"	9	"
"	"	5	"	10	"
"	"	6	"	11	"
"	"	7	"	12	"
"	"	8	"	13	"
"	"	9	"	14	"

It should also be observed that the school department is not to be held responsible for cases which may be regarded exceptional. As illustrations of exceptional cases, I may cite (a) pupils who enter our schools from another town or city, being of over age at time of their admission; (b) pupils whose school life has been spent in Brookline, but the continuity of which has been broken by a long period of unavoidable absence; (c) pupils whose physical condition has been such as to cause very frequent absence from school, or to preclude them, if present, from performing the prescribed work. Making due allowance for all such considerations as the above, I am still of opinion that the facts indicated by the preceding table are distinctly disquieting. From that table it appears that 55 per cent of these ninth-grade pupils will be past fifteen years of age, and 23 per cent of them will be past sixteen years of age, at the completion of their grammar school course. While the table may be subjected to other analyses which will render interesting results, I call attention to only one of them. I find that the average age of the 59 pupils who constitute the number between 15 and 16 years of age is 15 years 5.8 months.

It will be generally agreed, I think, that pupils should complete the elementary school course at ages earlier than are indicated by the unsatisfactory portions of our table. Whether they are to enter on the secondary stage of education at school, or whether they are to begin upon some craft or vocation—and it should be remembered that the beginning must usually be at the foot of the ladder—it is clear that the work of the elementary school should be accomplished at an earlier age than is now the case in very many instances. Lack of space prevents me from discussing certain deplorable results which follow from the facts I have pointed out, but a word which may explain these facts is certainly pertinent. First let me suggest that it is easily possible to make the elementary school course so extended or so difficult that many pupils require more than a year to accomplish the amount assigned to a given grade. We must remember also certain insidious temptations to which teachers are liable. When kindergartens are maintained, the zealous kindergartner, filled with the faith which is so creditable to her, is loath to have children leave her care until they have come well up to the ideals which she cherishes.

In primary and grammar classes, teachers who naturally feel that their efficiency will be judged somewhat by the condition of promoted pupils, are tempted to hold back pupils who have not satisfied their expectations. Then, too, in children's early days parents sometimes fail to realize the importance of a year. In the closing portion of the grammar school course, the year which at five or six years of age seemed of little significance, has assumed marked consequence. Without extending this somewhat general discussion, I am confident that the matter of age conditions in our schools demands serious consideration. By persistent attention all along the line, and continuous through a series of years, I have no doubt that distinct improvement can be effected.

Backward Children.

As is the case in all communities, we have among our pupils a certain number of children whose needs cannot be met by the public school. Their presence makes unreasonable demands on the time and energy of teachers, and involves a measure of injustice to the more fortunate children. Teachers would raise no objections to these demands were they not conscious that their efforts, however earnest, are in chief measure ineffectual. We are told by those competent to express an opinion that in each hundred pupils one defective is likely to be found. Such recent investigations as have been made in Brookline confirm the accuracy of this estimate. In November, 1900, I addressed an inquiry to teachers, designed to elicit information on the topic now under discussion. Again, in November, 1901, a similar inquiry was made. In both instances teachers were cautioned not to return the names of slow or backward children, nor the names of those whose progress might have been hindered by defective organs of sight or hearing. My purpose was to learn the number of pupils whose mental endowment is so far from the normal type as to demand that they be afforded special teaching. In November, 1901, as will be observed, pupils in general were not in charge of the same teachers, as in November, 1900. Accordingly, each report is independent in character, and it was gratifying to find that the second was confirmatory of the first. From the two it appears that we have in Brookline between thirty and forty children whose needs are of such a nature that they should be withdrawn from the regular class rooms, assembled in small groups of fifteen or thereabouts, and intrusted to teachers who by sympathy and special preparation are qualified for this difficult form of instruction. If we have in mind the fact that our pupils number roughly three thousand, it will be seen that the number reported in response to my inquiry constitutes just about one per cent of the entire enrollment.

The present seems an opportune time for invoking public interest in these children, whose needs are so great, and whose claims upon us are so imperative. With the opening in September of the Manual Training building on Tappan street, one or more rooms in the Lincoln building will be vacated, and I hope that we shall then be fully ready to organize a special class under the charge of the most competent teacher to be found. In my judgment it is not too early to begin an immediate quest for such teacher. I realize fully and sympathize heartily with the reluctance of parents to admit even to themselves that a certain child may not be as other children are. The child, however, has a right, even though he cannot make it known, to the wisest treatment which our present knowledge enables us to afford him. To estimate this right fairly we must do more than consider the present state of the child who may, if a girl, be able to care for baby and perform very simple household tasks, and if a boy, show the same slight measure of efficiency. In simple justice to the child, whose one opportunity is the present, we are bound to look forward a dozen or a score of years and picture the man or woman of that later time. In the light of such reflection we shall certainly be right in exerting the strongest possible influence upon parents, to the end that no improvable pupil shall fail to secure the best possible training through the mistaken sympathy of parents or friends.

School Buildings.

If I am correctly informed, it has not been the recent custom of the school department, in making estimates for the fiscal year, to provide specifically for such interior repairs of magnitude as seemed urgent. An exception to this policy is to be found in the appropriation at the last annual meeting of $2750 for the interior painting of the Edward Devotion and the Pierce grammar buildings. This work was performed during the long vacation, under competent direction, and the results are most satisfactory. Usually, I think, the School Board has included in its estimates a single lump sum—ordinarily none too large—to be devoted to interior repairs, and has pursued what might almost be denominated a “hand to mouth” policy, making such repairs as necessity rendered most urgent, and paying for the same out of “unexpended balances not otherwise appropriated.” Encouraged by our experience in the two buildings just named, I suggest to the Board the expediency and wisdom of adopting as a steady policy the plan of selecting each year a certain number of buildings, learning by careful estimates the cost of interior renovation, and including such an item in the annual budget. As an early result of such a policy we should soon have all schoolhouse interiors in satisfactory condition, and a steady adherence to this policy will keep them in such a state. The Boylston, Parsons, and Winthrop—each a four-room building, and each in urgent need of attention—might well be taken in hand during the coming summer.

With a single exception our schoolhouses are so located as to accommodate well the pupils who attend them. The Longwood building is located on St. Mary's street, which constitutes the extreme limit of Brookline territory. The disadvantages of such a location are obvious and, should the time come when increased accommodations are needed in this neighborhood, the expediency of abandoning the present site should be considered. Reference was made in my last report to the unsatisfactory condition of the Heath building. Since such report was written we have gone on for a year amid the discomfort and inconvenience which have so long prevailed. The Heath school seems to have been the Cinderella of our educational family, and it is greatly to be hoped that the day of its deliverance is not far distant. If the present site should be abandoned and another chosen, great care should be taken to keep well away from the Runkle building, which, as enlarged, will contain ten schoolrooms, with the possibility of adding two to the number by dividing what will for the present be left as a hall. The building operations of the current year have been the Runkle school enlargement just alluded to, and the erection of the Manual Training building. A brief discussion of each will afford me convenient opportunity for calling attention to some matters of importance which deserve consideration at the present time.

John D. Runkle School.

It is confidently expected that the enlarged Runkle building will be ready for occupancy at the opening of the next school year, September, 1902. As already stated, the building will contain ten commodious class-rooms, and a hall which will, in case of future necessity, afford two other school-rooms. In addition to the foregoing, the building contains a kindergarten and rooms for instruction in cooking, sewing and sloyd, thus affording adequate accommodations for a fully graded grammar school. At present the attendance at the Runkle building is composed of pupils from the kindergarten to grade V., distributed as follows:

Pupils in Kindergarten	19
Pupils in Grade I.	29
Pupils in Grade II.	25
Pupils in Grade III.	22
Pupils in Grade IV.	25
Pupils in Grade V.	27
	<hr/>
	147

Upper grade children of the Runkle neighborhood at present accommodated at the Devotion building are classified as follows:—

In Grade V.	1
In Grade VI.	10
In Grade VII.	10
In Grade VIII.	12
In Grade IX.	2

Although the enlarged Runkle building will accommodate a much greater number of pupils than the 182 shown by the above tables, I suggest to the Board that it may be wise to defer the organization of a ninth grade and possibly the organization of an eighth grade at the Runkle. The reasons which underlie this suggestion are two in number, one of the financial sort and the other relating to efficient instruction. We have already five ninth grades and five grammar principals. Inasmuch as the salaries of our principals are relatively large it seems inexpedient to increase their number until circumstances fully justify such action. If deemed advisable to meet such charge it would be cheaper for the School department to pay car-fares of eighth and ninth grade pupils to another school, until their numbers shall so increase as to quite warrant the organization of such classes at the Runkle. From the standpoint of instruction, I remind the Board that it is our present custom to offer to pupils of grade VIII. an opportunity to begin the study of French, and to pupils of grade IX. an opportunity to begin the study of Latin. It will be generally agreed that it would be better to leave these languages entirely alone unless the instruction in them is given them by really superior teachers. Since it is always difficult to find enough teachers of such character, and since for some time to come classes in French and Latin at the Runkle would of necessity be very small, in respect to language teaching, the welfare of the eighth and ninth grade pupils will be served best at another building.

Manual Training Building.

As in case of the Runkle, so it is expected that the Manual Training High School building will be occupied in September. Somewhat in line with the remarks just made in connection with the former building are certain considerations which pertain to the latter.

If it be remembered that the population of Brookline is a scant twenty thousand, that the community is not distinctively an industrial community, and that the High School numbers at present only 348 pupils (boys 165, girls 183), I think it will be clearly evident that for some years to come very wise and conservative management will be demanded. With so large a permanent investment, it would evidently be the part of folly to so stint appropriations for current expenses as to cripple in the least degree the efficiency of the instruction. In spite of all efforts to the contrary, however, a distinct increase in expenditures must attend the occupancy of this large building. The cost of fuel, light, power, engineer and janitor service, not to mention incidental expenses, will certainly call for a material increase in appropriations. It is not to be inferred from the foregoing that I regard the erection of this building as a mistake. For a time we shall present the unusual spectacle of a community having school accommodations in excess of existing demands. To these accommodations we shall undoubtedly grow, and meanwhile it devolves upon the school authorities to administer so prudently this enlargement of the High School that its interests may not suffer through any reaction in public opinion. While I thus emphasize the necessity of great prudence in expenditure, I have no disposition to urge a penny wise and pound foolish policy. Not only should the students in this school be given the best instructors which can be secured for them, but the entire equipment surrounding them—boilers, engines, dynamos, machinery of all sorts—should be of the very latest and best pattern, and to equip it with antiquated fixtures would surely be a foolish contradiction. In the future, as efforts are put forth to make this great plant earn a dividend, it is quite possible that it may be found expedient to offer evening instructions to adults, and otherwise to enlarge the scope of its operations. Turning now to the more distinctly educational aspects of the items under discussion, I first suggest that, for years to come, this building should be regarded simply as an addition to the existing high school. One head-master will suffice for two or three times the present number of pupils. A single-headed administration should insure unity and coherence in the instruction given, there should be no duplicating of academic instruction. At present 71 boys are now engaged in shop work and 79 girls pursuing domestic science. Perhaps it is generally understood that in the United States at least, we have gone further in the development of satisfactory manual courses for boys in secondary schools than we have thus far done for girls. And this leads to the suggestion that while we can see our way for the near future with considerable clearness so far as the boys are concerned, with reference to the girls the case is quite otherwise.

For many years in the American high school the intellectual and social élite commonly pursued the classical course. A very large proportion of the principal's time was usually devoted to these pupils. They also received a large measure of attention from the best equipped and highest paid associate teachers. During recent years the needs of pupils—boys commonly—who were destined for scientific or technical schools have been increasingly provided for. General courses of study, designed for those pupils whose final education was not to extend beyond the secondary schools, have been broadened and strengthened. In this improvement both sexes have shared. Later still commercial courses have been established in a considerable number, the character of which may be readily inferred from the term which describes them. In the case of classical, scientific and commercial courses it is evident that attempts have been made to establish a connection between education at school and vocation in life. If it must be admitted that high schools in the early stages of their history showed a distinct partiality for the limited number of youth who were destined for college, it is also evident that there has been an increasing disposition to correct that tendency by ministering to the needs of pupils whose destination was the school of technology or the mercantile establishment. The next step seems to be in the direction of such manual or industrial training in the secondary school as will prepare for efficiency in life those pupils whose future does not lie in the college—either humanistic or scientific—nor in mercantile establishments. Between these destinations there is no conflict: in all of them the state needs well-trained, self-reliant, effective workers. The boy who is in no way fitted to become a lawyer, the girl who has no call to become a teacher, may need only wisely directed training to become an artisan, or artist even, of high character. Since the effectiveness of each worker is largely determined by his finding his proper work, and since true satisfaction in living depends, in great measure, on the same considerations, it seems evident that the common weal is to be truly promoted by such measure of differentiation in secondary school work as circumstances permit. In making such remark I do not at all forget the training which must be common to all, since all are to live by and by as fellow citizens.

In the development of high school courses thus rapidly sketched, it is evident that boys have fared better than girls. In such institutions as the Pratt, Drexel, and Armour institutes, and in sundry high schools of the country, however, promising lines of instruction for girls have been established. As far as our own special circumstances allow, we may properly imitate what has proven good elsewhere. The opportunity is ours, however, and in such case opportunity and responsibility are commensurate, to make some positive contribution toward the solution of the problem of secondary industrial training for girls. I have not hesitated to use the term industrial. It is useless to ignore the fact that a large share of the world's work must always be performed by the human hand. In connection with machinery, simple or complicated, there will always be the need of directive capacity, and signs are not wanting that outside the field of machinery there is to be an increasing opportunity and remuneration of the artist-artisan, man or woman, who produces the single article bearing the stamp of his taste, individuality, and craftiness as a worker. With the astonishing increase in private fortunes now in progress, there will come an increasing number of persons who will turn from the machine-made article, turned out by the thousand, to the one and only thing of a given sort, wrought out with loving care by one whose soul is in his work.

The rapid increase in the ways open to women for earning a livelihood is a matter of common remark, but the possibilities in this direction are by no means exhausted. While it may be true that there are already quite enough clerks, saleswomen, typewriters, etc., there are other fields of endeavor which are practically uncultivated. In the course of this discussion I keep constantly in mind the fact that life is more than getting a living. I remember also, however, that the ability to get a living and the best one possible, by means of a pursuit which is thoroughly congenial to the worker, which perchance allows him to work as an individual in his own studio rather than as one of an army of employees, is a consummation devoutly to be wished.

High School.

Certain remarks already made in the portions of this report which relate to the new Manual Training building and to belated pupils might equally well find place here, and they should be considered by any who are interested in the condition and needs of the school now under discussion. Whatever may be true of the United States in general, Massachusetts seems to be fully and irrevocably committed to the policy of furnishing secondary education to all who show themselves fit and able to avail themselves of it. While few of her sons will seriously question the wisdom of such policy, it is well to remember that minds of the very first order have disputed it. For example, we find Huxley saying:—

“If a child is taught reading, writing, drawing, and handiwork of some kind, the elements of mathematics, physics and history, and, I should add, of political economy and geography, books will furnish him with everything he can possibly need to make him a competent citizen in any rank of life. If with such a start, he has not the capacity to get all he needs out of books, let him stop where he is. Blow him up with intermediate (secondary) education as much as you like, you will only do the fellow a mischief and lift him into a place for which he has no real qualification. People never will recollect that mere learning and mere cleverness are of next to no value in life, while energy and intellectual grip, the things that are inborn and cannot be taught, are everything.”

Huxley's last sentence is not absolutely needed for our present purpose. The statement of his conception of the proper function of the state as to popular education is complete without it. I have thought it well to cite it because it expresses one of the everlasting truths which we should never lose sight of. With all our faith in the efficacy of education, if we remember that there are some results which no formal education can accomplish, it will tend to moderate the sometimes unreasonable remarks which are made upon the schools. In these recent days the skill of the teacher, the science and art of teaching, curricula and method, programmes and appliances, are in the foreground of educational discussion. All this is well, and yet it was never more necessary to keep in mind the truth of which Huxley reminds us. A slightly different aspect of this truth is presented to us by Professor Emerton, who says in speaking of Erasmus, "He was no longer at school, but was simply educating himself by the only pedagogical method which ever yet produced any results anywhere,—namely, by the method of his ever tireless energy in continuous study and practice." The same thought is emphasized by Dean Briggs:

"The first lesson of education is the lesson of getting down to hard work, and doing the work thoroughly. It may be learned by a boy or girl who never goes to school, learned in a mill or on a farm; but the highest work in this part of the world must commonly be done by people who for a greater or less number of years have spent the best part of at least five days out of seven for some forty weeks a year in what we call education. The first business of a school is to teach concentration, application, power of tackling intellectual work,—qualities which sooner or later a man must have if he is to succeed in life, and which he got in his boyhood, if he had the right kind of parents, was the right kind of boy, and went to the right kind of school."

Such are the considerations which should be uppermost in the minds of all who have to do with the conduct of secondary schools. There are other considerations, of less importance, indeed, but still worthy of mention, and to some of them I briefly advert.

If we assume that the Massachusetts idea regarding secondary education is sound and that the courses of study afforded by the high school are wisely planned, it follows that the largest possible number of young people of any community should find their way to such school. This makes the conditions of admission to the high school an interesting and important matter. The teaching staff of a high school may properly demand that pupils admitted to the school be fairly qualified to succeed in the work which they must there undertake. While it may be admitted that somewhat greater caution should be exercised in transferring pupils from the highest grade of the grammar school to the high school, it does not appear that any different principle should obtain from that which guides us in transferring pupils from grade to grade in the elementary schools. If at the outset we strongly insist that the high school is not to be loaded down with pupils unqualified to do the work therein, we must not forget that the high school is a school for all the people. As in each of the lower grades we find a few pupils exceptionally bright, a few extremely dull, and a larger number of average capacity, so it must be in the case of the high school. A sound policy would seem to consist in making admission to the high school reasonably easy, and in dropping from the school any pupil who, having enjoyed all reasonable opportunity, fails, through indifference or inability, to meet fairly well the demands laid upon him. There are at present in Brookline five grammar schools sending pupils to the High School. In the past there have been certain complaints that the pupils entering the High School from these lower schools have come with very uneven preparation, uneven in the ground covered by the lower schools and uneven in the character of the training afforded. An earnest effort has been made during the last year or two to remedy this evil, and such effort is still in progress. In common with many other high schools, our own has two functions between which there is no opposition. One function consists in affording thorough preparation to such pupils as are to attend higher institutions. The other function consists in affording equally thorough preparation to the larger number of pupils whose formal education will end with the completion of the high school course. The presence of a considerable number of pupils who are looking forward to continued study in higher institutions ought to prove a blessing to any high school. Such pupils, having before them a distinct objective, are likely to be characterized by worthy ambition which should tend to elevate the general intellectual standards of the school.

In its capacity of preparatory school, our own school, in common with others, is of necessity influenced by the demands of the colleges. Whether or not these demands are reasonable in character, the secondary school must of necessity conform to them. Our own high school is one of a large number engaged in this preparatory work, and considering the very generous financial support given by the town to the school, we may properly expect that its reputation as a preparatory school shall be of a very high order.

The class graduated from the High School in June, 1901, consisted of 47 pupils. Of these, six were admitted to Harvard, three to the Lawrence Scientific School, two to Radcliffe, three to Smith, three to the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, one to Williams, one to Dartmouth, and one to the Boston University Law School. Information as to the enrollment of pupils n the High School, their average attendance, etc., may be gathered from the following table:—

Whole number enroled for school year ending June, 1901	370
“ “ “ “ present year to January 31, 1902	382
Average attendance for the year ending June, 1900	303
“ “ “ “ June, 1901	310
Number of boys belonging to the school January 31, 1901	167
“ “ girls “ “ “ “ “ “	164—331
“ “ boys “ “ “ “ January 31, 1902	165
“ “ girls “ “ “ “ “ “	183—348
Number in each class	I., 47; II., 70; III., 103; IV., 128

I have already alluded to the generous financial support given by the town to its high school. Perhaps the most important result of this generous support is to be seen in the number of teachers employed and the large proportion of male instructors. I see no escape from the conclusion that the town has a fair right to expect a high school of the first grade of excellence. Everybody connected with the management of the school is heartily engaged in an effort to produce such a result, and if the school secures the moral support of the community in as large measure as it now enjoys the financial support of the town, a bright future may reasonably be anticipated for it.

Physical Training.

During the year which has elapsed since the appearance of our last report, progress has been making in this department under the direction of Mr. Hartvig Nissen. The girls of the High School have been taught by Mr. Nissen, while the boys have received instruction from Mr. Schmidt.

While the instruction in the lower schools has been largely given by the teachers, their work has received vigilant and sympathetic supervision at the hands of the director.

We have no school gymnasium which is entirely satisfactory, but our condition in this respect is better than that of most communities. Although the rooms referred to are not wholly satisfactory, the High School contains a gymnasium for boys, another for girls, and the Pierce Grammar school contains one which is used by both sexes. It has been found possible to set up some apparatus in the Devotion and the Lincoln buildings and the pupils of the upper grades are profiting by the opportunities, even though limited, which are afforded to them.

With the idea of stimulating the interest of both teacher and pupils, and with the further idea of giving the citizens of the town knowledge of the work being attempted in this department, an exhibition of the primary and grammar school work was given at the Cypress-street playground on May 25th. The programme of the exhibition is herewith reproduced:—

12.00 M.	Ninth Grade—Pierce School	Miss L. F. Wellman Gymnasium Exercises in Apparatus.

On May 24th the girls of the High School held a field day upon the grass plat in the rear of the building, which proved interesting to the considerably large number of persons in attendance. On May 29th the boys had a field day upon the Cypress-street playground, the exercises being a combination of gymnastic drill under the direction of Mr. Schmidt, and competitive athletic events.

With us in Brookline, as is generally true in America, only a minority of the boys take an active and hearty interest in athletic sports. The problem before us consists in so generalizing these exercises that all boys, save the few who may be physically incapacitated, shall have an active interest and participate heartily in some form of athletics. As one step toward bringing this about, we shall doubtless find it necessary to diminish somewhat the size of the different classes under instruction in the High School gymnasiums. So long as the exercises consist of movements in marching and free hand exercises, classes of considerable size can be well handled by an efficient instructor. When, however, it comes to exercises on apparatus, it seems necessary that classes should not much exceed fifteen in number. In order to bring about such a result, it will be necessary to command a larger amount of the instructor's time than is at present available.

It seems scarcely necessary to point out the fact that such form of training is becoming increasingly necessary in urban communities. Any one who observes attentively the boys in secondary school finds the great majority lacking in muscular development, lacking also in promptness, resolution, and a reasonable hardihood. Such qualities as these are invaluable, and the influences which were formerly exerted by simple out-of-door life must now be supplied through the formal efforts of the schools.

A portion of Mr. Nissen's time has been given to instruction in swimming at the Bath House to a volunteer class of girls in the High School gymnasium whose attendance has been from 3.30 to 4.30 of the afternoon, and to the clinic begun last year at the Pierce school for the examination and treatment of those pupils who were clearly in need of the corrective influence of medical gymnastics. All these matters are treated at considerable length in a report which Mr. Nissen has placed in my hands, but which it does not seem expedient to print in full at this time. I concur heartily in the views which Mr. Nissen expresses at the close of his report, viz., that the schools are moving in the right direction, that the increased means of physical training provided must prove a blessing to the community, and that school authorities and citizens alike should unite in a determined effort to carry the work forward to the highest attainable excellence.

Manual Training.

In the year 1891 the School Board published a pamphlet whose title page reads, "Manual Training in the Public Schools of Brookline, Massachustts." This pamphlet was prepared to accompany the work shown at a manual training exhibition, and contained sketches of the development in Brookline of the kindergarten, of cooking, sewing, mechanical drawing, and wood-working.

After the lapse of a decade, it is interesting to see that in 1891 one teacher of wood-working was employed and instruction given at the Lincoln school only, one teacher of cooking was in service, instruction being given at the Heath and the Lincoln. Instruction in drawing was given in all the schools, and instruction in sewing in schools of grammar grades. There were at that time three kindergartens in existence. That portion of the pamphlet relating to sewing begins with the following sentence: "In 1868 through the influence of several ladies a beginning was made in teaching sewing in the public schools of the town." Then follows a report of the development of this line of instruction between 1868 and 1891. The account which the pamphlet contains of instruction in cooking begins as follows: "In October, 1885, several ladies in Brookline met for the purpose of considering the feasibility of giving a course of cooking lessons to girls in the village."

The reader of the pamphlet will discover that this instruction in cooking was carried on for a time by private means, and that two or three years elapsed before the instruction found lodgment in the regular curriculum of any school. With the erection of the Lincoln building in 1888, a room was set apart for instruction in cooking, and it was established as a branch of regular instruction. The pamphlet refers to wood-working as "an outgrowth of an industrial vacation school which was first opened in July, 1884." During the four summers following these classes were continued, and in the autumn of 1888 wood-working classes were organized at the Lincoln building. During the years which have passed since 1891, instruction in manual training has steadily broadened. During that time a considerable number of different outlines showing the instruction given have been printed, but they have either been outgrown or the supply exhausted. The teachers of manual training, the principals of the grammar schools, and the superintendent are now engaged in formulating a course of instruction which shall correspond to the teaching now offered in the schools. The existence of such a printed course is very desirable from our own standpoint, and incidentally, it will make it possible to reply to the very frequent inquiries which reach us through the mail.

I have thought it well to include within this report a condensed statement of the place occupied just now by the different forms of manual training, being assured that many parents will be glad to be informed in regard to the matter. This statement takes the following form:—

At the Lincoln school the boys of grade 5 go to the shop for instruction in wood-working. With this exception, the manual training prescribed for grades 4 or 5 is carried on by the pupils at their desks, and consists of bent iron, cardboard, and raffia work. At the Devotion, Lawrence, and Pierce schools, instruction in wood sloyd is given to the girls of grade 8. At the Lincoln school during the last half of the seventh year and during the entire eighth and ninth years, the boys devote two hours per week to mechanical drawing.

Vacation Schools.

For the maintenance of these schools, the town placed at the disposal of the Board the sum of $1,000. Although this money was prudently expended, it did not prove adequate, and a somewhat larger sum should if possible be secured in case it is proposed to maintain vacation schools during the summer of 1902. Since the maintenance of vacation schools with public funds is a new enterprise, it seems advisable to give here a brief account of our experience during the past season. In order to bring the school to the notice of those likely to be interested in it, the following circular was extensively distributed:—

BROOKLINE VACATION SCHOOLS.

On Monday, July 8th, the School Committee proposes to open Vacation Schools at the Sewall and Winthrop buildings. These schools are designed for both boys and girls and are likely to continue for six weeks. It is probable that the sessions will extend from 9 to 11.30 A. M. and from 2 to 4.30 P. M., each pupil attending one session daily.

Applications will be received from pupils above Grade I., but preference will be given to those who are nine or more years of age. While these enterprises are spoken of as schools, it is the purpose of the Committee to have the exercises differ so largely from the usual exercises of the school year that the vacation work will be attractive and profitable. Pupils in attendance will divide their time between indoor and out-of-door pursuits. Until the schools are organized it is impossible to give with definiteness the various lines of instruction which will be offered. If circumstances are favorable, however, basketry, bent iron work, wood-work with tools, drawing, sewing, nature study, and athletics are likely to have place in the daily programme.

Children desiring to attend the Vacation Schools must apply at once to their teachers for cards of admission and assurance must be given by parent or guardian that the child shall attend regularly, provided arrangements can be made for his accommodation.

To each pupil presenting from his guardian a guaranty of regular attendance, there was issued an admission card of the following form:—

 This card is to be taken to the School on Monday, July , at

 Pupil's name Age

In the organization of the schools, the older pupils, practically those above nine years of age, were assigned to the Sewall building, while provision was made for younger children at the Sewall and at the Winthrop. The work of the older pupils was in progress during the six weeks extending from Monday, July 8, to Friday, August 16. Lack of funds made it necessary to shorten by a week the instruction of the younger children. As director of this vacation enterprise, Mr. Frederic O. Smith of Malden was secured, and the success achieved is due to the skill, energy, and good sense displayed by Mr. Smith, and perhaps in equal measure to the same qualities in his associates.

The whole number of pupils registered during the six weeks was 418, as shown below:—

	Boys.	Girls.
Sewall	133	99
Winthrop	82	104
	215	203

Much smaller than the registration is the attendance:—

Weeks.	Mon.	Tues.	Wed.	Thurs.	Fri.
First	269	273	299	305	298
Second	270	290	243	286	276
Third	260	264	250	263	269
Fourth	251	257	257	269	264
Fifth*	204	246	230	247	275
Sixth	112	111	106	115	107

The average age of pupils in attendance at the Winthrop was seven years eight months; the average age of the older division at the Sewall was eleven years two months. As previously indicated, admission to the schools was based on the guardian's assurance that attendance should be regular. While this precautionary measure doubtless availed somewhat, it remains practically true that attendance on vacation schools is almost wholly voluntary. We did, indeed, pursue the plan of filling the place of any pupil absent on three consecutive days, but we relied mainly on the interest inherent in the several exercises of the school. And this leads naturally to a brief statement as to the character of these exercises. The time of the younger pupils—divided between indoor and out-of-door pursuits—was given to games, music, drawing and brush work, and card-board sloyd. From the Public Library we secured a generous supply of illustrated books which were eagerly appreciated.

Miss Grace A. Bosworth, senior teacher at the Winthrop building, has submitted an interesting and valuable report which is somewhat too long to print in full. From this report, however, I print an extract: "At the beginning of each session all of the children met in the kindergarten room and were given fifteen minutes for chorus singing. They were then divided into three divisions, according to age and evident ability. There were three instructors and each took a class. The work comprised paper sloyd, color work with brush, games, and gymnastics. This work was divided into four thirty-minute periods, such arrangement bringing each child into personal contact with each teacher. At the last period each teacher had the same class as that with which she started, and all again assembled in the kindergarten room for general exercises during the last fifteen minutes."

At both buildings, pupils were divided into sections, one of which attended in the forenoon, the other in the afternoon. At the Sewall each half-day section was divided into four groups of twenty each, thus making it possible to instruct one hundred and sixty pupils daily. The following programme shows the exercises of a half day:—

SECTION I.

9.00- 9.37.	Wood Sloyd.	10.14-10.51.	Bent Iron.
9.37-10.14.	Basketry.	10.51-11.28-11.30.	Athletics.

SECTION II.

9.00- 9.37.	Basketry.	10.14-10.51.	Athletics.
9.37-10.14.	Wood Sloyd.	10.51-11.28-11.30.	Bent Iron.

SECTION III.

9.00- 9.37.	Bent Iron.	10.14-10.51.	Wood Sloyd.
9.37-10.14.	Athletics.	10.51-11.28-11.30.	Basketry.

SECTION IV.

9.00- 9.37.	Athletics.	10.14-10.51.	Basketry.
9.37-10.14.	Bent Iron.	10.51-11.28-11.30.	Wood Sloyd.

On Tuesday of each week the boys enjoyed the privilege of a swim at the Bath House and on Thursday the same privilege was afforded the girls.

The average attendance of boys was 98, the average attendance of girls 81. While the vacation schools of 1901 may be regarded as reasonably successful, we gathered some knowledge from the experience of the summer which will be of benefit in case the town sees fit to continue the enterprise.

Evening Schools.

My last report contained a paragraph in regard to the evening schools of 1900-1901. When that report was prepared the season's work was still in progress, and it was possible to give an account of the attendance only to the last day of January. Since in the future it may prove desirable to have ready access to the record for the entire season, I incorporate the following statement with the present report:—

At the Lincoln building, between October 22, 1900, and February 1, 1901, the drawing school was in session on fifty evenings with an average attendance of 6.4; at the same building the classes for instruction in English branches met on 79 evenings between the date first named above and Friday, March 22, 1901, with an average attendance of 20.3. At the Pierce building the season's instruction in stenography and typewriting comprised 80 evenings, and the records show an average attendance of 9; at the same building the school which offered to young women instruction in the English branches convened on 81 evenings, and the average attendance for such time was 14.1.

The evening schools for the present season are still in session, but it is possible at the present time to give a brief statement of their operations up to January 31, 1902. With the exception of the class in stenography, which was organized a week later, the classes met for the first time on Monday evening, October 28, 1901. Between that date and the 31st of January, 1902, the class at the Lincoln for boys and men has been in session on 48 evenings with an average attendance of 29.7. For the same period of time, and for the same number of evenings, the attendance on the drawing class has averaged 4.6. At the Pierce building the average attendance in the class for instruction in English branches has averaged 24.2, and the average attendance of the class in stenography has been 9.4.

As was remarked last year, the attendance on these evening classes is disappointing. If we have in mind the fact that teachers for this work have been chosen with great care and are well prepared to meet the needs of pupils who may attend, it is to be regretted that the liberal provision made by the town for evening school instruction does not appeal to a larger number of persons. It is, of course, true that a considerable measure of earnestness is demanded on the part of persons who are occupied during the day in pursuits which are fatiguing if they are to add to these pursuits attendance upon evening classes.

In the management of these evening schools all reasonable concessions have been made to meet the circumstances of individual pupils. When attendance on a portion of the evenings has seemed the best that a pupil could do, and when it seemed necessary that he should come in late, such privileges have been cheerfully granted. In a word the school has been made to conform to the needs of its pupils.

From the statements which appear above, it is evident that the attendance on the evening drawing class is smaller than the attendance on the other classes named. In order to make certain that the opportunities offered by this class were generally known in the town, the following circular was prepared and distributed quite generally among business men having artisans in their employ:—

OFFICE OF THE SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS.

OCTOBER, 29, 1901.

DEAR SIR,—In accordance with the requirements of the public statutes, the School Committee of Brookline is offering free instruction in industrial drawing to persons over fifteen years of age. The class meets on Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday in the Lincoln School building at 7.15 P. M. The school opened on the evening of Monday, the 28th inst., and the attendance at that time was so small that I have been moved to bring the opportunities thus freely offered to the notice of employers of labor. It is my hope that you may have in your service one or more workmen who will be glad to avail themselves of the privileges which the school authorities offer, if the value of the opportunity is brought properly to their attention. My experience in former years has convinced me that any workman who will profit by the instruction offered in these evening drawing classes enhances his skill as a workman and is likely to command correspondingly larger wages as a result of his increased skill. Any attention which you may show this communication will be a contribution to the public good and will be much appreciated by the school authorities of the town.

Very respectfully yours,

GEORGE I. ALDRICH,

Supt. of Schools.

I regret to say that this attempt to increase the attendance on the evening drawing class proved unsuccessful. As suggested in another connection, we may, at a later time, find it expedient to make trial of affording trade instruction in the new manual training high school building. Just at present I can but renew the remark made last year that there must be a considerable number of persons within reasonable distance of these evening schools who would do well to avail themselves of the opportunities offered by the town.

In the foregoing pages I have discussed briefly certain topics, chosen from a much larger number, which seem of special interest at the present time. By way of conclusion, let me remark that the generous support, both financial and moral, given by the community to its schools and the authorities to which the schools are intrusted, properly challenges our best efforts to maintain schools of the highest attainable excellence. Many years ago Edward Everett summarized his idea of a good education as follows: "To read the English language well; to write a legible hand with dispatch; to spell correctly, and to master the four rules of arithmetic." Today, we would scarcely be willing to accept this as an adequate statement of the results to be obtained in the elementary schools. But if not adequate, the Everett statement will serve to keep prominently before us the essentials of a sound English education. In the past year we have, indeed, endeavored to accomplish more than is involved in Mr. Everett's dictum, but the emphasis has been steadily put upon the lines of instruction which he so confidently recommended.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

GEORGE I. ALDRICH,

Superintendent of Schools.

REPORT OF EXPERT ACCOUNTANT.

HARVEY S. CHASE,
PUBLIC ACCOUNTANT AND AUDITOR,
8 CONGRESS STREET, BOSTON.

March 18, 1902.

JAMES M. CODMAN, JR., ESQ.,

Chairman of the Selectmen of the Town of Brookline :—

SIR,—In accordance with your instructions I have, with my assistants, made an investigation of the books and accounts in the Treasurer and Collector's office, and in the Accountant's office at the Town Hall.

As the time allowed for this investigation was limited by the necessity for printing the report and submitting it to the town meeting on March 19th, I have not attempted a complete and detailed audit of all the items entering into the year's accounts, but have satisfied myself by a careful examination of the system of accounting and of the methods provided for verification of entries, for duplication of accounts, for comparisons of daily and monthly totals between the Accountant's office and other departments, etc., that this system and these methods were complete and sufficient. Thereafter a thorough audit has been made of certain months in the year to satisfy us that this excellent system was being carried out practically in everyday work, and that the methods provided for verifications, proofs, and monthly balancings were not avoided nor slurred over.

The audit of these months has satisfied us upon these points, so that, while we cannot certify that the months which have not been examined are correct, we are, nevertheless, convinced that there are no errors of magnitude in the accounts for the past year.

The books and accounts in the offices examined have been exceedingly well kept, and all of the officials and employees have been frank, courteous, and active in assisting our examination in every way.

The examination has consisted of two parts: first, the comparison of the town's financial statements during a series of years for the purpose of showing the ratio of increase in expenditures to increase of the population and to increase of wealth (taxable valuations), and second, the audit of the various department accounts already referred to.

The results of the first part are given in the following tables, of which A makes comparisons of the population, wealth (valuations), and expenditures of the fiscal year 1895 with those of subsequent fiscal years upon a percentage basis.

These comparisons are interesting and instructive. Wealth (taxable valuation) is shown to have increased from 100 in 1895 to 141 in 1901, or 41 per cent, while population has increased from 100 to 128, or 28 per cent.

The increases of expenditures for operation and maintenance have in most cases exceeded the increase of population, but in comparatively few cases have they exceeded the increase of wealth (valuations).

The most notable increases as against wealth, 41 per cent, are for fire protection, 127 per cent; for health department, 91 per cent; for engineering, 72 per cent; and for soldiers' relief, 57 per cent.

Schools 42 per cent, police 43 per cent, and poor 36 per cent, have about kept pace with the increase of valuations; while general administration, highways, parks and playgrounds have increased less than valuations.

The most striking reductions, however, are in payments for funded debt and for interest thereon, the reduction in payments of debt being 33 per cent, while the reductions for interest have been 49 per cent.

These reductions in payments have come about through the town's policy of paying off portions of the debt annually from the tax levy, thereby continually reducing the amount of the net debt and likewise reducing the requirements for interest thereon.

In nearly all particulars the above is an extraordinarily good showing and speaks exceedingly well for the financial management of the town's affairs. It is true that both the debt payments and the interest have a tendency to creep slightly upward again in 1901, but the showing as a whole is exceptional even among Massachusetts towns. Table A follows:—

Table B gives the comparisons of the same expenditures in the same years upon a per capita basis, and these comparisons are also quite interesting. Wealth (valuation) has increased from $3,650 per head of the population in 1895, to $4,023 in 1901, or about 10 per cent. Expenditures have increased as follows:—

Administration about $1\frac{1}{2}$ per cent; Police, about 12 per cent; Fire, 77 per cent; Health, 50 per cent; Poor, 6 per cent; Schools, 11 per cent; Library, 15 per cent; while debt payments have been reduced nearly 50 per cent; and interest payments have been reduced about 60 per cent. Comparisons with other Municipalities.

Table C gives comparisons for the fiscal year 1900 of the expenditures of various municipalities in Massachusetts.

The deductions from this table are rather surprising. It has been generally understood that Brookline was one of the wealthiest municipalities in the country, but that its assessed valuations per head of the population should be double those of Boston, two and a fourth times those of Newton, and four times the average of the other cities in the table, is certainly astonishing.

Either of two conclusions may be drawn, namely: first, that Brookline's assessed valuations have been pushed upward faster and higher than those of the other communities, and are now out of proportion to the actual market values of property, or, second, that the valuations of the other communities have not been placed at their actual market values. It would appear from these striking differences that very likely both of these conclusions are true to some extent. In addition to considerations of assessed valuations we must take cognizance of the tax rate upon these valuations, and this has been done by comparing the total tax collections per capita in these ten communities as set forth in the third column of Table C.

The fourth column gives the total assessed valuations (real and personal) per acre of land in the municipality; this basis being taken simply to give another comparison than per capita, and the results vary widely, owing to the great differences in areas. (No data for separating real and personal valuations were at hand.)

The remaining columns of Table C, up to the last column, set forth the annual expenditures for various purposes per head of the population. These figures for the other cities can be compared with Brookline, keeping in mind at the same time the differences in wealth (assessed valuations). The last column gives a very important ratio made up as follows: The total expenditures (operation and maintenance) of each city, per capita, have been compared with the assessed valuations (wealth) per capita, and the ratios determined. These various ratios have then been compared with Brookline's ratio, which is taken as standard, 100. In this way a final comparison of the relative economy or extravagance of these municipalities was arrived at, taking into consideration both wealth and population, and in this comparison (last column of Table C), Brookline's position is an excellent one. In fact, considering wealth and population, these percentages show that Brookline is the most economical in expenditures of the ten municipalities.

In this connection it is interesting to compare the net debts per capita (sinking funds deducted from gross debts) in these same ten cities. These in 1900 were as follows:—

Brookline, $70.14; Boston (including county) $91.61; Newton, $158.76; Springfield, $35.15; Cambridge, $66.29; Malden, $45.24; Salem, $24.03; Lowell, $33.88; Fitchburg, $44.85; Haverhill, $39.99.

During the past six years the net debt of Brookline has been reduced from $108.05 per capita to $71.16 (Feb., 1902). Table C follows:—

Audit.

The second part of the examination gave results as follows:—

The Town Auditors, Messrs. Brooks, Bowditch and Rogers, have certified that they examined the Treasurer's accounts and found them "correct, with proper vouchers and warrants," and I have therefore accepted their certificate so far as it relates to the vouchers for cash payments, and have devoted the present examination more particularly to the revenue side of the accounts in order to satisfy myself that all of the cash receipts to which the town was entitled were properly accounted for.

This has been done by tracing the receipts back through the books into the various departments where these revenues originated, and by comparing the amounts there set forth as due to the town with the actual collections turned in by the Collector.

The total receipts for the year 1901-02, acknowledged by the Treasurer, are as follows:—

From Tax-levy	$724,720 44
“ Tax-levies of previous years	74,981 38

“ Balance of cash on hand Feb. 1st, 1901	174,815 20
Total per Treasurer's Report	$1,833,487 79

Each of these items was carefully investigated and the details verified by the stubs or detachable checks of the receipts issued in the department of origination. This was a matter which required considerable time, and in the largest items, viz., taxes and water rates, the footings of certain months only were completely verified, the remaining months being gone over sufficiently to satisfy us that there were no errors of magnitude in the final figures.

These final figures were further proved by comparison with the corresponding totals in the Accountant's office, and in the Water office. We carefully noted all through the year that the figures for water collections in the Treasurer's office had been verified and initialed monthly by the Accountant, showing that the system of checks and balances was carried out in everyday practice.

Accountant's Office.

This office corresponds to that of the comptroller or auditor in cities. The system as laid out by the late Accountant, Mr. Edward B. Hill, is, in my opinion, satisfactory. It is simple and yet comprehensive.

The duties of this office require the services of a thoroughly trained accountant with considerable independence, who should be given the necessary power to audit the accounts of each of the other departments at any time.

The records in the Accountant's office should be made available for purposes of comparison with previous years, and a series of sheets should be designed upon which the important items of each year's receipts and expenditures during a considerable period—ten years or more—can be annually set forth. These sheets should be of "loose-leaf ledger" type, adapted for binding into book form ultimately.

Annual Reports.

In order to avoid repetition of the same figures in the annual reports of the Treasurer and of the Accountant, and for other reasons more fully set forth later, I advise that the distinction between these offices be emphasized in their reports.

The treasurer of a city or large town should be strictly a financial officer, and his annual report should therefore relate, as in the main it now does in Brookline, to the cash transactions of the town treasury, i. e., to the payments of money to various persons in detail.

Through his official duties as Collector, the Treasurer of Brookline must also account for the receipts of money from various persons in detail. These matters should comprise his report, with the addition that as treasurer or custodian of various trust funds of the town, he should (as he does) also set forth the details of these transactions.

All of these matters so far are distinctively personal transactions—receipts or payments of money in detail—but when other views of the town's accounts are desired, the Accountant's report should supply them. Therein should be given (as in the main are now given) the financial transactions of the year from the impersonal standpoint, i. e., the revenues and expenses according to departments and their functions, eliminating the personal element.

We wish to highly commend the idea of the annual synopsis of the financial results given in the first page of the Treasurer's report. Such a synopsis might well appear in the Accountant's report rather than in the Treasurer's, in accordance with the generally accepted view in municipal finance that the report of the Comptroller or Auditor should state for what purposes the expenditures were made, while the Treasurer's report should show to what persons the payments were made; yet in view of the convenience of reference to this synopsis in its present location at the beginning of the report, it may well remain there. We suggest, however, that the figures given should exclude all book accounts, journal entries on both sides, etc., and give only the net receipts and the net payments of the year.

Conclusions.

The final conclusions to be drawn from our investigation are in the main very favorable in regard both to the past management of the town's affairs and to its present financial condition. Various suggestions in regard to details have been made in the body of this report, most of which have been advanced in order to bring the accounts into line with the requirements of the "Uniform System of Municipal Accounting" of the National Municipal League. This system has been drawn up by a committee of experts upon municipal affairs, accounts and statistics, and is intended to bring about, so far as is practicable, uniform methods of accounting in cities, so that it may be possible for the officials, and indeed for any intelligent citizen in any municipality which adopts this system, to quickly and easily compare the expenditures for any department or sub-department of their own city with the corresponding departments in other municipalities.

The advantages of such a uniform system as a check upon extravagance or carelessness in municipal expenditures and for the purpose of obtaining reliable city statistics (similar to those now attempted by the United States Department of Labor under the superintendence of Hon. Carroll D. Wright) are too evident to require enumeration.

Owing to the great difference in city charters and in the laws under which municipal debts are contracted, and to the great variety of accounts and reports required of cities both by the statutes of the different states and by ordinances of the municipalities themselves, it is impossible to lay out a uniform system which would be at once applicable in all its details to any large number of cities, and, therefore, the first aim of the committee has been to provide for groupings of the city accounts under general headings, viz.: "Public Charity," comprising all sub-departments in any city pertaining to such matters, "Public Safety" (protection to life, health and property), "Public Education," etc.

Thus a basis for comparative figures upon these groupings can be immediately attained, while it is hoped that the accounts of the sub-departments will be gradually adjusted in the different cities to conform with the details of the uniform system.

This adjustment will take a long time, probably, but it can be hastened in many states through legislation by which a state official or commission shall be appointed with authority to prescribe the form of reports which must be submitted annually by cities throughout the state. This plan is the same as the one now successfully conducted by the Gas and Electric Light Commission in their requirements from gas companies and electric companies in this state, and also in part by the requirements of the Railroad Commissioners.

Already some of the western states have passed legislation of this kind for municipalities, and have appointed "State Comptrollers," who have been given power over city accounts and reports in those states.

I have drawn up a summary of the receipts, appropriations and expenditures of Brookline during the past fiscal year (1901-02), according to this system, which is appended hereto.

While there are many headings in this form which are left blank, it is necessary to have these headings in order to cover accounts in other municipalities where such items would appear.

In order to shorten this summary, only the first division, "General Government," is given in full detail as an example, the remaining divisions, "Public Safety," "Public Charity," etc., being given only in totals of the sub-divisions.

I would respectfully suggest that hereafter the Accountant's annual report should follow this system in complete detail. It is evident that the adoption of the uniform system by a continually increasing number of cities in this country is only a question of time. Among other cities whose annual reports have already been recast under this system may be mentioned Chicago, Baltimore, Providence, and Newton. Very shortly a recast of Boston will be presented in a special report.

I desire to call particular attention to the balance sheet giving the assets and liabilities of the town of Brookline at the end of the fiscal year, 1901-02, which is attached hereto. In this statement the available assets have been set forth as against the current liabilities (of unexpended appropriations), carried over to cover contracts and work not yet completed, while the fixed assets (land, buildings and equipments), which are in the nature of estimated values merely, are set against the bonded debt of the town. By this arrangement the actual surplus (or deficiency, as the case may be) of available assets over current liabilities is not buried in a general surplus account, but stands out clearly as its importance demands.

I desire also to again express my appreciation of the frankness, courtesy and promptness with which all the requirements of this investigation have been met by the town officers and the employees.

Very respectfully,

HARVEY S. CHASE,
Public Accountant and Auditor.

TOWN OF BROOKLINE. ASSESSORS' DEPARTMENT.

REPORT
BOARD OF ASSESSORS
BROOKLINE,
MASSACHUSETTS,

FOR THE YEAR ENDING JANUARY 31, 1902.

THE RIVERDALE PRESS: C. A. W. SPENCER.
1902.

REPORT OF THE ASSESSORS.

The Assessors of the town of Brookline for the year 1901 submit the following report:—

The board organized at the beginning of the year, with R. G. F. Candage, chairman, and Harry H. Whitney, clerk.

The district allotments, for convenience of the board, have not been changed since 1895, when they were first made.

The work of canvassing the town was begun May 1st; notice to the public was printed in the Brookline Chronicle and in The Suburban, and printed notice slips were left at all dwellings and places of business in the town, requesting all persons subject to taxation to bring in true lists of their polls, their personal and real property.

The canvass of the town to ascertain names of poll tax-payers, and for the examination and valuation of real estate and visible personal, began May 1st and was completed in June.

Probate records of several counties, registry of deeds of Norfolk, corporation and bank stock lists at the office of the Tax Commissioner at the State House, were examined as formerly.

The appropriation of $800 for additional clerical assistance, $1000 for Assessors' plans (to be spent under direction of the board), and $1500 for salary of the clerk, with $4500 as salary for the three principal Assessors, we recommend to be continued.

Number of polls assessed was 5811, a gain of 181 over last year; persons assessed for poll only, 3501, a gain of 50; resident property tax-payers, individuals, 3404, a gain of 202; resident estates, trusts, firms and joint ownerships, 601, a gain of 46; non-resident individuals, 482, a gain of 9; non-resident estates, etc., 150, a gain of 4; transfers of real estate, 811, a gain of 227; dwelling-houses, 3196, a gain of 120; number of tax bills, 8111, increase, 284; horses, 1574, decrease, 1; cows, 385, a gain of 1 ; sheep, 300, same as last year ; acres of land, 3428.19, decrease, 201.34, taken for streets, purchased by the town, or otherwise gone out of the category of taxation.

Total	$83,455,100 00	a gain of $5,434,600 00
Add bank and corporation stock . .	13,500,000 00
Total value of all property . . .	$96,955,100 00

The total of town appropriations was $975,311.58 ; state tax, $47,617.50 ; county tax, $58,129.39 ; sewer tax (metropolitan), $24,786.63 ; park tax (metropolitan), $35,000.00 = $1,140,845.10. Cash in treasury, $19,200.00 ; estimated receipts, $302,798.10 = $321,998.10, deducted, left the amount to be raised by taxation, including overlay, at $843,847.00, which made the rate $10 per $1000, a decrease of 20 cents per $1000 from the rate of 1900.

This report shows the changes and growth of the town for the year past, and is well worth careful study.

A condensed statement of the taxation of the town for the year 1901, and a table of aggregates of debts, expenditures, valuations and tax-rate from February 1, 1847, are herewith submitted.

R. G. F. CANDAGE,
CHARLES H. STEARNS,
THOMAS H. TALBOT,
